

MAY 5 AND 6 WILL BE BUSY DAYS HERE

Baseball and Basketball Games Will Be High School Day Features.

THIRTY SCHOOLS ENTERED

Missouri-Drake Track Meet to Be Held Friday—Other Events.

For two days next month when the University will entertain students from the state high schools, Columbia will be the busiest town in Missouri.

Friday, May 5, the day before High School Day, the Missouri-Drake track meet will be held. T. E. Jones, who is in charge of the Missouri athletes, says this should be one of the most evenly contested matches of the year.

Besides the annual meet for the track athletes of the high schools of the state, two championship matches in baseball will be played. Columbia High School will play Joplin High School for the baseball championship of Central Missouri, Saturday morning.

The girls' basketball team of the Columbia High School, which claims the state championship, probably will defend its claim against the team of Marshall High School.

Friday night a reception to all visitors will be given in the Y. M. C. A. parlors and the same night "Hundred Dollar Bill" is to be presented again at the Columbia Theater.

Saturday noon there will be a luncheon for all visiting teachers from accredited schools following their meeting in the morning. The essay and debating contest will take place Saturday night and the medals won in the track meet will be presented then. Professor Brewer is planning other entertainment Saturday night but the nature of this has not yet been decided.

"We have a larger entry list this year than we have had for several years," said Professor Brewer this morning. "Thirty schools already have signified their intention of sending representatives. And there are more entries coming in every day. Last year only twenty-one schools took part in the meet."

Special Train from Southwest Missouri

"Every high school faculty in the state has had six announcements of High School Day and we are preparing to send out a final program of events next Monday. While Kansas City and St. Louis schools will not be represented this year, we will not have a large attendance just the same. A special train is to be run from Joplin, Carthage and Webb City carrying four or five hundred rosters. We have arranged for good rates from all over the state so there is no doubt as to attendance this year. What we desire is the co-operation of the students and townpeople to help us take care of the visitors.

"The trophies given this year will be better than ever before. Individual winners will receive silver loving cups and silver medals will be given to winners of second places. Third and fourth place men will get bronze medals. Then there will be special cups. I think there will be a mile relay for the larger schools, and a half-mile relay for the smaller schools. But in the other events there will be no division into classes. The meet will be for four places. First place will count four points, second place three, third place two points and fourth place one point.

"The quarter-mile will be run in two sections this year, each section running a separate race and the score will be counted as if each section was a different event. We have had larger entries in this event than in any other in the past. The meet this year will be one of the best in several years."

High School's Chances.

Julius Colonius, athletic director of the Columbia High School, has been training a squad of athletes with the University of Missouri track squad and says he expects his men to take about fifteen points in the meet High School Day. Last year the high school finished second to Joplin.

"Hyde in the mile and Loren in the half-mile. I expect to finish first or second," he said this morning. "Loren has been trailing Bermond closely and won handily in the meet at Booneville. Hyde also won his event. Crouch in the hurdles has a good chance to finish among the first and I am hopeful with regard to other entries. Miller is good in the quarter. Tate has been doing well in the 880 and Jones is entered in the weights. However, I do not expect to finish as high up as we did last year."

TEAM ON TRIP TOMORROW

Two of the Three Games Will Be With Kansas.

The University of Missouri baseball team will leave Columbia tomorrow on the "most important trip" of the season. Three games will be played and two of these are with Kansas. The first game will be with Warrensburg. The team will go at 1:45 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Prof. C. L. Brewer will take thirteen or fourteen men on the trip. The games with Kansas University are to be played Friday and Saturday. It is probable that Harper will pitch the second game at Lawrence. Last year he won the second game for the Tigers after Missouri had lost the first game 16 to 6. Kansas got only four hits from Harper at Lawrence, but seven hits and two runs in the game played in Columbia.

Captain Resheer will be taken on the trip. He has a sprained ankle and while he may not be able to play against Warrensburg, he will face Kansas in the games at Lawrence. Resheer has sprained his ankle several times and it has been weak all season. He probably will have a special ankle brace constructed.

The Tiger line-up is uncertain. The practice today, according to Professor Brewer, will have a large share in determining who will take the trip. The changed batting order, used against Ames Saturday, is due for still further changes, he says.

Kansas has been playing "in and out" baseball. One day the team looks good and the next day bad. The Jayhawkers are said to be good hitters this year. Haller, the left fielder on last year's team, is captain.

REVISED BIBLE IS NOT SO FORCEFUL

Dr. Allen at Assembly Says Old King James Version Is Best.

TRANSLATED IN 1607-1611

This Is Three Hundredth Anniversary of English Classic.

Dr. E. A. Allen talked on "The Bible as Literature" at assembly this morning, the occasion being the three hundredth anniversary of the completion of the King James Version. By way of introduction, he read an account of a celebration in England, and gave a short history of the translation, saying it was begun in 1607, but not completed till 1611.

"The authorized version of the Bible is an English Classic," said Dr. Allen, "but as much cannot be said of some of the revised versions. They have been made necessary by changed meaning of words. They have a service to perform, but the authorized version comes nearest to perfection in literary value. For simplicity, dignity, power, general accuracy, happy turns of expression, music of cadence and rhythm, it cannot be surpassed. One of the chief differences in the two is the use of synonyms. In the revised version the same word is repeated instead of a synonym, however many times it may appear. This is good from the standpoint of accuracy, but not of euphony. Take the words 'kingly, royal and regal'—the Saxon, French and Latin. Each really has a specific meaning, and one cannot be substituted for the other without loss. The revised versions are indispensable for clearness of meaning, but much of the old rhythm is seriously impaired.

"Familiarity with the rhythm of the Bible has influenced writers of all times. Good prose is always rhythmical. The measures are complicated and not reducible to meter, but the musical quality must appeal to the ear. To a mind saturated with the rhythm of the Bible what a difference there is between 'The rich He has sent empty away,' and 'He has sent the rich away, empty'."

MUSIC-POEM SUNG BY M. U. QUARTET

Persian Song Cycle Given Under Auspices of Fortnightly Club.

TEXT BY OMAR KHAYYAM

Professor Fairchild Explains Philosophy of Oriental Production.

"In a Persian Garden," a song cycle by Liza Lehmann, was given last night in the auditorium of the University by Mrs. R. E. Lucas, soprano, Miss Gay Wilcox, contralto, Miss Caroline Jesse, pianist, W. R. Riser and K. L. Alexander, basso. The concert was under the auspices of the Fortnightly Club.

The text of the song is from the Rubaiyat by Omar Khayyam, the Persian poet. As an introduction, Prof. A. H. R. Fairchild told the history of the poem and explained its philosophy. He warned the audience against yielding to its pessimism.

"There is real pleasure in a pessimistic poem," he said. "Hamlet in his famous colloquy is really enjoying himself." "The music reflects the oriental atmosphere of the poem, and it was sung with great appreciation by the singers," said Mrs. H. S. Philbrick, chairman of the Fortnightly Club, after the concert.

"The quartet sang with fine spirit," she added. "The tenor solo 'Ah Moon of My Delight, was sung with good finish and artistic appreciation. The contralto solo, 'I Sometimes Think That Never Blows So Red,' was expressive."

W. H. Pommer, professor of music, said the voices blended well. "It was fine," he said. "Such things make for better taste in art."

The stage was decorated with palms. Mrs. Lucas wore a wine colored dress, trimmed with black velvet. Miss Wilcox and Miss Jesse wore simple yellow gowns. About 600 were present.

PREFERRED JAIL TO PAROLE

Columbia Negro Thought Condition of Freedom Too Hard For Him,

Rather than to promise not to drink, not to gamble, not to get into trouble of any kind; in brief, rather than promise to try to do the right thing for one year, and to report to the Boone County Circuit Court the first day of four terms, George McQuitty, a negro, declined the offer of a parole this morning and went back to jail for thirty days.

After having heard the conditions of the parole, with the statement that he would not even have to pay the costs in the case, George said:

"Judge, I don't know; dat sounds kinder hard."

"All right," the Judge said. "Take him to jail, Mr. Sheriff, and keep him there. Don't let him out on the streets at all."

George Hayes, another negro, does not have the same ideas about the parole as George McQuitty. He raised a check once from $1.87 to $2.87, for which he was convicted and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. He promised all the things that George McQuitty did not, with some more conditions added. He promised to pay the costs in the case, pay back the $1 he forgot, then report to the Circuit Court four times a year for five years.

The court refused to grant an application of continuance to Isaac Jackson, a negro who is charged with having killed Sophia Emery, a negro woman, whose case is set for trial next Monday. In rendering his decision on the application, Judge David H. Harris said:

"Cases will not be allowed to go over in this court, it matters not what may have been the practice of this court heretofore or of other courts. There is no law and no reason for it. The rule of this court is to try cases as speedily as possible."

FIVE "HOBOS" GOT PRIZES

W. W. McElvain Was Most Typical and V. E. D. Landon Most Comical.

Several of last Saturday's hobos are still enjoying the results of the day. One is still smoking cigars. Another is enjoying the cleanliness which a shave, hair-cut, and shampoo brings, and a third with a box of soap for his prize can have no fear of going dirty. All these things were given for prizes in proficiency in making up.

The prizes given were to the most typical hobo, one dozen pair of silk socks, given by the Fashion Shop, which were awarded to W. W. McElvain; fifty cigars from Booche's, awarded to John W. Harris for being the second most typical hobo; a pewter stein from Wheeler's, awarded to V. E. D. Landon for being the most comical hobo; a hair-cut, shave, and shampoo to J. Wolfshater for being the second most comical hobo and a box of soap from Penn's Pharmacy, to C. E. Hull-tetter for being the dirtiest hobo. The judges, who awarded the prizes were J. C. Schwabe, P. C. Quinn, and Dr. M. R. Robinson.

Officers for next year were also elected: Most Excellent Hobo; Ralph Royce, Principal Ink Squirter; Pewee Reeves, High Exchequer; and O. F. Taylor was elected Keeper of His Majesty's Cuspidor.

The committee for this year did not make quite as much out of the Hobo Convention as they had expected to. This was due to the fact that more than two hundred persons crowded in to the hall Saturday night without paying.

The committee was able to hand over only $5 to Dr. Pickard to apply to the purchase price of the Steele landscape purchased by subscription to be hung in the corridors of Academic Hall.

UNSHAVEN CADETS ARE POSTED

Others Must Explain Why They Failed to get Hair Cut for Inspection.

Various reasons are assigned for the posting of the names of cadets on the military bulletin board in Academic Hall yesterday after the annual inspection.

One cadet is posted for "shoes not shined," three are mentioned for "failure to get shave," and eight for "not having hair cut." These offenders will all have to submit explanations. Laying the burden of the blame on the barber shops will not be a valid excuse.
