FARMERS' INSTITUTES BETTER EACH YEAR

Dr. Luckey Says It Is Hard To Get Rooms to Hold the Crowds.

YOUNG MEN INTERESTED

Boys in Prize Contest Read Papers on How They Grew Corn.

"I have never seen better exhibits of fancy farm products and live stock at farmers' institutes than were shown at those I attended in the last ten days," said Dr. D. F. Luckey, of the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri. "The farmers are taking more interest in the meetings each year. Only a few attended at first, but now it is hard to find a room large enough in the smaller towns to hold the crowds."

Dr. Luckey, A. J. McDowell and S. M. Jordan returned to Columbia Sunday morning after attending institutes held in Jackson, Doniphan, Charleston and Oak Ridge. Dr. Luckey gave lectures on veterinary problems. Mr. McDowell on the dairy and Mr. Jordan on corn.

In some cases the "old timers" thought they knew enough without listening to the lectures, and were content to chew tobacco and entertain themselves, and others who would listen, with stories of the "wonderful crop back in the forties," or the disasters of "grasshopper year." The young boys, however, and many of the men, were interested in the lectures and were anxious for information and instruction. Most of the prizes offered in the contests were won by boys 15 years old and over. Many of them had received their corn seed from the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri. Others had corresponded with professors in the college and obtained instructions from them.

At a contest in Jackson a banker offered to pay the winner's expenses during "Farmers' Week" in Columbia, or give a cash prize of $20. Six of the boys who had corn in the contest read papers on how they planted and cultivated their corn.

MICHIGAN TEAM TO GO EAST.

Wolverines Will Play Pennsylvania U. Inter-sectional Game.

The first big inter-sectional game of the year will be played next Saturday when Michigan journeys to Philadelphia to play the University of Pennsylvania. The results of two games of a week ago have given this contest an entirely different aspect. Michigan's bare victories in the early games of the season were responsible for the belief that Michigan had a poor eleven. But the Wolverines' great victory over Syracuse by the score of 44 to 0 has made Michigan very much to be feared in the Quaker camp. Michigan has still another inducement to make her play her best football. Last week Minnesota rather unexpectedly trounced the University of Chicago by the score of 29 to 6, thus putting the Maroons out of the running for the Western championship. Now that Michigan meets Minnesota on November 20 she will have an opportunity to win the Western championship, and to do it without playing her arch enemy—Chicago—or even returning to the "Big Nine." Michigan will certainly play herself completely out against the Quakers if it is necessary in order to regain her position in Western football which has suffered severely since she started to play Pennsylvania. As if these were not inducements enough it should be remembered that Michigan ends her contract with Pennsylvania with this game. Its results will have much to do with the scheduling of future contests.

NEW PLANING MILL HERE.

Thomas C. Scruggs Will Erect Building at Third and Broadway.

At present Mr. Scruggs is operating a planing mill at 210 North Ninth Street and a glove factory at 704 Broadway. He will move his glove factory to the second floor of the new building. The mill will be equipped with the latest planing machinery. It will be completed about January 1.

"I have no plan to offer. I want to leave the entire matter to the council. If I can be of any service to the committee, I am willing to give the knowledge I have gained in my years of experience to help in the building up of a substantial plant."

Makes No Estimate.

Mr. Sherman said that he preferred to make no estimate of the cost of the needed improvements.

"I don't want to make any estimates now," said Mr. Sherman. "I will aid the committee in making such estimates, but I believe they ought to be carefully thought over."

By the terms of the motion the water and light committee is empowered to employ any expert advice that it sees fit in making the estimates. The members of the council were very dubious as to the good done by experts. Emmett McDonnell said: "For every expert that we employ I am in favor of having at least three citizens to keep tab on him. We hired one expert several years ago and he spent more than $100,000 for us. Let's be mighty careful about our experts."

Councilman Harrell favored a substantial increase of the capacity of the plant.

"In making our improvements let's not make the same mistake we made several years ago in overlooking the growth of the town," he said. "Our future improvements ought to provide for a town of at least 20,000 inhabitants, for I believe that Columbia will reach that mark in the near future. While we are at it, let's do it up brown."

Mrs. T. C. McIntire Buried Here.
