A representative crowd of fully three hundred Columbians and University students, wearing the uniforms of the lord of Avernus, harem maidens, colonial gentlemen and dames, danced under the varied-colored balloons that completely hid the ceiling, and used their noise-makers to the greatest efficiency at the Firemen's Fourth Annual Masquerade Carnival Friday night at Columbia Hall.

The decorations, on which the firemen pride themselves, were even better than those of last year. The walls were covered with imitation lattice work and more than three thousand balloons were used in hiding the ceiling. At the end of the hall was a painting of the Columbia fire truck and from the searchlight on the truck the "spot" was used for the moonlight dances. The orchestra pit was decorated with streamers. Chief Earl Kurts served punch. Every dance seemed a favor dance, the signal being a ringing of the fire bell, at which the crowd would rush to the favor booth with all of the speed it would use in going to a fire. Seven favors, consisting of hats, rattlers, pop-guns, imitation pipes and the like, were given to every one who could reach the booth in time.
