TO MAKE PERMANENT MOTOR ASSOCIATION

Commercial Club Will Take Final Steps in Movement Thursday.

AIM AT GOOD ROADS

Will Probably Co-operate With State Organization for Legislation.

Steps toward a permanent organization of the Motor and Good Road Association in Columbia and Boone County will be taken Thursday noon at the luncheon of the Commercial Club at the Virginia Grill. At this time it will be determined whether or not Boone County residents will organize and affiliate with the state association.

Dr. J. B. Cole, who was elected chairman of the temporary organization, said when interviewed this morning: "The committee has not taken any definite steps in regard to organization, but has constantly endeavored to create interest in the movement. It has been the aim of the committee to develop sufficient interest on the part of citizens to make certain a permanent organization."

At the meeting Thursday noon the different phases of the question will be discussed. If adequate support is expressed on the part of those in attendance, the committee in charge will make arrangements for a permanent association, and will co-operate with the state organization in securing definite road legislation at the next session of the Legislature.

NEWS and COMMENT

Nebraska will not meet Ames on the gridiron next fall because of the inability to arrange a date. Ames held out for November 3 but the Cornhuskers refused because such an arrangement would fix three stiff contests with Ames, Missouri and Nebraska on succeeding Saturdays. Ames wanted the November date for a "Homecoming" game.

The announcement that the negotiations were off was accompanied by a statement on the part of the Nebraska authorities that the two institutions were parting company reluctantly and that an effort would be made to come to an agreement for a game at Ames in 1918. Meanwhile the Cyclones and the Cornhuskers will continue to exchange relations in all branches of competitive sport other than football.

Bill Edmunds May Leave Washington U.

Washington university of St. Louis may soon be looking for a new athletic director, according to word from the Mound City, although not through any desire to get rid of Bill Edmunds, the former Michigan star who has done much to put the Piker school on the map in an athletic way.

The report is that Edmunds has received an offer from another school in a smaller city than St. Louis and that he will accept. There is no friction between Edmunds and the Washington athletic authorities, but it is said that the Piker director does not care to remain where students, athletic board and alumni are not a unit on the coaching situation. Edmunds maintains that it is not possible to turn out a fighting team where there is the slightest friction between the athletic department and the rest of the school.

Whatever Edmunds' enemies—if he has any—have to say about the Michigan man as a coach, it is plain to those who have watched the Piker team, for years trying to lift themselves up out of the dust, that he has done much to advance athletics and good sportsmanship in St. Louis. Since his arrival on Francis Field Edmunds' eleven has beaten Missouri once and St. Louis university three times—a record in itself.

Nebraska Plans A New Stadium.

The University of Nebraska is to have a new stadium. Although the football team did not show the prowess of former years, financially the season just past was the most successful in the football history of the school. Expenses were heavier than ever before, but the increased receipts left $5,544 profits in the team's treasury. More than $10,000 is now on hand to apply on the fund being raised to build a stadium.

Colgate Gets Three Men On All-American.

Walter Camp's all-American eleven selected for Collier's Weekly is released for publication today. The West, in Minnesota and Ohio State, takes two places on the first eleven, while Colgate takes three positions; Yale, two and Harvard one. Oliphant gets one backfield position and Pollard, a negro, another. The first and second elevens are:

FIRST ELEVEN

Boston, Minnesota	End
West, Colgate	Tackle
Black, Yale	Guard
Peck, Pittsburgh	Center
Dadman, Harvard	Guard
Horning, Colgate	Tackle
Moseley, Yale	End
Anderson, Colgate	Quarter
Oliphant, West Point	Halfback
Pollard, Brown	Halfback
Harley, Ohio State	Fullback

SECOND ELEVEN

Herron, Pittsburgh	End
Ward, Annapolis	Tackle
Hogg, Princeton	Guard
McEwan, West Point	Center
Bachman, Notre Dame	Guard
Gates, Yale	Tackle
Miller, Pennsylvania	End
Purdy, Brown	Quarter
Le Gore, Yale	Halfback
Casey, Harvard	Halfback
Berry, Pennsylvania	Fullback

The placing of two men from the Western Conference on Camp's all-American recalls the days when the all-team dopsters couldn't see beyond the Catskills in making their selections. Then the territory was enlarged to include the eastern slope of the Appalachian highlands. This gradual enlargement of the viewpoint in making the all-American selection gives hope to those who play at the college game in the Missouri Valley, the Southwest, the Rocky Mountain region and the Pacific slope, that within the next decade the ability of their stars will be recognized—if such is recognition.

All-Team Dopsters

May Finally Reach the West.

Collier's "all Western" selection of a week ago should in the future be termed an "all-Western Conference" team for the "Big Nine" teams are all that are considered in the selection.

Investigate Entrance Conditions.

The committee appointed by President Hill and the presidents of the four normal schools was here last week investigating the entrance conditions to the University and advance standing granted by the University to normal school students. This committee consists of C. T. Callaway of the State Department of education; Dr. J. H. Coursault, representing the University and William H. Ziegler, representing the normal schools.
