PROBLEM OF RACING CARS IS HERE WITH STUDENTS

Enthusiastic fraternity "rushers" in father's new twin six or "fiver" in their excitement of pledging Willie and Charlie, have sometimes forgotten that there is a speed limit for vehicles in Columbia, according to Mayor James M. Batterton. Two extra officers, William Reed and James H. Whitesides, were detailed last night to watch for speeders. However, they failed to catch any.

"Some of the boys are so happy they are back that they have forgotten we have a speed limit here," said the mayor. "We do not want to arrest anyone, for we do not need their money; but if the speeding keeps on, we will be forced to make arrests. All speeders arrested will be heavily fined. I hope I will not have to make any arrests."

"I am proud of the sophomore boys.

Yes, I am surely proud the way they have conducted themselves this year," said the mayor, emphasizing the statement with a pound of his fist on his desk. "The freshmen ought to appreciate the treatment they are receiving this year."

This statement was made by the mayor after Night Policeman James Fenton had finished last night's report.

The policeman in his report to the mayor said that he had no trouble with the sophomores, that they had behaved themselves with just a few exceptions. He said that there were still a few "sophs" who believe they ought to use the paddle, but after being lodged in jail if the paddle was used, most of the second-year men decided they were not in favor of the "big stick."

KATY TRAIN HITS HANDCAR

Four Workmen Saw Danger in Time to Jump to Safety.

Four employes of the Katy railroad narrowly escaped death Sunday morning, when No. 9, a fast train on the main line hit a handcar on which they had been riding near McBaine. The men saw the train in time to jump, and a moment later the handcar was demolished. According to H. L. Wilson, the local Katy agent, none of the men was injured.

BRITISH EX-CONVICT WINS PRAISE IN WAR

One-Time Burglar Enlists Under Assumed Name and Pays With Life.

KILLS A GUN CREW
Disciplined for Roughness Then Commended—He Dies a Hero.

J. W. Pegler, the writer of the following news story, was until last year the manager of the United Press bureau in St. Louis. In 1915 he was in Columbia during Journalism Week. He was on the Journalism Week program and in his address, told his audience of the methods used by a great news-gathering organization such as the United Press, in covering an event like the European war.

Mr. Pegler was sent to London to represent the United Press, only a few months ago. His articles will appear from time to time in the Missourian.

BY J. W. PEGLER
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
LONDON, Sept. 19.—(By Mail)—An ex-convict, veteran inmate of British prisons, today is mourned by his regiment and Scotland Yard alike as one of England's war heroes. With a list of convictions behind his name he lied his way into the army, won the Victoria cross and finally made the great atonement during the Big Push. The story was told here today.

As a tribute to the burglar-hero the War Office is shielding his name, but Scotland Yard remembers him of old. His bunkies in France recall him as a hollow cheeked man, slightly stooped, who took life and death as lightly as he did the prison sentences imposed from time to time by glowering judges. He had no relatives; his only friends, who took part in his forays against the law, are still in the game of cracking safes and evading arrest. Therefore his medal will become one of the treasures of a crack regiment of fighters.

Goes Direct to Front From Prison.
The dead Tommy had just been released from prison when the war broke out.

"Shaving water at nine," he said with a grin as the turnkey slammed the door behind him the night before his release. "I'm leaving early for the front."

"You'll be back again in a month," growled the case hardened warden as he switched off the lights in the tier.

But the convict shed his name and police record with the prisons greys and eased by a lax recruiting officer.

In a few months he was ankle deep in the icy slush of the trenches, sniping through a loophole and running-in with his officers for taking rash chances. He was used to taking chances and couldn't see why they didn't go over the parapet and mix it with the Germans.

He Kills an Entire Gun Crew
At last his opportunity came. The battalion went over with a howl and the burglar-Tommy yelled with glee as he ran firing his rifle from the hip. In the excitement of the fight he became separated from the battalion. A few yards away a German machine gun crew in a pit was pouring death into the charging ranks. Tommy ran to the brink of the pit and killed the crew.

When the lines were re-formed he was first disciplined for disobeying orders—he shouldn't have gone astray—and then commended for his daring. Tommy merely smiled. Shortly later, he received the Victoria cross and a furlough. The London police shook hands with him and bought him cigars.

Even a Detective Commends Him.
Tommy went back to France and went over the parapets again in the Big Push. A big shell killed him.
"He was a real enthusiast," said a detective who used to round up the went after a little job when he had lead hero in the old days. "He never dealings with him and he played the game to a finish in war."

At Christian College

The Twelfth Night Club of the college entertained last night in the college gymnasium in honor of the new students. An orchestra furnished a program of dance music and the programs of the new girls were carefully looked after by the old students.

Punch was served between dances.

Mrs. James Ardizzone of Tulsa, Okla., arrived in Columbia yesterday to place her daughter, Miss Helen, in the college.

Miss Charlotte Bradley of Cleveland, Ohio, arrived last night to register in the college department of the college.

As is the usual custom at Christian College, the Y. W. C. A. gave the initial hospitality of the year in honor of the new students. The entertainment was given Saturday night and was planned by Mrs. Marion W. Hertig of the faculty, adviser for the Y. W. C. A. and took the form of a birthday party. The twelve months of the year were represented by original "stunts" given by a group of students whose birthdays occurred in the respective months.

Mrs. J. M. Neer of Cambridge, Kansas, left last night for her home after visiting friends in Columbia and placing her daughter, Miss Margaret, in the college.
