

SANTA TO VISIT COLLEGE GIRLS

Stephens Students Will Celebrate Christmas Before Holidays.

Old Santa will be here ahead of schedule this year, in one place at least. Dressed as the Santa of legend should be, he will step out of the fireplace at Stephens College tomorrow morning into a crowd of 150 students and chuckle, "Well, girls, here I am." Why should Santa elect to break a reversed precedent so startlingly? Well, tomorrow morning was the nearest the celebration could be placed to Christmas. At 11 o'clock that day, school will close, and half an hour later some students will be on their way to New Mexico and Michigan.

Joyous Christmas carols, sung by girl choristers, will awaken the girls that morning instead of the prosaic bell. When all have gathered about the Christmas tree, which will fill the entire dining room with the splendor of illumination, tinsel and shining baubles, Santa will step out of the fireplace. He will distribute the presents hanging on the tree. Every girl will get an inexpensive gift, for previously each student has drawn by lot the name of the girl to whom she will give a trifle. After breakfast, the girls will go to their classes.

The end of the celebration will not mark the conclusion of the jollities of the day, however. The girls always have "a great time" on their way home in the two private cars. Those going to Kansas City and St. Louis will leave at 11:30 o'clock on the Wabash. From Centralia they will have separate private cars.

All the youthful exuberance, the joy at going home, lets loose in amusements. The girls sing, munch chocolates and other dainties and do stunts. Last year when the headlight of a switch engine shone down the aisle, one bold maid stepped into the spotlight and gave a declamation.

R. T. Davis will look after the group going to St. Louis, while E. A. Collins will travel with those bound for Kansas City. The celebration is under the direction of the Stephens College Y. W. C. A.

first game, which will be with the Maryville Normal School January 7. The first conference games will be played with Washington, January 10 and 11.

Roscoe E. Harper, chairman of the "Homesick Club," has called a meeting for 7 o'clock Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. Building. Fifty have already signed up, and all others who will spend the holidays away from home are asked to attend the meeting to arrange for socials to be held during the holidays.

CAMPUS NOTES

Prof. L. G. Rinkie has been ill with grip and unable to meet his classes for the last two days.

Robert R. Miller, a student in the School of Journalism, left last night for his home in Dallas, Tex., where he will spend the Christmas vacation.

The students at Mrs. W. H. Brown's boarding house held a Christmas party there last night. The center of attraction was a Christmas tree, weighted down with presents.

M. H. Fohrman, a sophomore in the College of Agriculture, left Saturday to conduct a seven-day test on a cow owned by D. M. Holbrook, near St. Louis. Mr. Holbrook is one of the largest breeders of Holstein cattle in the state.

A large class is coming out for instruction in wrestling this year, according to Jacob Speelman, the instructor. Some who desired to enter were too late. The class is held from 4 o'clock to 6 o'clock Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

C. E. Van Gent will leave tonight for his home at Dolton, Ill., a suburb of Chicago. He will return December 28 to coach the basketball men for the
