M. L. BAND'S RAGTIME TABOO EXPLAINED

PLAY FOR CREDIT

Original Arrangements Will Be Given at Concert Tues. Day Night.

For the time being any military band the "Air du Jour" (current news) or "Improvisation" will be played at the University Band's concert at the College Theater next in the University Auditorium. The arrangements are by George Venable, director of the band. Two Italian, two French and one Spanish arrangements will be on the program:

1. Eugenio Barba's "Paso Doble"
2. J. S. Bach's "Air"
3. "Tocqueville" and "Marche Militaire" arranged by Lewis Bernard
4. "Folk Dance Airs"
5. "Mendelssohn's "Spring" Fantasy"

There have been many queries as to why the band never plays the most popular music," said Mr. Venable. "People seem to forget that band is only a university class and that the professors are students. They are here for education and not amusement. The music played will be arranged to teach them all of the educational kind. The students can learn all the 'ragtime' they care for at home and people can be paid to play it on street or vaudeville troupes on the road. What they learn while in the band will last and will prove beneficial when they get back home. There are forty-eight members this year, most of them from small towns where good music is rare, so it is with the idea of teaching them worth which have the band play educational music."
