

YELLOWSTONE WORLD'S BEST PARK

Charles Norton Hunt, in University Auditorium, Tells of Nature's Wonderland.

Nation's Scenic Reservation as Large as Two Eastern States, Says Speaker.

The scenic beauty of Yellowstone National Park was described and illustrated with stereopticon views and moving pictures by Charles Norton Hunt in the University Auditorium last night. Mr. Hunt is employed by the Northern Pacific Railway, and he took his audience on a travelogue from Minneapolis through the park. About eight hundred persons were present. Mr. Hunt delivered a similar lecture here last year.

"The Yellowstone is the largest of fourteen national parks," said Mr. Hunt. "It is as large as two eastern states. It is the real wonderland of the world. An Ohio banker who has been around the world fourteen times says there is nothing anywhere that compares with it."

The stereopticon views were beautifully colored, although the speaker claimed that the remarkable scenes of the park cannot be satisfactorily reproduced. The views were interspersed with short strips of moving pictures. The wonderful work of the Government in building roads and bridges through the park was shown, besides views of geysers in eruption, hot springs which have caused the colorings on the rocks, beautiful terraces of stone and golden cliffs, the glass mountain, animals and flowers of the park, and finally Yellowstone Falls.

Mr. Hunt told of one geyser which raised a river six feet in thirty minutes and of another called the Congress Geyser because it so seldom acts. Three troops of United States cavalry are stationed in the park for patrol and guide duty.

CLUB WOMEN SEE BREAD MADE

Demonstration Given at the Home of Mrs. W. H. Lawrence.

On a table equipped with the necessary kitchen utensils, in the center of two large rooms of her home, Mrs. W. H. Lawrence gave a complete and practical demonstration of bread making from the unwrapping of the yeast to the finished loaf, before the rows of the wives of the faculty men, who are members of the Housekeepers' Study Club or their guests, yesterday afternoon. Also, she gave a talk on the nutritive value of different flours and showed tests to ascertain the amount of gluten contained in each. She prefers, for bread, flour made from northwestern wheat as it brings the best results and contains more food value. She also prefers compressed yeast for it saves time for the housekeeper and means more efficiency. A bread mixer is practically an essential with her, not for good bread, but for efficiency.

Further proof of her excellent bread was given in the luncheon which she served. Assisting Mrs. Lawrence were Mrs. A. J. Meyers, Mrs. Frederick Dunlap and Mrs. W. J. Shepard.

Mrs. Lawrence was at the head of the home economics department of the State Agricultural College of Washington for a number of years.
