

FIRST DRAFT QUOTA COMPLETED TODAY

Walter Edward Jenkins and Russell Stott Fill Required Number.

TO GO TO FUNSTON

Harry S. Jacks Thinks Volunteers Will Exempt County From Next Call.

Walter Edward Jenkins of Ashland and Russell Stott of Woodlandville were examined this morning and certified fit for military service by the local examining board, thus completing Boone County's quota to the first draft. They will report to Camp Funston at once.

Orders were received several days ago that Boone County must furnish five more men to complete her contingent. Volunteers were called for. Three men, L. F. Yoest, C. R. Howell and C. C. Chandler, responded and were sent to Camp Funston.

In order to get the additional two men needed, a call for physical examination was issued for the next thirty men in order of liability. Jenkins was the first man to be examined. His order number is 80. Stott, whose order number is 98, was the eighth man examined. The thirty examined this morning were rejected under the first set of physical regulations. Between a third and a half of the men examined under the new rules passed today.

Harry S. Jacks, clerk of the draft board, says that he thinks Boone County will not be required to supply any men for the first call of the second draft. This will be a call for 95,000 men, issued for March 29. About seventy-five men have volunteered from here, and Mr. Jacks expects that they will be credited to Boone's quota instead of calling more.

COLLEGE HERE HELPS IN U. S. FOOD SURVEY

Other Allied Countries Are Also Ascertaining Their Exact Strength in Food.

STATE TEACHERS AID

Government Has Appropriated $2,500,000—Opportunity for Service.

A food survey is being carried out in every state in the Union and in each of the Allied fighting countries to ascertain the exact strength of the countries in food.

In the United States, the survey is being made under the direction of the federal department of farm management. The so-called Food Production Act passed last August carried a section appropriating $2,500,000 for miscellaneous activities, including the gathering of information concerning the production, supply, distribution and utilization of food.

The act became a law so late in the summer that no attempt was made to carry out the provisions of this section. But during the winter, arrangements for this farm survey were made and activities began in February.

In Missouri, the food survey is being made by the College of Agriculture co-operating with the State Council of Defense, the State Board of Agriculture and the Department of Public Instruction. In order to make the survey as complete as possible, it is being carried on through the rural schools, each teacher acting as director in his or her district and the pupils gathering the information.

Data are collected concerning hired labor, live stock, pasture, crops, fruit and seed. When the survey is completed it will enable the Government and state authorities to work out a program of food production which will make each state an effective unit in the national plans. In Missouri, it will assist in the solution of the farm labor problem, one of the most serious difficulties the state has to overcome.

It was hoped that the survey would be completed and announced by the middle of April, but the teachers have been slow about sending their reports to the state superintendent's office. Some of them have encountered serious difficulty in making the survey because so many farmers have the idea that the Government is seeking opportunity to increase taxes or confiscate food products.

"The opportunity for patriotic service which the survey affords should be realized," said A. J. Meyer, director of the Agricultural Extension Service, "since the complete survey for the United States will enable the Government to map out its military program with the definite knowledge of what can be expected from the United States from the standpoint of feeding itself, its army and the armies of the Allies."

BURNING TRASH CAUSES FIRES

Fire Chief Warns Against Carelessness on Dry, Windy Days.

Within an hour's time today two grass fires were started because of careless trash burning. The fire department was called at 11:15 o'clock this morning to come to a vacant lot on Second street between Garth and Grand avenues. This fire was caused by sparks from a burning trash pile which was not surrounded by any guard to prevent its spreading. A small wood shed caught fire but little damage was done.

The second call came from a lot at Hudson and Virginia avenues. The cause was also from the careless burning of trash. T. M. Walden, fire chief, says that Columbians should be very careful in burning trash, especially on such dry, windy days. Suitable preparation should be made before lighting the fire preferably some sort of metal or tile obstruction should be set up to prevent scattering.

The fire department was called to the bridge on the Fulton gravel at 6:45 o'clock this morning on a false alarm.

ENGLAND IS AGAIN RAIDED BY ZEPPELINS

One Aircraft Drops Bombs On Hull, Two Others Flew Aimlessly.

FIRST SINCE OCTOBER

Heavy Losses With Huge Crafts Stopped Aerial Invasions for a Time.

LONDON, Mar. 13.—Three Zeppelins took part in last night's air raid on England. One dropped four bombs on Hull. The others flew aimlessly about over the country, dropping bombs, and then flew back to the sea.

The Germans have suffered such heavy losses with their Zeppelins that they have employed them infrequently for raids on England, substituting airplanes. The last previous Zeppelin raid on England was October 19, 1917, in which thirty-four persons were killed and fifty-six wounded. The returning Zeppelin fleet was put to rout by the French, and five of the dirigibles were brought down.

THINKS DRESS IS SENSIBLE

Dr. Dan G. Stine Approves Women's Clothes, With Few Exceptions.

Dr. Dan G. Stine addressed the Woman Citizen Club last night on "The Relation Between Hygiene and Women's Clothing." He said that his only criticism of the present dress worn by women is the constriction of the chest and feet. Otherwise, he said it is well ventilated, loose and light. Leaving off the frills and furbelows of fashion, it is probably more sensible than men's clothing, since it allows the woman to become inured to cold and draughts.

Dr. Stine said that the war will provide economic reasons why women will require greater freedom in dress, as they will have to do a great deal of work in which skirts will interfere. He suggested that probably women will have a semi-masculine costume for such work and for athletic pursuits, but will continue to wear much the same clothes as at present for other purposes.

RED CROSS ASKS MUSLIN STRIPS

Women Are Urged to Provide Material for Tying Bundles.

The Red Cross urges women to give new muslin, torn into strips from one-half to three-quarters of an inch in width to be used in tying bundles. To be of sufficient strength, it is necessary that the muslin be new. The salvage of bandages was used for tying, but the Red Cross no longer gets these bandages. Ordinary cord cannot be used and tape is too expensive said the women in charge. Short strips of muslin will do, if they are sewed together very strongly.

ENLIST IN HOOVER'S ARMY

Organization of Columbia Children Is Miss Jessie Hill's Idea.

Miss Jessie M. Hill, daughter of President A. Ross Hill, is enlisting the students of the University Elementary School in an army for Uncle Sam which fights three battles each day. Every soldier in this army is a self-appointed recruiting officer, to get other children to enlist. Every soldier is also to abide by Hoover's plans and save all the food that he can to be shipped abroad.

The conservation army in Miss Hill's method of getting the children of the Elementary School interested in saving food so that they will act as a reminder to their mothers of the need for saving. The Association of Collegiate Alumnae has undertaken this experiment, which, if successful, will be spread over the entire county, probably throughout the Women's Committee of the County Council of Defense. Efforts are being made to interest the students in all the public schools in Columbia, and Miss Hill devised the scheme of enlisting the Elementary School pupils in an army with three battles to fight for Uncle Sam each day.

She says that a poster she is using in connection with the work suggested the army. Six posters have been made by Miss Gladys Wheat and Miss Marie Rickett of the art department. These are lent on application and are now being displayed at the Elementary School. One of these posters represents "Another Army for Uncle Sam, Fighting Three Battles Each Day." This is the army which Miss Hill is explaining to the children, and in which she will enlist them. She says that they have shown an enthusiastic interest in the project. Some of the grades have been studying foods, and are applying their work as much as possible to the war.

ARTILLERY IS ACTIVE IN LORRAINE SECTOR

Heavy American Fire Drives Germans From Front Trenches.

AIRMEN ARE BUSY

U. S. Observers Make Flights With Allied Aviators Over Enemy Lines.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Mar. 11. (Monday).—The sector occupied by American troops east of Luneville, which was designated formerly merely as being in Lorraine, has developed suddenly into one of the most active on the front, from the standpoint of artillery fighting.

American artillerymen are hurling thousands of shells daily against the German positions, making it virtually impossible to occupy the first-line trenches. Investigations show that they are practically abandoned. This is especially true in the neighborhood of certain places northwest and northeast of Badonviller, where, it is now permitted to say, the two raids mentioned as having been carried out simultaneously, took place.

German Plans Thwarted.

American sector northwest of Toul leads to the conclusion that the American raid there this morning came at such a time as to cause the Germans to abandon plans of their own for a raid. Normal artillery fighting continues in this sector, shells falling on towns on both sides of the lines. At one place the Germans used mustard shells. A small number of Americans walked through the gas later.

Last night an American patrol brought in an enemy sniper's camouflage suit made of woven brownish-colored grass, just the shade of the landscape.

There was the usual work of patrolling no man's land during the night, but no encounters were reported.

Many Airplanes up.

Conditions were excellent today for flying and many hostile and friendly planes were in the air. In virtually every one of the Allied planes, there was an American observer. Once or twice the Americans went close enough to the Germans to try their machine guns, but without results.

One plane in which there was an American went far back of the enemy lines. It was the target for hundreds of shells, which seemed to burst all around it. On returning, the American reported that some of the shells seemed pretty thick, but he was unharmed.

Gas Projectors Obliterated.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Mar. 12. (Tuesday).—There was greater artillery activity by the Americans on the Toul sector today than at any other time since they took their position there. American shells obliterated at least five groups of gas projectors which had been set up by the enemy in preparation for an attack. Fires back of the German lines were also caused and a number of explosions were heard.

The American troops in the Toul sector again raided the German positions, penetrating to the second line. No prisoners were captured, but a number of the enemy were killed by shell and rifle fire.

Along the Chemin-des-Dames sector, the crew of a German raider which had been brought down near Clamecy Monday night were made prisoners by American soldiers. The Germans were later turned over to the French.
