

TOMORROW TO BE "GIVE-MORE DAY"

United War Workers Will Attempt to Raise $1,000 Needed for Quota.

TO HOLD AUCTION Donated Pig and Colt to Be Sold at 2:30 to Highest Bidder.

Don't go out tomorrow with empty pockets. The day has been designated as "Give-More Day," in the United War Work campaign.

It will be devoted to an attempt to raise at least $1,000 to put Columbia over the top in the present drive.

Today's report showed that the city lacked more than that—$1,426.10, to be exact. Money raised and reported to headquarters amounted to only $13,574.90. The city's quota is $15,000.

Campaign leaders were hopeful, however, that today's work would result in putting Columbia within $1,000 of the goal.

Girl students from Christian College, Stephens College and the University will be busy tomorrow giving everybody an opportunity to increase his subscription.

Those who respond will be decorated with red tags reading "I gave more. Did you?" Persons wearing these tags are not to be asked to give again.

More persons have subscribed in the present campaign than in any previous one. However, the amounts are considered small, in view of the fact that they must be divided among seven organizations.

Unless there is a generous response Columbia seems certain to fail of its quota. It is expected to wind up the campaign tomorrow night.

Pig and Colt Given.

One incident of tomorrow's drive will be the sale of a pig and a mule colt donated to the campaign. These will be auctioned off at 2:30 p. m. in front of the United War Work headquarters, 1005 Broadway. If any more live donations are received, they will be sold at the same time.

The pig was given by Frank Bihl, Jr., 507 West Broadway. When his father and other members of the family had subscribed, Frank said he wanted to help too. So he gave his pig, a Red Duroc thoroughbred weighing 40 pounds.

The colt was given by John Prowell, of Keene school district.

District 44, or Keene district, could not have a meeting to get subscriptions for the fund so a committee visited everyone in the district and solicited contributions.

When the committee arrived at the home of Mr. Prowell, they told him the amount he was expected to give. "I haven't any money," Mr. Prowell answered, "but the amount you asked me to subscribe is not half enough. Whatever I give will not be too much nor more than my share because none of my boys had to go to war." He gave the mule colt to the fund to be sold for whatever it would bring.

County Raises $27,000.

H. M. McPheeters, county campaign manager, estimated the whole county today as having subscribed $27,000 toward its quota of $35,000. This allows about $13,500 for the part of the county outside of Columbia, against a quota of $20,000.

However, McPheeters said that a number of districts which have not yet reported are known to be approaching their quotas. In the county active work will be continued through Sunday.

A list of the amounts subscribed by the 24 districts in Columbia and the school districts outside of Columbia will be made public next week as soon as it can be compiled.

These school districts have completed their quotas since yesterday: Valley Springs, Vawter, Angell, Turner (No. 68), Conley, Gillespie, Potts, Joe Wren, Turner (No. 3), Barnett, Tucker, Union and Winn. Christian district, with a quota of $100, has raised $206 and is still going.

THE WEATHER

For Columbia and Vicinity: Probably rain tonight and Saturday. Not much change in temperature.

For Missouri: Probably rain tonight and Saturday. Warmer tonight east portion.

Weather Conditions.

The high pressure wave that has dominated the weather for the past several days is leaving the Atlantic seaboard for its ocean voyage. Fine weather still prevails in all sections east of the Appalachian Mountains. A marked low pressure wave dominates the weather over the western half of the country extending from and including the Mississippi Valley to the Pacific Ocean, and the resulting conditions are unsettled and stormy. Rain has been general on the Pacific coast from British Columbia to Lower California; and across Arizona and New Mexico to and including Texas, thence northward to the lower half of Missouri.

Temperatures are moderate everywhere. In Columbia unsettled and somewhat cloudy weather will prevail during the next 24 hours probably with rain. Temperatures will not change much.

Local Data.

The highest temperature in Columbia yesterday was 69; and the lowest last night was 50. Rainfall 0.11. Relative humidity noon yesterday was 45 per cent. A year ago yesterday the highest temperature was 41 and the lowest was 37. Rainfall 0.00.

HEALTH BOARD MAY LIFT BAN

Question Is Considered at Meeting Late Today.

The City Board of Health met late this afternoon to consider lifting the ban which has been on all public meetings since the outbreak of the influenza epidemic.

Last week the board decided that if the epidemic continued to improve, churches might open Sunday and moving picture shows Monday.

Cases of influenza are still developing in the vocational section of the S. A. T. C. and the disease is beginning to spread, in a small degree, into the student body of the University. Two members of the collegiate section of the S. A. T. C. were admitted to Parker Memorial Hospital with influenza today. There are five girls ill in Read Hall at present; no new cases were admitted there today.

To prevent any further spread of influenza among the girls in the University, Dr. Dan G. Stine has suggested that they "stay on the job" and observe a partial quarantine until all danger is passed. At a meeting of the district captains at noon today it was decided to observe the two following rules:

1. Masks must be worn in all University buildings, especially in the corridors.

2. No girl may have indoor engagements with any man or girl from another house. The term "indoor" applies to stores and eating places as well as homes.

It was also suggested that every girl in the University feel herself bound to do away with all social activities and with all gatherings not essential to her college work.

NEW CONSERVATION POSTERS

Still a Need for People to Conserve Food.

The home economics department of the Agricultural Extension Service has issued new conservation posters, emphasizing the continued need of saving food, even though the war has ended. "Some people think that because there is no longer any fighting going on that there is no need for further conservation of food," says Miss Anna Jensen, nutrition specialist of the home economic department.

Less time is required in getting products from the United States to the Allies than if they obtained them from any other source, she says. The most direct route to France from New York is 3,500 miles while from South America to France it is 5,490 miles and from Australia it is 12,500 miles.

One of these new posters says: "Women of America which do you want—to eat everything you want or to bring back your soldier boys from France?"

Another says: "If ships must go to distant countries for food our soldiers cannot come back for several years."

Still another reads: "After Peace what? America cannot help to free countries politically and let them starve."

BERLIN TO BE GREAT PORT!

Germany Plans to Make Capital the Center of Transportation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Plans for tremendous development of Berlin as a port, that are rapidly nearing completion, show that Germany is not forgetting the problems that are to come later on, even in the stress of the war.

A Swiss trade journal that has reached the department of commerce describes the work that is being done to make a great port of Berlin, which is an inland city.

Two great basins, close to the city, already are completed and work is going ahead on a third. Vast docks, grain elevators, and storage plants, warehouses and all the appurtenances that go with a great port are part of the plan.

When the work is completed Berlin will be the center of German river transportation. The annual capacity of the port will be 1,600,000 tons.

GERMAN ARMY RETIRES BEYOND FRENCH BORDER

Praise for Newspapers.

George Creel, chairman of the Committee on Public Information, has issued the following statement regarding censorship regulations:

"It has been agreed that there is no further necessity for the operation of the volunteer censorship under which the press has guarded from the enemy the military policies, plans and troop movements of the United States. The agreement may be considered as no longer binding and the card carrying the request of the government is herewith cancelled.

"The secretary of war and the secretary of the navy and all others connected with the direction of America's war effort join in sincere acknowledgment of the debt of gratitude owing to the press of the United States for the honorable discharge of a high responsibility.

"Without force of law and under no larger compulsion than their own patriotism, the overwhelming majority of newspapers have given unflinching obedience to every desire of the government in all matters of military secrecy, carrying through successfully a tremendous experiment in honor and trust."
