FOOD CRISIS CALLS FOR MORE ECONOMY

Hoover Urges 7 Wheatless Meals and 1 Porkless Day Each Week.

CRISIS VERY GRAVE

Meat Supply of Europe Now at Lowest Ebb—Sugar Is Also Needed.

Seven wheatless meals each week, in addition to "Wheatless Wednesday," one meatless day in addition to "Meatless Tuesday," one "Porkless Day" each week on Saturday and an increased conservation of sugar are the requests of the United States Food Administration for the observation of the people of Missouri and other states to alleviate the increased gravity of the food situation, an announcement of the Federal Food Administration for Missouri yesterday declared.

"The wheatless meals and day must mean entirely wheatless," the announcement continued. "The wheat which is to be exported to our men in France and to our Allies must now come from that part of our supply which is conserved by the people, since our exportable surplus and several million more bushels have already gone across."

Saturday to be Porkless.

"Meatless means to eat no red meat, such as beef, pork, mutton, veal or lamb and no preserved meat—beef, bacon, ham or lard. The world shortage of pork and pork products, which is becoming increasingly grave, has caused the administration to ask for the observation of a "Porkless Day," which will be Saturday of each week. On this day no fresh or salt pork, bacon, lard or ham is to be used.

"The most material reduction of the consumption of sugar can be made by a reduction of the amount of candy and sweet drinks consumed. This may be easily accomplished without any attendant hardships or additional sacrifices. Every endeavor is to be made to see that the country is provided with a supply of household sugar on the basis of three pounds of sugar for each person per month. Individual consumption should be guarded so that no more than this amount will be consumed.

Supplies Scarce in Europe.

"The request from the United States Food Administration is made not only to those who have signed the food pledge in the state but to every man, woman and child in Missouri.

The service is voluntary but it is believed that no patriotic person seeking success for this Nation in the great war will fail to observe these new requests.

"The increasing gravity of the world food situation has caused the administration to ask for greater saving on the part of the American people. The meat supply of Europe is at its lowest ebb, as is the supply of sugar. The pork situation in this country is such that even the plans of the Government for feeding our own soldiers is being jeopardized. Wheat is in the greatest demand and the surplus supply has been exhausted.

Help of All Persons Needed.

"Success in the war will come only from well-fed, well-cared-for and efficient fighting forces and we cannot permit our own Armies and those of our Allies to become weak and inefficient through gluttony, selfishness and wilful wasting of food on our part. We must do everything that is within our power here at home so that the men who are on the French front may not suffer through our neglect. The Federal Food Administration for Missouri feels confident that the new requests of the national administrator will be observed religiously by every patriotic Missourian."

The new instructions are to be distributed through the county food administrators of the state to every home in Missouri as a supplement to the "Home Card" issued during the Family Pledge Enrollment campaign. On one side of the card are the new instructions and on the reverse side a comprehensive and simple statement of the food situation of the world by Herbert Hoover, United States food administrator.

Grand Lecturer of Masons Here.

J. R. McLachlan of Kahoka, grand lecturer, was the honor guest at the Masonic banquet given Friday night in Acacia Hall. About 150 Masons from Centralia and nearby districts attended. The Twilight Lodge of Columbia and the Acacia Lodge of Columbia put on the first and second sections of the third degree. This work closed the school of instruction which has recently been held.
