MARSHALL, SALINE COUNTY, MISSOURI, FRIDAY, JULY 19, 1912.

NUMBER 29

DEATHS

ALONZO B. ALSPACH died at the state hospital at Nevada on Sunday, July 14th, at the age of 79 years. He died of an attack of apoplexy.

His remains were brought to Marshall Monday and taken in charge by Undertaker Walker and from here sent to Bethlehem Christian church where services were held at 9 a. m. Tuesday.

He is survived by the wife and following children, Robert, Willie, and Allie, at home; Mrs. J. H. Brayman, of Marshall. Mr. Alspach was sent from here ten years ago and was a good citizen.

JACOB MADDOX, father of Mrs. J. E. Harris of this city, died at his home in Callaway county Sunday, and the Globe-Democrat besides giving his picture had this to say Monday: "Jacob Maddox, 87 years old, father of the mule industry in Callaway County, acknowledged to be one of the biggest mule centers in the West, died yesterday on his farm, two miles east of McCredie, after a several months' illness. Death was due to the infirmities of old age.

Mr. Maddox was born in Kentucky and came to Missouri when 5 years old. He was the son of Sherwood Maddox, who settled in the "Kingdom" in 1839, and in his day one of the leading stockmen of the Blue Grass State. Jacob Maddox gained fame some years ago, when he established the $100 price for mare mule colts. He also dealt extensively in big mules and fattened them for the St. Louis market.

Surviving him are two sons, Sherwood and Irvine Maddox, both live stock dealers and three daughters, Mrs. R. R. Buckner, Auxvasse, Mo., Mrs. J. E. Harris, Marshall, Mo., and Mrs. Thomas Hunter, San Antonio, Tex.

Dr. and Mrs. Harris were at Mr. Maddox bedside the past week.

MOSS LONG SMITH died at Pittsburg, Kansas, last Sunday at the age of 42 years. His body was sent to Slater and taken in charge by undertakers Hill Bros. & Koch. Besides his mother, he is survived by one brother at Slater, Louis Smith, and several in Kansas. Funeral services were held at the home of his mother, Mrs. Armedia Smith, in West Slater Tuesday by Rev. Tolbert. He was a railroad engineer and had been away from Slater many years.

ALDRIDGE CORDER, brother of J. P. Corder of this city, died at his home in Waverly at 3 a. m. last Sunday, age 85 years. He had been suffering of heart trouble for some time and just before he died called to his wife for more covering he was cold.

Funeral services were conducted at the residence at 11 a. m. Monday by Rev. Bedsworth of the M. E. Church, South. Quite a number from Marshall and Saline attended the funeral.

L. E. KELLY died at his home six miles north of Miami, Mo., at 5 o'clock p. m. Sunday, July 7th, following a long period of suffering from cancer of the face. He was forty-six years old.

He left a wife, who was Miss Ocie Burnside, daughter of Alex Burnside. They lived for a short time after their marriage at Randolph, Iowa, but with the coming of Mr. Kelly's affliction they returned to Saline county a year ago last May.

Funeral services were conducted Monday morning at Harmony church by Rev. W. P. Barrett of this place and interment followed the adjacent cemetery. — Miami News.

NINA BELLE CRANK died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ed McDonough, in west Marshall at 2 a. m. Monday, aged nearly 28 years.

Miss Crank was one of our popular young teachers. In the spring of 1911 she had to give up her work in the Little school on Pettisaw plains on account of poor health. She was taken to the tuberculosis sanitarium at Mt. Vernon and later to Mesa, Arizona, by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Crank, of this city.

Since the age of ten, Miss Crank was a faithful and consistent member of the M. E. Church and lived a beautiful life. She graduated from our high school in 1901.

Funeral services were held at the church at 3 p. m. Tuesday by Rev. A. R. Paris after which the remains were laid to rest in Ridge Park cemetery.

She is survived by her parents, the sister mentioned and another sister, Miss Mamie, who have the community's heartfelt sympathy.

SISTER NANNIE SAUNDERS was born October 15, 1861, died July 8, 1912, aged 50 years, 7 months 23 days. She professed a hope in Christ at the age of 17. She joined the M. E. Church and afterward she wanted to be with her mother in church she then joined the A. M. E. Church and has ever lived a consistent Christian. She was the mother of seven children, three of which preceded her to the great beyond. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband, and mother, four children, a sister and four brothers and seven sister-in-law, two brother-in-law. She has often said to the family that the blessed Master would soon call for her and that she was ready and willing to obey His summons. Whilst it is our loss it's heavens gain, so if we live as sister Saunders we will meet her on the banks of sweet deliverance where parting shall be no more.

Her place is vacant at her home and in her church we shall miss her.

"Shall we meet beyond the river where the surges cease to roll, where in all the bright forever sorrow ne'er shall press the soul."

Why do we mourn for departed friends, or shake at death's alarm, 'tis but the voice of Jesus to call them to his arms.

WARREN CALDWELL—On Friday morning, July 5, 1912, death entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Caldwell and took from them the oldest of their seven children, Warren, age 13 years, 11 months and 22 days. His illness was long and from the beginning it seemed that death had come to take this noble life away. All that loving hands could do was not enough to stay his hand, and the life so full of youth, and promise slowly, but gently went out. His eyelids forever closed to this world, but opened to behold the dawn of a more glorious day.

Warren was a good boy and loved by all who knew him. He suffered untold misery but when the end came he passed away quietly. Before he died he told his loved ones he was going.

Let us all live to meet him in that beautiful city, Christ said he was going to prepare for us. He cannot come to us, but we can go to him, we have loved him but angels loved him best, and they have sweetly taken him through heaven's golden gates.

Funeral services were conducted at the home July 6th, at 10 a. m., by Rev. T. H. Boulware, among a large number of sorrowing relatives and friends, the 15th chapter of first Cor. was read and followed by a short talk on the resurrection, immediately after the funeral the remains were taken to Shiloh cemetery, six miles east of Marshall.

Obed Noble, Clarence Boulware, Oran Marksberry, Ferdinand Haberman, Noble Hammer and Steve Hallway, all schoolmates of Warren, were pall bearers and there amid masses of sweet flowers laid to rest to wait the resurrection morning the remains of the bright young boy.

Shoe Factory to Hum

Hugo Monig returned this week from a Western trip and in an interview yesterday said that the fitting room at the factory had started up yesterday morning under the new management with about 50 girls. One department after another will be set in motion until about 350 persons are employed. Mr. Monig says he will remain here awhile at least to wind up matters for the old company.

Painful Mishap

L. C. Shackelford was up from Napton Monday morning and called in to talk a minute. He said Henry Haesemeyer of Napton, fell out of his wagon one day last week and dislocated his shoulder. He left it go till the next morning when he had Dr. John Hall set it. By this time it had become very sore and he had to be given chloroform to stand the ordeal. He is alright again.

Not For Third Party

The Kansas City Star Wednesday evening quoted the editor of this paper as favoring a third party—the Progressives. A reporter for the Star called on us Tuesday and we stated to him that the paper would not support Mr. Taft but would present the facts and leave our readers use their best judgement as to whom they would vote for. We will support the rest of the Republican ticket. Sentiment in Saline is as strongly against Mr. Taft as ever, except that many of our people will vote for him because of him being the nominee, but still more refuse to vote for him and as a result Mr. Wilson will get many Republican votes. Republicans should remember that Wilson represents the "tariff rippers" and that sooner than vote for him they should vote for Mr. Roosevelt or the "little fishes in the brook". In this way they can keep a clean breast and get to work in earnest for the party when the bosses realize their mistakes. If the Progressives make it possible to vote for Col. Roosevelt and the rest of the ticket straight Republican, it would probably mean that he would be elected.

The main thing for Saline county Republicans to remember is that they have no fight among themselves and that "united we stand, divided we fall." When the majority wants a thing this paper will support that wish, even though necessary to "fire" the editor or proprietor.

In Auto Accident

Some of our Saline county people of near Miami had a thrilling experience near Emerson, Iowa, recently when their auto ran off a bridge and made a dive of twenty feet to the water and mud below. The party consisted of Harold Peterson, Misses Dollie, Gladys and Ida Irwin. They were out on a pleasure ride and were about six miles from their home where they moved from here.

The machine became unmanageable while crossing Indian creek and ran into the railing, carrying it along. Miss Dollie who was on the front seat with Mr. Peterson, fell clear off the auto but the others were pinned in the mud under the car. Fortunately all were quickly rescued without serious injuries, but they were a wonderful sight. The car was damaged about $250. The party was soon in fresh clothes and laughing over the incident, but it certainly was a marvelous escape.

Safer than Here

J. E. Landon came in from Tampico, Old Mexico, last Friday. When asked whether he had been forced to leave the country by the insurgents he said that he wasn't worrying about them but that he had heard about our great conflicts at Chicago and Baltimore and thought he was needed by his own country to help settle the difficulty. He returned to Mexico this week. Mr. Landon says the disturbance in his country is great but exaggerated and that their colony was not worried in the least, as no disturbance had occurred near there.

A Fishing Party

Quite a number from Blue Lick vicinity indulged in a delightful fishing excursion last Friday.

After a fine luncheon boat-riding was next on the programme and this was surely enjoyed by the young folks until time to return to their homes. Those present were; Mrs. G. B. Lasley, Grace Lasley, Mrs. R. D. Lasley and baby, Frank York, Mattie Lucile and Annie York, Minnie Wingfield, Mrs. Mack Dennis, Mattie, Maud and Rose Dennis, Fisher and Ray Dennis, Rodger Brinkman, Mrs. A. A. York, Mrs. R. M. York and Mable York.

River Bill Sure to Pass

Satisfactory legislation for improvement work on the Missouri river is certain to pass congress at the present session, E. M. Clendenning, secretary of the Commercial Club, believes. Mr. Clendenning returned yesterday from Washington where he had spent two weeks lobbying for the river budget. When the bill reached a conference committee some weeks ago an effort was made to add an amendment, which was objectionable to those promoting the interests of the Missouri. This amendment sought to levy taxes for improvements upon the territory immediately benefited.

This amendment, Mr. Clendenning says, was removed at a conference last week. The Missouri river backers also secured an amendment which prevents any objectionable legislation appearing before the completion of the Missouri ten-year project. The amendment which refers to the Missouri river reads, "Provided further that nothing herein contained shall postpone the expenditure of the amount hereby appropriated or any further appropriation for said project without action by congress."—Kansas City Journal.

Her Father Dead

Columbia, Mo., July 11—The oldest employee of the state university and known to hundreds of alumni in the state, died here today. He was Horace Williams, a negro, who has worked as janitor at the institution continuously since the Civil War. Williams was a slave in Kentucky. When a boy he was given as a wedding present to Mrs. W. C. Shields, wife of one of the first teachers of Latin in the university. After the war he was employed as a coachman and body servant by Professor and President Laws.—Star.

Mr. Williams was the father of Mrs. E. J. Craddock of this city and she went down Friday to attend the funeral.

Mrs. Alex. Henton, of near the Christian church, is still very sick.

Round About

Wonders never cease. Last Friday afternoon Thos. Nugen, of Norton, was seen on our streets running an auto. Mr. Nugen is well able to own a car and has time to run one, but he was always regarded as a "conservative," and the only reason ascribed to his sudden interest in motoring is that he has become a thoroughbred "Progressive".

While commenting on Mr. Nugen's skill at the wheel we asked Will Bailey of east of town whether he had bought a car. He said he had never ridden in one. This was too good a chance, so we helped some bystanders lift him into the car and away he went. After realizing his helplessness, he straightened up, got comfortable and put on a big smile. That was the last we saw of him but we expect to see him whizzing by soon in his own car.

Later—We inquired of the chauffeur yesterday what became of his passengers and he thanked us for "putting him next" to Mr. Bailey. He said as they went down Odell Ave. Mr. Bailey looked around and saw a motorcycle following them and remarked "By golly, that's the first young one I ever seen." He thinks now he's sure of a sale to both Mr. Nugen and Mr. Bailey.
