EXEMPTION FOLDERS READY.

University Students Must Get Their Blanks From Home Boards.

The questionnaires for the registered men of Columbia have been received by the local exemption boards, and will be mailed out before December 15, day the new rulings go into effect. They are folders containing sixteen pages.

University students of registration age are instructed to inform the home board of their address, and the blanks will be mailed to them. They will not be able to get blanks at the Columbia office, because only enough to serve the local registrants were received, together with instructions to conserve them, as the publication was expensive.

The new provisions divide the remaining registrants into five classes, which will be called in numerical order. Following is a general outline of the divisions:

1. Single men; men who fail to support their families. Those failing to return the questionnaires fall in this class.
2. Married men whose wives and children either can support themselves or have means of sustenance.

3. Men with dependent relatives; county and municipal officers; police and necessary employees.

4. Married men whose wives depend upon them for support; managers of firms whose service are indispensable.

5. Ministers and government officers.

The questionnaire when properly filled out gives a virtual history of every individual. Attached to it are blanks for affidavits.

Men certified for service, but not needed to complete quotas for the first draft, are puzzled as to their status under the new draft regulations. The question is whether they will be the first taken for the second draft or whether the new classification of registrants will defer or annul their order of liability.

Regarding this point the district draft board here has received instructions from General Crowder, provost marshal. It directs that Class 1, to comprise unmarried men without dependents, be exhausted before men, certified previously be drawn to fill quotas for the second draft. The text of the order follows: Every registrant, who prior to noon on December 15, 1917, has been examined and selected and notified of selection, shall remain liable to be inducted immediately into military service in the order of his liability, as heretofore fixed by his order number, unless and until upon any call upon his local board for men it shall appear that there is in Class 1 a sufficient number of men to fill such call, notwithstanding that such registrant may have been subsequently examined and classified under these rules and regulations and placed in a deferred class.

The district board announces that, notwithstanding the records of its transactions will be open to public inspection at all times, the questionnaire blanks to be filled out by all remaining registrants will be held confidential.

The members of the district board expect all business in connection with the first draft will be wound up so that it may adjourn next week. The board probably will not reconvene until February.

The district board has received a letter from General Crowder in which the board is asked to make suggestions for improvement in the draft law and its administration.

HAS AN OLD PROPHECY

Sage of 200 Years Wrote of "What Is Happening."

F. W. Fischer, Columbia baker, has an old newspaper, sent to him by his father, Jacob Fischer, of Nebraska, containing an account of a prophecy on war said to have been made 200 years ago. The account was a translation of an article published in a Danish newspaper in 1902, reading as follows:

"At the breaking down of a wall in the Monastery of the Holy Ghost at Vihmar (a city on the island of Gotland, in the Baltic) a 200-year old prophecy of war has been found. The prophecy, which was written on parchment by a monk in the year 1701, is now in the town hall at Visman. The manuscript reads as follows. 'Europe will some day, when the seat of the pope is vacant, meet with a terrible punishment. Seven nations will turn themselves against a bird with two heads. The bird will defend itself with wings and talons. A monarch who always mounts his horse from the wrong side, shall be surrounded by a wall of foes. It will be a tough struggle, east and west, and the lives of many men shall be lost. War chariots shall roll forward without horses and fire dragons shall fly through the sky and spew fire and sulphur and destroy towns. Mankind will not listen to the foreboding of God, and He shall turn away from them. The war shall last three years and five months. Starvation and disease will follow. Bread will be controlled and distributed among people. Men will be lurching at the bottom of the sea for their prey. The war will start when the corn is ripening in the fields and reach its maximum pitch when the cherry trees are blooming for the third time. Peace will be obtained about Christmas time.'

TRIES TO SAVE STARVING STOCK

Government Agent Here In Interest of Drouth Stricken Southwest.

C. J. Goodell of the Bureau of Animal Husbandry in the United States Department of Agriculture was in Columbia yesterday to confer with members of the agricultural extension service regarding the placing of southwestern cattle with Missouri farmers. The longest and severest drouth known in years dried up the grass throughout New Mexico and northwestern Texas. Some of the ranchers sold their cattle down to what they could maintain through the winter. Others kept their stock, relying upon a change of weather to give relief. Hundreds of head of cattle are now too poor and weak for shipment.

It is to prevent larger numbers from dying that the Government intervenes. The cattle are being classified as to age, condition and breed. Already more than a hundred thousand cattle on the ranges have been listed. Mr. Goodell will visit the agricultural extension service departments of the corn-growing states, asking that they explain to the farmers their opportunity to make money and do a patriotic service.
