The Services of Great Engineers Are Offered to Marshall

The public utility business, like any business which you can think of—your own, for instance—is one which cannot be made successful unless it is administered by people who make it their only business, men who are thoroughly experienced and who devote years of time to its careful development.

It does not stand to reason that a business which is managed by men who are totally unfamiliar with it, and who must administer the business by such attention as can be given at a few desultory meetings a month, can successfully produce a good and low priced article.

Bring the matter home in your own case.

If it is difficult for you to make a success of your own business giving all your time and years of experience and close attention to the details, do you think that your business could be successfully run by any such body as a city council, who, no matter how honest and able they may be in their own vocation, attempt to conduct a business regarding which they know nothing, by meeting occasionally and giving a few general orders to subordinates, who, while having no responsibility, must carry out the details.

Would you ever really KNOW that they were doing their part?

The production of gas and electricity requires intelligent, 24 hour a day, executive and engineering ability.
