

STUDENTS SEE TEAM OFF TO NEBRASKA

Tigers in Wagonette are Pulled to Wabash Station by Supporters.

AN OUT-DOOR MASS MEETING

Speeches and Yells on Rollins Field for Men Who Meet the Cornhuskers

An escort of a thousand or more students went with the Tiger football team from Rollins Field to the Wabash station at 4 o'clock this afternoon when the team left to play against Nebraska. The University band headed the parade. The players were in a carry-all pulled by students.

The line of students "pulling for the team" stretched out far ahead of the vehicle. A rope had been attached so that all who wished could help pull.

The last practice before the game began at 2 o'clock, about two hours earlier than usual. Many followers of the team were on the bleachers when practice began, and before time for the team to leave the field the bleachers were well filled.

It was a real football game so far as the noise and excitement part were concerned. The yell-leaders were on the side-lines and many yells and cheers for the team were given. The Varsity did not scrimmage, because of the danger of injuring some of the men going into the Nebraska game, but the squads ran signals and the men kicked and passed the ball.

About 3:30 o'clock the players who went on the trip left the field and went to the gymnasium to take off their football togs. Then an outdoor mass meeting was held. Kemp Carter, chairman of mass meetings, announced the arrangements for the parade to the depot. C. L. ("Curly") Ristine, captain and center of the 1909 Tiger team, made a short talk.

When the players came out of the gymnasium and climbed into the wagonette waiting them, there was a scramble among the students for hand-holds on the rope. All of them, it seemed, wanted to help pull the players to the station.

"This reminds me of the way we used to start the men off for the Kansas game," was the comment of a student who has been in school several years.

At the station the platform was filled with students and the cheering continued until the train was far up the track.

BECOMING A SCORING MACHINE

Tiger Offense More Consistent as Day of Big Game Draws Near.

The Varsity daily approaches that point in its progress when it will become a machine—a high-pressure scoring machine. Yesterday's offense was better than any this season. More teamwork and consistency was shown. The backfield developed more speed in getting under way, and in executing the plays; while the linemen, although not as good as they were Tuesday, were outplaying the freshmen.

In the forty minutes of scrimmage the ball was carried across the freshman line twice. It was a defensive fight for the freshmen; only once did they get the ball in the Varsity territory. Shepherd, fullback for the freshmen, played a great game, running back punts and punting in fine style. The weakness of the Tigers in tackling was shown by long runs that Shepherd made, breaking away from the Tiger tacklers repeatedly. Four times Roberts, playing safety, stopped a freshman after he had eluded the Tiger ends and backs. Once it was Knobel who caught the runner after he had passed the Varsity defense.

Wilder, Mills, Knobel, Pixlee and LeMire all made spectacular runs during the play. Knobel, particularly, showed improvement. He carried the ball with more speed than he has for some time. LeMire, too, was going fast, especially when he crossed the freshman goal-line for a touchdown.

Something unusual for the Varsity—a successful forward pass—led up to one of the touchdowns. A new play in which Roberts plays the stellar part was tried and showed to good advantage.

Hall was called upon to punt several times. His punts were beauties.

CLOUDY WEATHER PREDICTED

Tonight and Tomorrow Sun Will Be Hidden, Says Weather Man.

The prediction of the United States weather bureau for Columbia and vicinity is: "Mostly cloudy tonight and Friday, not much change in temperature."

The temperatures for today follow:
7 a. m. 38 11 a. m. 50
8 a. m. 40 12 noon 52
9 a. m. 44 1 p. m. 55
10 a. m. 46 2 p. m. 58

several going fifty yards. On one a gain of fifty yards was made.

The most notable feature of the scrimmage was the work of the Anderson twins. Edgar Anderson, in particular, showed up strong. Time and again he sized the play up from his position at center, broke through the freshman line and smashed up the play. In the words of "Curly" Ristine, Anderson "smeared something up" every time. One or the other of the twins, and sometimes both, were in every play, and frequently in it with their arms about the runner.

Thatcher was one of the newer men on the Varsity who played strong ball. While he was in, he broke up several of the freshmen's pet plays, and otherwise behaved as a good end should.

NEBRASKA LOSES TWO LINEMEN

Hornberger, Center, and Pearson, Guard, May Not Meet Tigers.

A newspaper dispatch says that in one night the University of Nebraska football team lost two regular linemen. Hornberger, the veteran center, has turned in his suit as the result of a dangerous accident to his grandmother and the danger of worry caused by his playing hastening her death. Pearson, right guard, was forced to quit the team as the result of the press of work. The team will be greatly handicapped. It is said, for its two hard games for the Missouri Valley Championship with Missouri and Ames on the next two Saturdays.

The Rev. M. A. Hart Performs Ceremony, Miss Denny and Mrs. Walker Sing.

Everett Manning of Pineville, Mo., and Miss Zannie May Estes were married at 8:30 o'clock last night in the Christian Church. The Rev. Madison A. Hart officiated.

The bridal party entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss Mayme Campbell. The altar was banked with palms and ferns interspersed with potted white chrysanthemums, above which glowed many lighted candlesticks upon the chancel rail.

The bride, who entered upon the arm of her father, wore a gown of ivory white Duchess satin, lace trimmed. The full length veil was held in place with a spray of orange blossoms and the bouquet was of mauve orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Joseph M. Estes, sister-in-law of the bride, wore a gown of pale green chiffon cloth over white. She carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses. The maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Estes, wore a white chiffon gown over white satin, a tulle veil held by lilies of the valley and carried white roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Amanda Painter of Carrollton, Mo., and Miss Mittie V. Robnett, wore green chiffon gowns over white and carried large bouquets of white roses.

During the exchange of vows, Miss Campbell played softly on the organ, strains from "Lohengrin" and following the ceremony, Mendelssohn's wedding march.

L. A. Smith of Smithville, attended Mr. Manning as best man, and the following were ushers: James A. Jackson, of Kansas City, Joseph M. Estes, Denny Estes and Ambrose Estes, Jr., brothers of the bride.

The large invitation list had caused the church to be filled. CITY PUTTING ON HOLIDAY DRESS

Columbia Will Give Highway Boosters a Royal Welcome.

FLAGS MARK THE TRAIL

U. D. Club Boarders Will Give Up Large Dining Hall to Delegates.

Columbia is putting on gala dress for the road celebration Saturday. Already the E. W. Stephens Publishing Company, the Columbia Theater, Maupin's, Smith Bros., the Fashion Shop, the Branham-Hinkle Company, Campbell and Alexander, the American Cafe, Newman's Hardware Store, the Model Lunch Room, Fredendall's, G. F. Troxell, Harris Candy Company, J. Linker, the Boone County National Bank, the Columbia Savings Bank, the Central Bank and Academic Hall of the University have taken on holiday appearance. One of the distinctive flags used is a long streamer bearing the stars of the original thirteen colonies and having longitudinal red and white stripes below the stars.

American flags have been purchased, five gross of them, by the Commercial Club, for sale to residents of Columbia who wish to decorate their homes. These flags were received this afternoon. They are two by three feet in size, and are sold at 10 cents each.

Tomorrow morning United States flags will be placed each quarter of a mile, and a white flag, bearing the words "Cross State Highway," a mile apart from Cedar Creek to Rocheport. Each county through which the highway extends will do likewise. This suggestion comes from M. B. Adcock, a farmer near Fulton, Mo., who used flags to decorate his home last spring when the boosters went over the road. All places of historic interest will be indicated by placards.

The boys boarding at the University Dining Club have voted to take their Saturday dinner in a cafeteria in the smaller dining room on the first floor of Lathrop Hall. Dinner will be prepared in the large dining room for 500 delegates. Tickets for this dinner have been sent to the various county chairmen to be distributed.

CAPITAL MOTORISTS COMING

Jefferson City Will Send Delegation to Road Opening Here.

The Jefferson City Automobile Club has decided to send twenty-five automobiles, loaded with citizens to attend the opening of the cross-state highway here. These automobiles will leave Jefferson City in military order Friday at 3:30 o'clock, and go to Fulton, there joining the St. Louis contingent in a night celebration. Jefferson City is on the southern highway, and its interests are not much identified directly with the central route, but the town desires to show its good will to Columbia and Fulton for the majorities they gave the new state capitol proposition. Both cities came very near casting a unanimous vote in favor of the new Capitol.

Governor Hadley is so busy making arrangements for the highway opening that he came perilously near forgetting to play a game of golf with his kitchen cabinet Wednesday.

ON A SECOND CHARGE

After Sentence for Murder Jabe Wade is Tried for Assault.

Less than twenty-four hours after hearing a sentence of ten years in the state penitentiary pronounced upon him, Jabe Wade, a young Boone County farmer, faced a second jury this morning.

Wade was found guilty yesterday morning by a jury in circuit court of the murder in the second degree of Frank White at Riggs, Mo., July 18. This morning he was put upon trial charged with a felonious assault on Melvin White, brother of the dead man.

Wade's father, Harvey Wade, was fined $100 and costs yesterday afternoon for assault upon George White, father of the White brothers. The case was tried on the charge of felonious assault but the jury cut the charge to common assault.

Four women are said to have been the cause of the feud that ended in the killing of Frank White, the stabbing of Melvin White and the assault upon George White in a free-for-all fight in which members of the families of White, Wade and Spencie are alleged to have joined.

Wade is alleged to have used a knife, a long, sharp dirk, on Frank and Melvin White. Frank White and Wade had apparently been friendly until confidences were exchanged while they were working together on the Spencie farm near Riggs. Following this conversation, the Wade-White feud is supposed to have started, with members of the Spencie family siding with the Wades. At Riggs, the rivals met and out of the fight that followed grew the cases in circuit court.

It is probable that no motion for new trial or for an appeal will be made from the verdict in the murder case until after the jury reports in the assault case now pending.

BRIDEGROOM-TO-BE LOSES "TROUSSEAU"

John S. Oberwinder, Coming Here to Marry, Gets Wrong Suitcase.

MISTAKE IS CORRECTED

Traveling Man Opens Grip and Is Amazed on Finding Wedding Togs.

The troubles of bridegrooms are proverbial, but it is not often that one loses his wedding outfit without knowing it. That is what John S. Oberwinder of Chicago, a bridegroom-to-be, did yesterday.

When William C. Bryant, a traveling man, also from Chicago, boarded the Wabash train at Centralia, he set his suitcase and sample case down at one end of the car. When he got off at Columbia, his sample case was there all right, but besides it stood a strange suitcase.

A search of the depot failed to give any clue as to the whereabouts of Mr. Bryant's baggage; so the substituted case was opened. It contained an array of clothes so plainly brand new that, as Mr. Bryant said, "It looked as if someone were going to get married."

Mr. Oberwinder's name, but not his address, was found inside. It was not until some time later that an acquaintance heard the story and called him up.

"Haven't you the wrong suitcase?" he asked.

"Not that I know of," was the reply. "Wait a minute and I'll look."

One look showed the mistake and late last night the wandering suitcases were returned to their owners.

Mr. Oberwinder will be married to Miss Swan Matthews of Columbia Saturday. He is staying at the Matthews home at 1311 Broadway.

VARSITY LIFE STIRS CURIOSITY

Many Ask About Joke Contest in New M. U. Publication.

Varsity Life, the new student magazine, appeared today. At 9:30 this morning it was placed on sale and found ready buyers.

Last Tuesday, questions as to when it would appear and what was the cause of the delay began to come in to the various members of the staff.

Several called up the business manager and asked for positions as joke-writers, exchange editors and other departments. One man wanted to know how much he could get for a story and when he found that the magazine could not buy any literature, he said he would send it around anyhow, as he wanted to see how his work would look in print. An enterprising woman called up to say that she would do any kind of work necessary on the magazine at half the price charged by the members of the staff.

Already questions as to the distribution of the prizes are coming in.

The next issue will appear November 24.

A white quail was brought to Columbia this morning by Henry Sanker, a farmer living ten miles north of town, and given to Dr. O. F. Schieff. Mr. Sanker discovered the quail in the nest last summer and has been keeping track of it ever since.

The quail is snow white with the exception of one natural feather in its right wing. It is the same size as the ordinary quail.

Doctor Schieff will keep the quail alive this winter and next spring will set it free. He is interested in collecting rare game, which he keeps on his farm west of town.
