Russians Resume Drive On Lemburg—Budapest Reports Rumanian Defeat

Hail's Men Continue Drive

By United Press.
LONDON, Oct. 2.—General Haig's men continued throughout last night and this morning the smashing advance begun yesterday toward Bapaume, it was officially announced tonight.

After beating off German counter-attacks against the newly won positions east of Abbeve, the British established their line last night from and cleared surrounding buildings of the enemy.

West of the town the British established their line last night from a point of one hundred yards north of Courcellette in the direction of the Hessian trench.

An enemy counter-attack forced the British to relinquish part of the Regina trench, where stubborn fighting has been going on for twenty-four hours.

The British losses in yesterday's victory, when the Germans were driven back on a 3,000-yard front, were unusually small. The new "tanks" played an important role in the advance and helped make it possible for Haig's soldiers to win German trenches with slight losses.

A report from Budapest tonight says that General Falkenhayn's victory over the Rumanians near Hermannstadt has halted the whole Rumanian invasion of Transylvania.

The Rumanian left wing was so badly demoralized by the blow that it has become necessary to regroup all forces on the Transylvanian frontier. The fighting in the region of Hermannstadt has practically ended.

Britons Bag Another Zeppelin

By United Press.
LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Zeppelin shot down in last night's attempted raid on London crumpled up and broke into several pieces as it plunged earthward before the eyes of thousands of Londoners.

Fragments fell from sixty to seventy yards apart and with them mangled bits of bodies.

The commander of the destroyed Zeppelin was found in the field near part of the wreckage today, still alive but terribly injured. He had been driven into the wreckage with such force that the imprint of his body was plainly visible when he was picked up. Thirteen bodies had been recovered at noon.

Before the Zeppelin was hit her crew threw overboard thirty-nine bombs. Most of them exploded. They fell in fields and did no damage.

TWO FAIL TO PAY A LICENSE

Fines Assessed Against Mercantile Agents Here.

As a result of charges brought by the Retail Merchants Association of Columbia, H. W. Colby, representing the Swope Shoe Company of St. Louis, who tried to open a mercantile agency here without paying the prescribed license, was fined $15 and costs this afternoon. Colby was not arrested, but was called upon by a representative of the Retail Merchants Association and he in turn went and paid the fine.

A similar case, in which S. Schoenbaum of St. Louis who sells a line of ladies' furnishings, tried to operate in Columbia without a license, resulted in Schoenbaum being fined $10 and costs before Judge Edwards in police court this afternoon.

FIRST TO LOSE STATE CHAUFFEUR'S LICENSE

Ora Mann, Fined 4 Times, Suffers from Vehicle Acts of 1911.

IN COURT TODAY

On Parole, Columbia Speed Bug, Gets Call Down From Judge Harris.

Ora Mann, 19 years old, of Columbia, is the first person in Missouri to suffer the loss of his chauffeur's license from the enforcement of the Motor Vehicle Act of 1911. Mann was fined $50 by Police Judge Edwards last Monday for reckless driving and as it was his fourth appearance for the same misdemeanor, City Attorney George S. Starrett reported the case to Secretary of State Roach who withdrew his license.

Mann has been employed by the Bowser Taxicab Co., for a year and within that time has drawn three fines of $5 and costs each time. His widowed mother has been paying the fines until last week when the assessment went beyond her means. After being in jail for four days Mayor J. M. Batterton remitted half of it and he was released.

During the five years the Motor Vehicle Acts have been on the Missouri Statute books no other case of this nature has been brought before the Secretary of State. Mann will not be able to drive a car in Missouri again until April, the law reading "No new license shall be issued to such a person (convicted of an infraction of the speed regulations) for at least six months after the date of such conviction nor thereafter except in the discretion of the Secretary of State."

Although Mann is the first chauffeur to have his license withdrawn he is not, in all probability, the first to be fined four times. In the larger cities of the state drivers are fined time after time but the failure to report the cases to the secretary of state allows them to retain their licenses.

Mann is on parole from the Boone County Circuit Court. This morning he appeared before Judge David H. Harris to report his behavior, and received a lecture from the bench when he admitted having done reckless driving at Moberly recently. His arrest in Columbia recently was not reported by Sheriff Sapp.

A grand jury was sworn in this morning by Judge David H. Harris at the opening session of the October term of the Circuit Court. The jury was instructed by Judge Harris to return indictments against violators of the local option law, the revenue law, perjurers or persons who committed any offenses that were within its scope of action. No special instructions were given the jury and it went into session after the members were sworn in the courtroom. The members of the grand jury are C. E. Proctor, J. E. Wright, D. E. Vandiver, Jr., J. E. Whittle, J. F. Challa, W. W. Woods, W. H. Brink, J. L. Baldwin, W. D. Sapp, T. J. Rippe, L. T. Dawson, H. L. Sandker.

Judge Harris excused the petit jury until the afternoon session of the court and heard several cases where the defendants either pleaded guilty or not guilty to the charge. The members of the petit jury are Joseph Triplett and Louie Hulen from Boone Township; W. W. Sarty and Joseph Denham from Central Township; P. Grace, Harve Davis, Thomas Stewart, P. J. Brown, Tandy Quisenberry, L. E. White, Garth Clinkscotter, W. H. Vogt, Gray Henry and M. E. Glenn from Columbia Township; Albert Selby, O. T. Scott, J. B. Sapp and H. D. Judge Sentences Four.

Sentence was pronounced by Judge Harris on four of the prisoners who pleaded guilty. Six others pleaded not guilty. Of the ten who were brought before the court this morning, six were negroes and the charges they must answer to, range from common assault to first degree murder. Eugene Logan, negro, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of forgery and was sentenced by Judge Harris to seven years in the state penitentiary. Logan has been out of prison two years, after serving a sentence for grand larceny. Dudley White, 17 years old was sentenced to three years in the Missouri State Reformatory at Booneville for attempting to pass a forged check. George McGraw, 19 years old, was given five years in the penitentiary for forging the check that White tried to pass. The two boys both of whom live near Columbia, were arrested here last week.

Finney Pleads Not Guilty.

Floyd (Rastus) Finney, a negro who is as well-known to the police as he is to University students pleaded not guilty to a charge of burglary.

Kelley Kyle, of Ashland was fined $25 and costs for assaulting James Vane, Marshal of Ashland. Kyle was fined last summer for fighting and being unable to pay his fine, worked it out but not until he had knocked Vane down. He told the Judge he would plead guilty if the sentence was light. When asked how much he could pay, Kyle said that he couldn't "pay no thousand dollars."

Parole Hearing Amusing.

Some of the negro prisoners and paroles furnished amusement for the audience as Judge Harris questioned them but they seemed to see anything but humor in the situation. Following is a sample of the cross examination gives the negroes: "Well Elijah, what have you been doing since the last time?" ran the query of Judge Harris. "I aint bin doin' nothin' cept keepin' de law Judge," came the reply. "How many times have you beat your wife since you were here the last time?" "I aint beat her none, we just gittin' long fine as can be Judge."

"Well, work hard, observe the laws and report to me next January, you may go, next."

The list of paroles consisted of Jasper Wilhite, Earl Turner, W. L. Short, Clifton Smith, Ora Mann, Charles Gates, Irvy Davis, Louis Demman.

THE WEATHER

For Columbia and vicinity: Fair tonight and warmer. Tuesday partly cloudy weather, not much change in temperature. For Missouri: Fair slightly warmer tonight. Tuesday partly cloudy.

Weather Conditions.

The apex of the high pressure wave the fair weather type of last week is over New England this morning, but its influence still is paramount as far west as the Mississippi Valley. In the west we find just the opposite condition, an extensive low pressure system has thrown its influence over the entire Rocky Mountain region and east as far as the Plains. The resulting weather is windy and unsettled, with rain in California, Utah, Colorado, and Oregon; and snow in Montana, North Dakota, Manitoba, and Alberta.

In Missouri generally fair, although somewhat windy weather will likely continue over Tuesday, but showery weather is probable on Wednesday.

Local Data.

The highest temperature in Columbia yesterday was 70, and the lowest last night was 48; precipitation, .00; relative humidity 7 p. m. yesterday, 29 per cent. A year ago yesterday the highest temperature was 71, and the lowest 48; precipitation, .00.

Sues For Fire Insurance.

The afternoon session of Boone County Circuit Court, before Judge David H. Harris, opened with the case of the Columbia Feed and Grain Company against the American Insurance Company. The question is one of the renewal of the insurance policy of the company, which expired a few days before the fire occurring on August 8, 1916, which destroyed the buildings and contents of the company.

TO INVITE PARENTS

Columbia's Trade Week Offers Opportunity to Visit Students.

Students in the University, Stephens and Christian Colleges will have an opportunity to help make the Co-operative Fare Refund Trade Week still more successful.

Several men having charge of the plans for the trade week suggested that every student in town whose parents live within a reasonable distance of Columbia, write to their parents to visit them between October 9 and 14, and thereby have their railroad fare repaid. Since this offers an excellent opportunity for the student to get new suits or other necessities, the suggestion has found a ready response.

Another thing that has added impetus to the idea that students should invite their parents to visit them is that the last day of Trade Week comes on Saturday, October 14, the Washington University football team plays the Tigers.

Practically every leading store in Columbia is now allied with the Trade Week plans. The fact that the Women's Civic League is co-operating in make visitors welcome, brought forth much favorable comment among business men today.

The merchants who are co-operating in this big plan to bring Columbia to the doors of every family in Columbia's trade territory, are:

- Fredendall Department Store.

Hallsville Philanthropist Divides Money To Howard-Payne and Central.

HAS PUBLIC PASTURE

Will Provide For Home-Town Cows—Estate Valued at $150,000.

The will of Aquilla H. Jones, filed today in Probate Court, bequeaths to Howard Payne College at Fayette $20,000 to be used for the good of the institution, while Central College, also at Fayette, likewise receives $20,000 to be used as the curators of the college may see fit.

Although the will does not mention the value of the Jones estate, Probate Judge John F. Murry estimated the entire estate to be worth approximately $150,000.

Mr. Jones was a widely known Boone County philanthropist, and farmer and was the founder of the Children's Home Society of Missouri, located at St. Louis, to which institution he left $1,000.

Besides the will, consisting of eleven items signed October 24, 1916, there are two codicils dated May 28, 1914, and September 13, 1916, respectively. The terms of the will provide as follows:

John T. Mitchell of Columbia, state bank commissioner, is appointed executor of the Jones estate with full power to dispose of the property as he sees fit. He is enjoined to convert all real estate into money to be added to the trust fund.

Leaves Public Pasture.

To Dr. James R. Champion of Howard County, Mo., is bequeathed all the household goods now in the residence of the late Mr. Jones, with the exception of carpets, window curtains and stoves, which are to be sold with the house.

The will asks that no inventory of these household goods be taken and that should the house be rented or leased the adjoining 133 feet pasture be retained as a public pasture for the cows of Hallsville and vicinity.

Job Archer of Hallsville is willed a silver watch belonging to Mr. Jones, while Louis R. Champion of Howard County is given a gold watch, also owned by Mr. Jones.

The remainder of the estate is to be divided equally among the thirteen living grandchildren of Mr. Jones, the female grandchildren receiving their share when each reaches the age of eighteen years, while the male grandchildren will receive their share when they reach the age of twenty-one.

Other Relatives Provided For.
