ENGLAND TELLS ALL, NORTHCLIFFE CLAIMS

London Editor Tells United Press War Reports Give Complete Facts.

"U-BOAT BEST CARD" But the Submarines Will Never Defeat the Allies, He Asserts.

Editor's note—Sensing a nationwide doubt as to whether Great Britain has been telling the full truth regarding the German submarine successes and the campaign on the western front, the United Press today put the question squarely up to the best-posted man in the British Empire—Lord Northcliffe. Inquiries as to whether America was getting all the facts were put. As an indication of the importance attaching to the inquiry by the British foreign office, the resulting interview was called today to the United Press by the British government's own lines, evidently at the suggestion of the foreign office.)

By United Press
LONDON, May 3.—America is getting the full and complete facts of every news feature of the British end of the war, except the actual figures of submarine losses, and may be expected to receive them very soon. The submarine menace is the strongest card Germany has played, but it will never win the war.

The foregoing is on authority of the man whose prophecies and statements have come to carry more weight than those of any other figure in the war—Lord Northcliffe.

Lord Northcliffe is probably the squarest facer of facts in England. He never dodges. Today the United Press put squarely to him the proposition of the gathering doubt and distrust in America resulting from belief that British officialdom has not been frank with America in its statement of submarine losses and possibly as to the full truth regarding the Allied success on the western front.

"In regard to the loss of tonnage through submarines," Lord Northcliffe said, "there is no doubt that the figures are serious. The government does not prevent its newspapers from saying so, nor does it prevent American correspondents from saying so. The government will, I believe, publish the full facts and figures, as soon as we can arrange the matters with our French and Italian allies. I do not hesitate to say in my newspaper that the submarine menace is the greatest difficulty we have had so far, but to pretend that the war can be won by the submarine is preposterous.

"I certainly feel that there can be no complaint of lack of frankness, of over-censorship, in the reports of the United Press and other correspondents at the British front. In the early part of the war I was one of the censor's severest critics, but I am convinced that the present daily reports of the British advances as published here and in the United States are the frankest statement made by any of the belligerents."

MOVIES EXPLAIN GARDEN PLAN

Columbia Learns How Dayton Grew $15,000 Worth of Vegetables.

How a city can utilize and beautify its vacant spaces through the efforts of its children was shown in colored slides and motion pictures last night at the courthouse. The pictures, accompanied with a lecture, were shown free under the auspices of the National Cash Register Company of Dayton, Ohio. The process of landscape gardening and vegetable growing were shown. In its plan of neighborhood gardens, Dayton plots up any vacant lot if the people in the neighborhood guarantee to keep it cultivated during the season. Last year $15,000 worth of vegetables were raised on such lots, according to the film. Boys and girls raised a crop worth $1,800 on one and one-fourth acres of ground.

PLAN IS TO LOCATE TRAINING CAMP HERE

Commercial Club Officers Confer With Military Council in St. Louis.

SITUATION IS IDEAL

V. B. Jones Points Out Advantages of Bluff Country, South of City.

E. C. Anderson, president of the Commercial Club, and Victor B. Jones, the secretary, went to St. Louis this morning to confer with the Military Council of the National Guard concerning the establishment of a training camp at Columbia. The proposed camp would not be for the purpose of mobilization, but for training the men coming into the army under the Conscription Bill, said Mr. Jones before leaving.

Missouri has only one camp for mobilization purposes and that is at Nevada. During the mobilization of the National Guard preparatory to leaving for the Mexican border last summer this camp was also used for training. Missouri's quota would probably be too large to be trained at the Nevada camp. These facts prompted the local club to try to obtain a training camp here.

"The central location of Columbia gives the city advantage. Also the bluff country along the M. K. & T. railroad tracks is ideal for training purposes," said Mr. Jones. The plans to have a camp established here have been considered for some time. Communication has been held with federal authorities, and replies have been favorable. Mr. Anderson and Mr. Jones will return tomorrow.

BUSINESS MEN TALK OF CAMPS

The Rev. J. H. George, Jr., Tells of Life at Plattsburg.

The Fort Riley Training Camp was the subject at the regular weekly luncheon of the Commercial Club today. The Rev. J. H. George, Jr., who attended the Plattsburg Camp, told of the spirit in training camp life and what the camps accomplish.

"An act of Congress," said Reverend George, "will not make officers, nor will the camp at Fort Riley make as fine officers as those in the regular army, but we will have to have men to officer the immense army that we are going to raise.

"The full course at Plattsburg," continued Reverend George, "consisted of three years' training, one month each year. The camps are known as the red, white and blue, corresponding to the first, second and third years of the course. A graduate is supposed to be able take his place in the Officers' Reserve Corps.

"The first month at Fort Riley will be given over to infantry work. After that an opportunity to specialize in any branch of the service desired."

Reverend George said that target practice was the part that interested him most. The practice, he believed, would convince any man that he had overestimated his own marksmanship. Applications to attend the Fort Riley Camp are still coming in and Dr. J. E. Thornton is examining applicants free.

DRIVE RENEWED TODAY

After Two Days of Inaction, the British and French Again Push On.

By United Press
LONDON, May 3.—After two days of inaction the British drive was renewed in powerful force today and in a new direction, Field Marshal Haig reported.

"There is heavy fighting all along the front from the Hindenburg line south of Sensee to the Vimy road," he said. "We are progressing and have already captured a number of strong hostile positions."

Haig's report indicated an offensive extending on a front of at least twelve miles. It is that distance from the road between Vimy and Achille to the north to the Sensee on the south.

There has been almost continuous fighting around Vimy, but the direction of the thrust has been easterly, toward Douai, the report indicated.

Fighting Scattered on French Front.

By United Press

EGG SHOW TO OPEN TOMORROW

With a program of demonstrations and lectures and with all exhibits judged and tagged, the egg show of the University of Missouri Poultry Association will be open to visitors all day tomorrow and Saturday. No admission is charged. The eggs are being exhibited in the Poultry Building.

Today the members of the poultry department have been arranging and judging the entries. "We have an excellent display of eggs," Miss Mary Cochran, secretary of the egg show, said this morning. "Many entries have been received for which the eggs have not arrived. We expect many more to come late today."

Tomorrow's program will include demonstrations in candling, drugging and preserving eggs. The home economics department of the University will give a demonstration of the use of eggs in food preparation. This will be under the direction of Miss Louise Stanley. The poultry department demonstrations will be in charge of George W. Hervey. Students in the department will be at the Poultry Building to assist the instructor's in making demonstrations.

STEPHENS GIRLS WILL HELP U. S. WAR WORK

Reserve Corps Is Formed at Mass Meeting—Goucher Plan to Be Used.

WILSON SENDS WORD

Food Conservation, Physical Efficiency and Red Cross, Students' Services.

The first of a series of mobilization mass meetings was held at 7:30 o'clock last night in the chapel of Stephens College. Until the close of the school the students and faculty of the college will put forth every effort to fit themselves for efficient community and national service. They will organize a reserve corps that will probably be affiliated with some national organization for physical efficiency in some special work, will study and organize for the production and conservation of food and will also continue with the Red Cross work that they have been doing. They desire to be able to direct the organization of clubs for these kinds of work when they return to their homes.

Miss Laura Argue of the history department was in charge of the meeting. President James Wood was unable to preside. A telegram sent by President Wilson, acknowledging the college as a potential working unit for government aid and advising the continuance of the Red Cross work the girls are doing, was read.

Goucher College Plan to Be Used.

The reserve corps will be similar to that of the University Women's Reserve Corps which is based on the Goucher College plan. This plan was read and explained in the meeting. Owing to the routine life in the college, the students are now doing most of the things that are required by the plan for physical efficiency.

The organizations for production and conservation of foods will be under the direction of Miss Nell McGhee of the domestic science department. "We must recognize the importance of food production," she said. "Countries that are in the war have already recognized the extreme seriousness of the food problem. We are now one of the warring countries and perhaps the most extravagant and wasteful.

Last year there was an increase of 30 per cent in the cost of foodstuffs and still there was the problem of how we were to dispose of the food that was wasted and thrown into the garbage can. This should not be. We should inform ourselves as to the nutritive values of foods and plan our meals accordingly. Food values are not determined by the cost of the foods but by their nutritive value. Making of Red Cross Goods Urged.

Miss Sarah Anderson, Bible professor and faculty adviser of the Y. W. C. A., said that one of the nation's most urgent needs is for the continued production of Red Cross supplies. "It is easy to make these supplies," she said, "when you know how. But it is not so easy as it looks. Most of us have tried it now, and so we know. What we should endeavor to do now is to learn how to make these supplies well enough to be able to start Red Cross organizations in the towns where we live and direct the work there. If our army was sent to the front it is true that all of the supplies in America would be used in less than a week, and since it takes a long time to make them we must do all that we can. Knitted eye bandages are especially needed to hold the compresses on the eyes of wounded soldiers, and knitted socks are warmer, more durable and more comfortable than the manufactured ones. No doubt the old women who can knit would enjoy making these supplies as their bit of service for their country and aid to the wounded."

BURNS CAUSE DEATH OF BABY

Gibbs Herndon Fischer, the year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Fischer, who live on a farm one mile east of Harg, died this morning from burns he received Tuesday when he fell into a fireplace. He was burned only slightly but probably inhaled some of the smoke and flames. Funeral services will be at the Ohvet Church at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.
