NEARING THE GOAL OF MONTH'S CAMPAIGN

One Name Added Today to $1,000 Patriotic Club Membership.

DAY'S TOTAL IS $2,000

Women May Continue Selling Stamps at Banks During March.

The total sales of War Savings stamps in the banks today up to 3 o'clock in the afternoon was about $2,000. One name was added to the $1,000 Patriotic Club, Mrs. E. C. Pegg and Mrs. P. B. Crump selling $1,000 worth of stamps to M. A. Rose. The total sales yesterday were $3,155.

Those who bought $25 worth and over today were: Mrs. Perry Maxwell, Mrs. F. G. Nifong and W. B. Nowell, $100 each; Mrs. F. M. Tiadel, $55, and Miss Mary Louise Pegg, $30. Since the banks are anxious for the women to continue selling at least another month, they will probably do so. It is estimated that the Women's Committee, in its three weeks' campaign, has sold between fifty and seventy-five thousand dollars worth of stamps and certificates.

The February Campaign Committee will continue its work for the rest of the week, and not stop tomorrow, the last day of the month. It still has hopes of gaining the needed ten members in the $1,000 Patriotic Club to make up the goal it started out for.

The following will sell thrift stamps and War Savings Certificates in the banks tomorrow:

CANADIAN SOLDIER TO SPEAK

Believes That Peace Will Not Come Till Fall of 1919.

Sergeant-Major A. E. Lowery, of Toronto, Canada, one of the first Canadians to enlist when war was declared, will be in Columbia Saturday and will give two addresses. He will speak at 3 o'clock in the afternoon on Broadway between Eighth and Ninth streets and again at 7:30 o'clock in the evening in the Hall Theater. If the weather is bad in the afternoon, the meeting will be in the theater.

Sergeant Lowery is being sent here to aid the war savings campaign. The February campaign committee is making the arrangements for the meetings.

Sergeant Lowery enlisted in the Fifth Battalion of the Canadian infantry four days after the declaration of war, and was sent to Europe with the first Canadian contingent. He went to the trenches in France in February, 1915, and was one of the first to be gassed by the Germans. He has never recovered from the effects of the attack.

In a speech in St. Louis Monday night, he declared that there would be no restoration of peace until the fall of 1919, when Germany would be defeated through the assistance of the American troops.

DEMOCRATS CONSIDER WATERS

Former Dean of Agriculture Suggested for Next Governor of Kansas.

There is a movement among the Democrats of Kansas to nominate Henry J. Waters for governor. Mr. Waters is a former dean of the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri, and is well known in this state. Following is an account from the Kansas City Times of February 23:

"The Kansas Democrats are at sea over a candidate for governor. They realized it must be a man who has studied the war problems, a man who can lay out a real constructive program for Kansas for the period after the war and one who can plan and carry out constructive work that will make Kansas as effective as possible in war work. There were numerous Democrats who are in favor of the party making only a nominal fight for governor and let Kansas have as near a nonpartisan war governor as possible in Henry Allen. The Allen sentiment is surprisingly strong.

"If the Republicans should fail to nominate Allen in the primary the leaders of the party in Topeka favor making a draft on Henry J. Waters, former president of the agricultural college and now editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star. The draft would be exercised because of the need of Kansas for a war governor, and Doctor Waters has had great experience in the farm production and marketing problems incident to the war."

PAGEANT PORTRAYS 100 YEARS' HISTORY

"Imperial Missouri" Depicts Growth of State Through Last Century.

$175 FOR RED CROSS

Civic League Program in Stephens Auditorium Pleases Audience.

The pageant, "Imperial Missouri," written by Mrs. W. E. Harshe and presented by the Civic League in the Stephens College Auditorium last night, was an instructive survey of the 100 years of Missouri's statehood. The episodes of the pageant portrayed Missouri products, history and ideals.

Miss Katherine Henry of Christian College took the part of Missouri. After describing the settlement of Missouri by the French, Spanish and English and telling how it came to be a blending of north and south, east and west, Missouri stood before her throne at the left of the stage and reviewed the results of her labors.

The Missouri products were presented by the students of Stephens College, assisted by boys and girls from the University Elementary School. Philip Severance as the Missouri Male declared there were 350,000 of his kind worth $36,500,000, raised in 1917 in Missouri. The Little Red Hen, Miss Jewell Morlan, with six little red hens, children from the Robert E. Lee School, said she couldn't crow because she was a real lady, but she would like to say that the little red hens had laid 100,000,000 dozen eggs in 1917. Big Business, Miss Lillian Rentschler, less modest than the Little Red Hen, did not hesitate to tell of the big factories, the biggest apple orchards, the biggest nurseries, the biggest strawberry fields and the biggest everything else that Missouri has. Wheat was represented by Misses Eula Bathgate, Sally Hall Settle, Carrie Edlemon, Susie Elliot and Muriel Rummell; Corn by Miss Jewell Moody; the Big Red Apple by Miss Lucile White and six little girls from the Elementary School. The minerals of the state were also represented.

Missouri Has Brains.

In the second episode, Miss Naana Forbes of Stephens College, as History, declared that Missouri was not measured by her harvests but by her genius and brains. She cited the names of great Missourians, including John Scott, Lewis, Clark, Benton, Eads, the first and present Secretaries of Agriculture, to show Missouri's claim to greatness.

Mrs. Turner McBaine, as Literature, named some of the Missouri authors who have and are making Missouri imperial, including Winston Churchill, Rupert Hughes, Harold Bell Wright, Eugene Field and Mark Twain. Miss Isabella Bradford then presented Eugene Field's "Little Boy Blue," which was followed by an army drill by eight boys from the Eugene Field School. Mrs. T. J. Talbert gave "Uncle Dan's Apparition." Mark Twain's story of the first steamboat on the Mississippi.

Miss Mary Hatton of Christian College, as Education, appeared as a beggar maiden clad in ragged black and old gold, to plead for better educational conditions. Missouri sent two maidens to clothe her in cap and gown and care for her future prosperity.

Miss Marcia Bailey of Christian College, as Music, was assisted by Mrs. Margaret Roberts Green, who sang several songs composed by Missourians.

Mrs. D. A. Robnett, as Temperance, was preceded by two Benton School girls, one of whom represented Missouri totally wet a hundred years ago, and the other showed Missouri totally dry.

Woman Citizen Seeks Freedom. Mrs. Rosa Ingels represented the Woman Citizen, who has done her part but has never been recognized. Miss Louise Nardin as Democracy explained the impossibility of true democracy existing in a state where half the people were not free. Missouri promised to recognize her Woman Citizen and permitted Democracy to loose the shackles that bound the other's wrists. Three University women appeared in the Dance of Victory to rejoice over the new freedom of the Woman Citizen.

Mrs. Marion Hertig of Christian College represented Patriotism, declaring her trust in Missouri's loyalty. Ten Christian College girls of the Knitting Squad led by the Goddess of Liberty, marched from the back of the Auditorium to the stage with as many United States soldiers, University men. A tableau, in which every character took part, ended the pageant.

Music was furnished by the Christian Church orchestra. The receipts, about $175, will go to the Red Cross.

STUDENTS ORGANIZE TO DISCUSS IDEALS

Nation-Wide Movement for Betterment of World Explained Here.

DEMOCRACY IS AIM

Peace Without Bitterness Is One Object to Be Sought by Groups.

A nation-wide movement to mobilize North American students for world democracy was introduced in Columbia last night at a University assembly by its promoters, Dr. Herbert F. Evans of Iowa University and Guy V. Aldrich of the international Y. M. C. A. staff. In an effort to reach the 200,000 college students in the United States, Doctor Evans and Mr. Aldrich are making a tour of the state universities, and colleges, presenting the plan for the "mobilization of ideals."

The plan proposed and followed at other universities involved the enrollment of students into groups to meet once a week under the direction of a faculty leader.

The series of discussions, to last eight weeks, is to follow an outline of topics arranged especially for the courses but will be entirely informal.

Committee Is Formed.

The executive committee to form groups in the University and to select the leaders are: Prof. P. F. Trowbridge, Prof. A. W. Taylor, Prof. F. F. Stephens and Miss Emma Cauthorn, of the faculty; Nathan Scarritt, Morris Dry, Baxter Bond, Cuthbert Stephenson, Miss Hazel Hoffman, Miss Mary M. Daniels and Miss Ina Scherzbeck, Y. W. C. A. field secretary, of the student body. The two outlines suggested for adoption here are "A New World Democracy," by Harrison S. Elliott, or "Christianity, Democracy and Internationalism," by Frank M. Sheldon.

"The far-reaching goal of the movement," said Doctor Evans, "is to win the war and achieve peace without hatred or indemnity. In many camps where men are training to fight, thousands are completely ignorant of the cause for which they are fighting. This is true of the mass of people as well. The movement aims to impress the college students with the service they may render in this war in reconstructing world ideals."

Pledge Formulated.

The common pledge for 1918 formulated by the delegates meeting at Northfield, Mass., where the movement originated, reads: "We the students of America, bound together in unbroken friendship with students of all lands, pledge ourselves to the reconstruction of the world at any price, in any place, and to this end we consecrate these years of preparation to Him who has called us, and given to us His life—even in the name of Jesus Christ our Lord."

PETROGRAD WILL NOT FIGHT THE GERMANS

Enemy to Find Occupation of Russian City Easy, Say Dispatches.

WORKMEN IN REVOLT

Russian Troops Refuse Battle—Population Bewildered and Apathetic.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—If special dispatches from Petrograd gauge accurately the situation there, the Germans are likely to find little difficulty in occupying the city with trained troops. Russian soldiers are quite frankly refusing to fight, and say, "We have had enough of fighting with the Germans come, let them use us."

There is a stiffer attitude among the workmen, from whom, if at all, resistance to the Germans must come, even though that resistance, on account of lack of training, should prove of little value. The workmen are said to be enrolling with enthusiasm in response to the call of the Bolshevik leaders. A correspondent of the Daily News, writing Sunday, says:

"Russian troops, almost without exception, refuse flatly to fight. A division, which was supposed to be defending Narva, has arrived at Gatchina. Ensign Krylenko protested. They replied they did not intend to fight. Immediately the first few German troops appeared, the Russian peasant soldiers, who, being peasants, not industrialists, are interested merely in the land question, started eastward in an uncontrollable wave, threatening to sack all towns on the way. The Russian army is the Germans' strongest weapon. In driving them toward Petrograd they were driving a herd of stampeding cattle, which would trample down everything in the way. Revolutionary workmen could have put up a real fight, but they could do nothing against the Russian army, which must disappear before the revolution can create any real military force for itself. Workmen in the towns are eager to fight."

Some correspondents, describing the bulk of the population as lost in bewilderment and apathy, think such resistance as may be offered will amount to little. Germans, with or without uniforms, are already in the capital, and many Austrians are here, too. The demeanor of the Germans thus far has been exemplary. They go about avoiding ceremony, and officers, following the Russian custom, carry no swords. They speak German in an undertone.

Germans in Petrograd have organized to police the city, a correspondent of the Morning Post reports.
