Defense Springs Sensation in Trial of Lamphere for Murder.

BELIEF IN HER DEATH SHAKEN

New Theory of the Police May Involve Prominent Chicagoans.

By United Press.

LA PORTE, Ind., Nov. 12.—The defense in the case of Ray Lamphere, on trial charged with the murder of Mrs. Belle Guinness, sprung a sensational surprise today by summoning Mrs. Guinness as a witness.

Mrs. Guinness can not be found, but the move strengthens the belief that she did not perish in the fire that destroyed her home. The defense announced that it would produce a witness to tell of many night automobile rides in which Mrs. Guinness has figured.

The police are working on a new theory, which if proved correct will involve several prominent Chicago persons in the wholesale murders committed on the Guinness farm.

CRIMES COMMITTED BY MEAT EATERS, SAYS WU

Tells Schoolgirls He Expects to Live Till Next Century.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Wu Ting Fang, Minister from China, addressed the young women of Miss C. E. Mason's school, the Castle, at Tarrytown. He went from New York in an automobile with Mr. and Mrs. T. Christian. He said that he did not approve of women taking men's places, for they had places of their own to fill. The exception, he said, was the profession of medicine, as it was suited for them and women doctors would be very popular in China.

"The trouble would be," continued Minister Wu, "that you handsome young women wouldn't remain single long in China; you would marry and have to give up your profession. The more that go, however, the better China will like it."

Then he spoke of his non-flesh diet and said that he never was in better health and that he felt twenty years younger.

"I believe pure diets produce pure thoughts. All the crimes that are committed today are by persons who eat flesh foods. Non-flesh diet means no crimes, simple life. I am a better man today, not that I was ever a very bad man; but I feel nobler and purer in thought. What is sixty, seventy or eighty years of age? You think that old. I expect to live till the next century. I'm never sick; I can't be sick. You keep on eating mixed foods and I will outlive you all."

TELLS BIBLE'S PLACE IN CATHOLIC CHURCH

Rev. Father Crain Lectures at University Assembly.

The most valuable book in the world is "The Book of Kells," an old illuminated Bible in Trinity College, Dublin.

"This book," said the Rev. Father Crain, of St. Louis, in an assembly lecture at the University of Missouri this morning, "contains art that has never been equalled to the present day. It contains some of the most exquisite initial letters ever executed. Copies of some of these letters are in the Congressional library at Washington, and artists spend whole days copying them."

The subject of Father Crain's talk was: "The place of the Bible in the Roman Catholic Church."

He said in part: "The Roman Catholic believes the Bible was inspired by the Holy Spirit and has God for its author. The Catholic Bible contains seven more books than the Non-Catholic Bible. Catholics do not appeal to the Bible as their immediate rule of faith, but use it as a guide only."

He used the following analogy as an illustration: "The statutes of Missouri are law and are followed by the people of Missouri as law. But they do not constitute the great body of law. 'Three books beside the Bible are used in the Catholic Church: The missal or mass book, the breviary, and the ritual.'"

The Reverend Father leaves the city Monday.

STANDARD STORED LIMA OIL ON SPECULATION

Renning Expert Tells of Supposed "Corner" at Government Hearing.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Dr. W. H. Burton, formerly a professor at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, now a refining expert for the Standard Oil Company, gave important testimony before Referee Ferris yesterday in the suit of the United States Government to have the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey dissolved.

The Government had sought to show that in storing up more than 20,000,000 barrels of crude oil, purchased at a small price in the Lima, O., field in the late eighties, it was anticipating the perfecting a new refining process, and cornering the market though reports had been spread abroad that the oil was of such an inferior quality that it could never be used for anything but fuel.

Dr. Burton swore that the exact possibilities of this oil were not known at the time of its purchase, although in acquiring it the old Standard Oil Trust may have expected much of it, and that even if it had proved to be not fit to refine would have still been a good investment for fuel, though the cost of storage was about 25 cents a barrel. In 1889 it was found to be easy to refine by a new process.

Royal S. Liechfield, an independent operator of Independence, Kan., followed Dr. Burton on the stand.

Couldn't Round Cape Horn.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 12.—Failing to make her way around Cape Horn in the face of strong gales, the British bark Inverclyde, Capt. King, which reached the Royal Roads recently, 117 days from Santos, Brazil, put back and sailed around the Cape of Good Hope and across the Pacific, after rounding Australia. Despite the long trip made in ballast for orders, the Inverclyde made a faster run than some of the vessels of the same owners which came around Cape Horn.

TIGERS NOW HAVE "BOW-WOW" PLAY

Coach Monilaw Hopes it Won't Go Route Its Name Suggests.

Not to be outdone by Coach Catlin of Iowa, who has his "angle" play, nor by "King" Cole of Nebraska, who makes a specialty of the "peek-a-boo" formation, Coach Monilaw of the Missouri Tigers has devised another open-work play which he calls the "bow-wow."

The "bow-wow" play was prepared especially for use in the game against Washington University next Saturday. Dr. Monilaw declines to tell just what it is, fearing the St. Louis boys might get ready a defense that would send it the route suggested by its name.

In secret practice yesterday evening on Rollins Field the Tigers were drilled to proficiency in the new formation. It is said to be a spectacular development of the forward pass.

STEMMONS JUST WAITING

Student in Journalism Witness in Continued Court Case.

CARTHAGE, Mo., Nov. 12.—Walter Stemmons, a student at the University of Missouri, in the Department of Journalism, who has been here since before the election, has composed a little ballad entitled, "Columbia, When Shall I See Thee?"

Stemmons left school ten days ago to appear in the circuit court at Joplin as a witness in the murder trial of W. W. Wilson, the negro accused of killing Millie Plumb at Carl Junction last July.

The case was set for trial last Friday, but was ordered continued. Monday, however, on an agreement of attorneys, the case was dismissed in Joplin and was refiled for the Carthage term of the circuit court, and Stemmons does not know just when the case will come to trial.

When Wilson was brought to the county jail the day after the murder, Stemmons, in the capacity of a newspaper reporter, heard the negro's confession, made to the officers. He is expected to be one of the state's chief witnesses.

So Stemmons is impatiently roaming the streets of Carthage, eager to be back in school, but held here by the stern mandate of the law, uttered through a court subpoena.

MISS ELKINS TO BE A PRINCESS

Italy Wants Wedding, and King is Said to Have Consented.

ODDS IN FAVOR OF ABRUZZI

Seven Chances in Ten for Him Friend in Turin Declares.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The wedding of the Duke of the Abruzzi and Miss Katherine Elkins will take place in Rome or Turin.

The King and members of the Royal family wish the marriage to be solemnized in Italy with state ceremonies so that the nation may participate, as it is among the Italian people that the bride will spend her life.

The wedding probably will take place early in 1909, though possibly not before Lent. Difficulties arose through Senator Elkin's refusal to sanction a morganatic marriage and because of the opposition of the Queen mother, who had other matrimonial views for the Duke.

The King's consent, however, has been obtained, and the bride will be fully recognized as a Royal Princess.

Queen Helena has been a strong supporter of Miss Elkins throughout.

This is the statement of the Daily Express here today:

Abruzzi's Brother Off to Africa.

NAPLES, Nov. 12.—The Court of Turin left to-night for Mombasa, British East Africa, on his way to the Congo to shoot big game, King Leopold having exempted him from the heavy tax levied for that privilege.

From the Congo the Count will go to the Cape of Good Hope and thence to Egypt. He intends to be absent about two years and will make the journey without either doctor or servants.

Odds Now Favor Abruzzi.

TURIN, Nov. 12.—The Duke of the Abruzzi, in conversation yesterday, jokingly said that he would not go to the United States, nor on a cruise on the battleship Regina Elena, which, therefore, would not be under his command on her next voyage.

This confirms the official statement that the duke will not again take command until after his promotion as rear admiral. One of the duke's intimate friends said yesterday that seven chances out of ten were favorable to the marriage of the duke to Miss Elkins, but there were three still against it.

MONILAW DENIES TIGERS "SLUGGED"

Coach Resents Criticism of Eleven in Des Moines Newspaper.

PROUD OF THE TEAM'S SPIRIT

If the Opponents "Rough It," Missouri Men Fight Devil With Fire.

Coach W. J. Monilaw of the Missouri University football team is aroused over the charge by the Des Moines Daily News in its "post-mortem" of the Missouri-Drake game last Saturday, that the Tigers resorted to unfair tactics, kicking and slugging, to beat down the opposing linemen. Captain Miller, right guard, and Ristine, center, are the special objects of unfavorable criticism. According to the Des Moines News, the opponents of these two men in the line were the victims of the roughest sort of work, but stuck gamely to their posts throughout the game.

"No one disputes that both teams played hard football," said Coach Monilaw today, replying to the Des Moines newspaper's charges. "The Drake men gave Missouri every ounce of football they had in them. The Register and Leader says the game was the best ever played in Des Moines by a Drake University team."

A Give-and-Take Battle.

"It is untrue that the Missouri men played 'dirty' football. They simply gave back to Drake all they received."

"I am particularly proud of the Tigers because they never show yellow. If an opposing team plays rough football, they inform the officials, and if the officials don't take action they retaliate on the offenders. If a man is kicked in the face it stands to reason that he isn't going to submit to it tamely."

"Early in the game while Ristine and his opponent, Warren, were under the heap, Ristine, lying in a doubled-up position, was kicked in the small of the back. The referee didn't see it. Captain Miller did and he and Ristine started in to give the Drake men the fight of their lives."

How Ristine Played.

"Miller was slugged by his opponent in the line and he promptly retaliated. I have Ristine's word for it that he never once used his fist, but instead, by using the 'heel' of the hand and bowling over the opposing center whenever he got the chance, he put up a fight that did no doubt detract from the symmetry of his opponent's features. Neither Miller nor Ristine nor any other Tiger would deliberately do 'dirty' work on the football field."

"The Des Moines News neglected to mention that Hubbard was put out of the game, and the Drake team was penalized 35 yards because he kicked Ewing in the neck. It was the first time the two men had come together in the game, so there was no excuse for 'roughing it' on the ground that Ewing had used the same tactics against Hubbard."

Assistant Coach "Izzy" Anderson said:

"The Drake center and the Drake left guard got what they deserved. What they received was a just retribution. When the officials are unable to see certain fouls the players must protect themselves. These instances are very rare and as a general rule, I am very much opposed to the players' taking the punishment into their own hands."
