

YANKEES REVIEWED BY KING OF ITALY

Expresses Admiration to Commander of First Detachment.

SALUTES U. S. STAFF

Italian Newspapers Loud in Praise of Country's Newest Allies.

By Associated Press.

ROME, Aug. 14.—Further particulars of the review of American troops by the King of Italy are given in special dispatches to the Roman newspapers. One of them says:

"The sovereign, with his train, had taken his place in the royal stand when Cardinal Basiletti, the Archbishop of Verona, arrived. He was welcomed with a warm hand-shake by the king. After paying his respects to the king the venerable cardinal greeted each of the ministers of state."

"When General Diaz arrived the cardinal, after pressing his hand, said: 'I must thank you, general, on behalf of all my people. I know that through you I am thanking the whole army, its leaders and its soldiers, for having with such great valor, saved us from invasion by the enemy. We are always confident of even greater victories.'"

"Fine Soldiers."

"The review of the American recruits was truly solemn and impressive. The fine soldiers, superbly equipped and presenting a proud military appearance by their perfect alignment, made it easy to understand how these troops, now our brothers in arms, fought with such great valor in France."

"The king passed slowly before the boys, whose extreme youth was striking, replying enthusiastically to the salute of the soldiers, who stood at 'present arms.'"

"His majesty continued to express his admiration to Ambassador Page and to Colonel Wallace, who commands the first American Detachment to arrive."

"Two ensigns, stationed in front, presented the American flag. The king stopped and saluted the whole general staff, the American generals and officers, and said he brought the greetings of the Italian army and of the whole of Italy to the great country which was sending its sons so generously to fight in the cause of justice."

"Bravo," Says King.

"The king afterward reviewed the Italians, stopping in front of the Arditi, who presented arms. Seeing one of them with three silver medals and one of bronze, he stepped out from his escort and approached the soldier, asking him about his battles and his welfare. The Arditi, still rigidly presenting arms, answered each question briefly. The king pointed him out to the generals and stroked him on the shoulder with a 'bravo!'"

"The newspapers, speaking of the review, say the Americans give the impression, principally, of great energy and force."

"The Messagero, commenting on its correspondent's description of the parade, says:

"We feel immense joy over the arrival on the front of the magnificent infantry and superb artillery from America, who have won their first laurels for this young and already formidable army on the difficult battlefields of France."

Austrians Pass Death Sentence on Language Teacher.

ZURICH, Aug. 14.—A telegram from Vienna published in the Journal de Geneva says Miss Milado Jamschek, a language teacher, was condemned to death by a military tribunal in the Austrian capital on a charge of espionage.

Miss Jamschek took passage from New York on the steamship with Ambassador von Bernstorff when he left this country.

She is said to have made the voyage at the instance of Czech organizations in the United States to find out from the retiring ambassador, if she could, whether Austria was under German domination, what the prospects were that Austria might conclude a separate peace, and what the attitude of the Czech and Bohemian delegates might be in regard to the independence of the Czech provinces.

It is said that Miss Jamschek at her trial disavowed any criminal intent, saying that she wished merely to carry satisfying news from the United States to her fellow citizens.

SOLDIERS ASK FOR MORE NEWSPAPERS

Theodore Roosevelt Makes Public an Appeal From Hospital.

CAN'T GET ENOUGH

Red Cross Adds Plea for Regular Mailing of Dailies.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt has called upon the American people to send newspapers to the soldiers in France. His appeal was the result of a letter he received from a woman in France, who has two sons in the military service.

Writing of the American Red Cross hospital at Neuilly, where the wards already are full and the halls are lined with men on stretchers waiting to have their wounds dressed, this woman added:

"The men are splendid and are not complaining. They are pathetically eager for home news and there is nothing they wish for more than home papers. I wish you would suggest that more papers be sent them. They do not want old papers that have been read and thrown away, but daily papers regularly mailed to them."

"I very earnestly make an appeal not only for New York and Boston papers but that all American papers be sent to the boys," said Roosevelt in giving out the letter. "I hope the papers may feel inclined to do a part themselves. Of course, they should not be expected to bear all the expense and outsiders should provide funds to send papers regularly to the hospitals where the boys from their districts are likely to go. This information can be procured from the Red Cross or the War Department. I wish it could be done generally."

A Red Cross report made public in London makes the same appeal.

The American Red Cross library committee in London is now furnishing reading matter for 25,000 men weekly, the report states, but the supply consists largely of books. The supply of home newspapers is not being regularly mailed to them.

"Regarding books," says the report, "the men ask principally for fiction, and light fiction at that, but the American magazines and newspapers give far greater satisfaction than do books."
