STATE

Normal School--
KIRKSVILLE, MISSOURI.

An aggressively up-to-date Teachers' College of the best type.

It makes a specialty of vocational studies and how to teach them efficiently. Bookkeeping, Typewriting, Shorthand, Business Correspondence, Geography of Commerce, History of Industries, Manual Training and the practical sciences in well equipped laboratories. It prepares people to work right here on the earth.

It leads the institutions of Missouri in teaching Library Work, Lantern Slide Making, Photo Engraving and Physiography, and in preparing directors of Music and Art.

It was first in America to devise, build, equip and conduct on its own campus a Model Rural School, with transportation of pupils.

Through its High School Courses, College Courses and Practice Schools it prepares in the best possible way teachers for Rural Schools, Graded Schools and City High Schools.

The demand for its graduates by far exceeds the supply. Bulletins free.

THE Nettleton AGENTLEMAN'S SHOE

THE KEYNOTE

of a man's taste is often given by his footwear.

Toward an elderly man the public is lenient, when he wears an unsightly pair of shoes.

But in the young man, appearances, down to the last detail, count either for or against him in the estimation of others.

If you do not wish to be misread because of your shoes, your safe course lies in wearing the Nettleton Make. There is absolute certainty of their correctness of style, and of their shapely lines of elegance. Besides this, they are a practical economy

The Seventh Column

In Cannibal Land.

The peddler's cart with its load of human edibles was passing behind the row of straw-thatched stockaded huts.

"M-i-s-s-i-o-n-a-r-i-e-s, fresh m-i-s-s-i-o-n-a-r-i-e-s, hunters, botanists and explorers today," bellowed the driver, trying to keep on the shady side of the wagon.

The alley gates opened and dusky housewives gathered to inspect the wares.

"Nice fresh missionaries, mum," began the peddler, clin'ing down. "Best on the market. Look at the batch mum. Ever see a better lot in your life? Yes, mum, all fresh. That one costs two elephant tusks. I know he comes high, mum, but you see he fell out of an airship. Now here's a pair I'll sell cheap. Nope, they're not spoiled. Yellows' their natural color. They're not home grown. Imported from China, you know. I'm sure you're husband 'll like 'em. Here's one that will do for a small family. You'll take the fat one, you say? Two shovels of gold dust. Yes, mum, that's the cheapest I can do. Don't blame me; blame the trusts. Thank you mum. How about a nice juicy hunter today? Nothing else. All right, good bye, mum. Sure, they're good."

The peddler drove on to the next gate, while the women with their purchases under their arms stopped for a few minutes' gossip.

"There's that conceited Mrs. Chief Killenaneatem. Isn't she the flippest ever?"

"Look at the way she carries on with that peddler. Isn't it scandalous?"

"And the clothes she wears around the house."

"Why, you'd think she was going to a ball instead of marketing."

"Look, she's taken that old scraggy Russian. It's a wonder she wouldn't feed that husband of hers decently instead of spending all his money on herself."

"And listen, girls, I hear that she and the chief don't get along together at all. Now I'll tell you a secret if you swear not to repeat it to a living soul."

Chorus of "We won't tell."

All of which shows that human nature is the same the wide world over.

ELIOT DEFENDS VIVISECTION.

Says it is No More Inhuman Than Trade in Eggs.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Dr. Charles W. Eliot, President Emeritus of Harvard, comes out now in a defense of the vivisection of animals by physicians and students.

He says: "One point which I propose to examine is this: is truth seeking in biology commendable even with the help of anesthesia and asepticism, even when the research must be conducted at the expense of the comfort or life of animals? The traditional idea on this subject has been that mankind has dominion over every living thing that liveth upon the earth, and may use every living thing as he pleases for his own advantage. The subjection of animals to human uses is considered, indeed, one of the evidences of civilization. Millions of creatures are killed daily for human food, the habits and natural joys of animals are interfered with on an immense scale by the most humane people without the slightest compunction.

"Think what it means to millions of cows every year that their calves are killed and that they themselves are kept for the most part tied up in barns!

"Think what indifference to the potentialities of animal life and joy the immense trade in eggs implies!

"How absolutely insignificant is the number of animals used for experimentation in all the scientific laboratories compared with the daily use of animal products the world over as food and clothing for mankind!"

The Irony of Things.

Mother. "My other little girl is very frail, but I've taken precautions to have baby grow up into a big buxom girl."

Visitor. "Indeed; and what have you done?"

Mother. "I've had her christened 'Fairy.'"—Boston Transcript.

"Would you believe that I once had tresses that hung to my waist?"

"Did you, indeed?"

"Yes," continued the conscientious girl, "but waists were under the arms that year."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
