

FRINGE IS THE THING FOR DECORATING NOW

Margaret Mason Finds New York's Society Is Using Lots of Edging.

EVEN HITS PARASOLS One Overskirt Is All of the Material, and the Coats Are Overcome.

BY MARGARET MASON
(Written for the United Press)

Her parasol is edged with fringe. And she's fringe on her dainty gown. Her curling lashes fringe her eyes. And she lives on the fringe of town.

NEW YORK, June 3.—To be on the fringe of society is the last thing one could wish, but to have on the fringe of fashion is the latest thing one could wish.

Indeed it seems as if fringe were infringing on the popularity of all other trimmings.

The fringed frock is omnipresent and boasts anything from tiny edging of vivid hued yarn fringe to a deep fringe of silk, either black or of a tone to match or contrast with the gown.

It is used effectively on the bottoms of the wide skirts and to edge the bell shaped sleeves.

Overskirt All of Fringe.
One stunning evening model shows an entire overskirt of knotted silk fringe of yellow, black, blue, green and old rose over a petticoat of turquoise blue chiffon. The sleeves are more shreds of fringe, and the apology for a bodice is a scrap of the turquoise chiffon.

The new wide cape collars are edged with narrow, colorful fringe; hats have a narrow yarn fringe edging, and I even glimpsed a swagger dame who wiped her up-tilted up-to-date nose on a handkerchief of pale mauve with a tiny old blue edging of thread fringe. Fringe is certainly up to snuff.

On the loose long taffeta coats and wraps either for day or evening wear the fringe is vying with the pinked ruchings as a finish, but it is a finish for a parasol perhaps that fringe reaches its truly highest point.

One smart sunshade of emerald green taffeta is built on the flat, many-ribbed Chinese parasol lines, with a blunt little snubnose ebon ferule and a long knob-finished handle of the same glossy black.

A bright green silk cord is knotted around the handle, with a fitting loop through which its owner's fair arm is meant to stick when she shuts up her sunshade in shady byways and chooses to dangle it at arm's length.

Edging is in Latest Styles.
The real finishing touch of this adequately lovely parasol, however, is an edging of three-inch black silk fringe that brooks no infringement of sun's rays across the summer girl's countenance.

A zebra-striped sunshade is one of black and white striped taffeta. The stripes radiate outward from the center and end in a fringe of alternate black and white striping to match the silk. The handle to this is of white with a black knob at the top.

A cerise parasol fringed like the black and green one is also very stunning, though a bit prone to cast too rosy a glow over a healthy countenance. No one may expect to look pale and interesting under cover of a cerise sunshade.

A shell-pink taffeta sunshade that is a mass of petal shaped scollops like a huge pink rose just adds the pink of perfection to a summer toilette of white net and pink picot ribbon, but a shade deeper it is wiser not to go.

A purple satin parasol veiled in a film of black Spanish lace, with a quaint purple glass knobbed stick, in a Fifth avenue window is a replica of great grandmother's that now moulders in the attic and proves the aphorism that there's nothing new under the sun—not even a 1916 parasol.

HONORS MEMORY OF COMPOSER

Pittsburgh Is Celebrating Today for Stephen C. Foster.

By United Press.
PITTSBURGH, June 3.—Not the least interesting part of tomorrow's celebration in this city will be the formal opening of the Stephen C. Foster home, dedicated about a year ago to the city in perpetuation of the composer's name and works.

All day and far into the evening a band will play his songs on the lawn. "Old Black Joe," "Swanee River," "Nellie Gray," "My Old Kentucky Home" and other favorites he wrote will be played.

The piano that Foster frequently used and a score of other interesting relics of his have been loaned indefinitely to the city by his descendants and will be attractively placed in the home.

IS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT IN LEG

Moss Edwards Is Victim of Gun Held by His Cousin.

Moss Edwards, son of Police Judge M. L. Edwards, was accidentally shot in the leg by his cousin, Estill Edwards, while on a squirrel hunt early yesterday morning.

Moss Edwards was walking along the Hinkson, and his cousin was walking behind him trying to remove a shell from his pump-gun. The gun went off accidentally, and Edwards caught the full charge in his leg. He was brought to town immediately and was treated by Dr. J. E. Thornton, who said last night that the wound was serious, as some of the shot had lodged in the muscles of the leg.

More Arkansas Land Is Opened.

By United Press.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 3.—The United States Land Office today filed plots for 23,999 acres of land in the Big Lake and Hound Lake section of Mississippi County. Many filings for this land were expected today. Four thousand acres of this land have been set aside as a bird reserve by President Wilson's proclamation.
