THEY SAY—

"The proposition made by Robert H. Stockton of St. Louis, that Kansas City and St. Louis will pay $1,000 and $1,500, respectively, toward the building of a cross-state road, between Kansas City and St. Louis, if the other towns along the route will pay the rest is, in my opinion, the important question before the people of Columbia at present," said S. F. Conley. Mr. Conley thinks it is up to the people of Columbia to show their appreciation of this proposition by backing it up in every way possible.

RAILROADS TO INCREASE RATES

Missouri Public Service Commission Finds Prices Too Low.

Freight and passenger rates on Missouri railroads will be increased after January 1, according to a decision given Saturday by the Missouri Public Service Commission. The decision was written by John Kennish, a graduate of the University in 1884.

One-way passenger rates will be 2½ cents a mile, instead of 2 cents. A general increase in freight rates will give the railroad companies about 5 per cent more income from freight handling than before.

The minimum charge for carrying passengers was reduced by the commission from 10 to 5 cents. Charges for a round-trip ticket will be 2½ cents a mile, and for 500-mile and 1,000-mile mileage books, 2 cents. The railroads asked a general increase of 3 cents a mile.

Weather Conditions.

The atmospheric depression that was in the Southwest Saturday, apparently developed as a moderate disturbance and moved out northeastward crossing the Mississippi yesterday. Precipitation and strong winds have been general from East Texas to New England.

A high pressure wave, accompanied by the lowest temperature thus far of the season, follows quickly in the wake of the low, and, except a narrow strip of coast from Florida to Hatteras where summer still lingers, winter prevails. In Columbia fair weather is indicated for the next two or three days, with rising temperature.

M. U. THIRD IN CROSS-COUNTRY

V. Kline, Symon, Flint and B. Kline Score 65 at Lawrence.

The Missouri cross-country team finished third in the Missouri Valley cross-country meet at Lawrence, Kan., Saturday, being defeated by Ames and Kansas, and in turn out-stripping Nebraska.

The men who scored for Missouri were Fowler, 9; V. Kline, 11; Symon, 14; Flint and B. Kline, 15 and 16. This gave Missouri a score of 65.

Rodkey, Kansas' captain, was the individual winner of the meet, although his team was defeated by the Ames team, 28 to 31. Rodkey finished the five miles and about 300 yards in 26:20, establishing a record in spite of the strong wind.

According to Coach H. F. Schulte, Missouri runs cross-country as training for spring track. This is borne out by the fact that, although Ames beat Missouri in cross-country last year, Schulte's track team had little difficulty in defeating Ames, even taking first in the two-mile run.

PADEREWSKI TO PLAY IN COLUMBIA JAN. 12

Phi Mu Alpha Gets Noted
Pianist for Its Second Extra of Season.

HIS FIRST VISIT HERE

Polish Virtuoso Holds Fame
as Result of Hard and Steady Work.

Paderewski is coming to Columbia. He is the gift of Phi Mu Alpha to its patrons for the new year. On January 12, 1916, Columbia is to have its first opportunity to hear this "uncrowned king of Poland," this popularly crowned king of the piano, now making his tenth tour of America.

For his career as a virtuoso Paderewski has had a unique preparation. At 24, when the usual virtuoso is a full-fledged artist with his career made or irretrievably maimed, Paderewski's technique was so inadequate that he was always forced to make improvisations of his own in hard passages, hoping that none of his audience would be the wiser. At this time he set about accomplishing in a few years, after fingers and wrists had lost much of the flexibility of childhood, what others spend a lifetime in attaining.

Began Poor and Unknown.
In 1884 he was a poor unknown, with threadbare clothing and without a friend who suspected the untried genius that lay within him. Four years later Paris, Berlin, Vienna were talking of the marvelous Pole. Two years more, London fought to attend his recitals, and in 1891 he began a series of triumphant tours of America, the like of which have never been seen.

Paderewski was the child of a Russian Polish farmer, who was exiled into Siberia when Ignace was a child. His mother died in his infancy, and until wealth began to flow in on him at the beginning of his whirlwind career, he knew only poverty of the severest and most discouraging kind. He had one year of blissful married life, after which his wife died, leaving him an infant son. At this time he had given up all idea of becoming a pianist, but through the encouragement of his friend, Helena Modjeska, he went to Vienna and in three years did an amount of work which has never been equaled in the musical world.

Won by Hard Work.
To his work he brought an intellect of rare quality, pertinacity and physical strength beyond the conception of the ordinary man. His friend, Dr. Alfred Nossig, says that he was at his piano morning, noon and night, playing scales, scales and again scales. When he made his debut three years later, he was a complete virtuoso, armed at all points.

"He is a great pianist," a critic says, "not merely because he is complete master of his instrument, not only because of his remarkable personality, but for more than any other reason because his extraordinary sympathetic interpretative mind illumines and revivifies all that it comes in contact with. And this is due in a large measure to the years of struggle against poverty, misfortune and sorrow."

Second Extra Concert of Year.
His concert will be the second extra this year under the auspices of Phi Mu Alpha. Season ticket holders will receive a reduction on the concert.

Mail orders from out of town, if accompanied by cash or check, will be filled in the order of their receipt by men stationed in the general line for the purpose on Monday, January 10. Such orders should be addressed to Phi Mu Alpha, 915 University avenue, Columbia.

HOLDERS of season tickets may secure their seats at the Missouri Store and at Allen's on January 8 for $2, reserved, and $1, unreserved. Non-holders of season tickets may secure tickets on January 10 for $2.50 and $1.50.
