EASTERN SCHOOLS WOULD MEET TRACK TEAM

The Missouri track teams have established themselves among the best in the collegiate world as shown by the fact that several Eastern Schools desire future track meets. Syracuse University has invited the Tiger team to compete in a dual cross country meet while Princeton University has asked the Missouri team to engage in a dual meet next spring. According to Coach Robert I. Simpson the Syracuse meet is out of the question but the one with Princeton may be arranged. Through the performances of Simpson, holder of many hurdle records, and of Scholz, Hamilton, Massingale and many others in the past, the University of Missouri track teams have come to be respected by the larger schools of America. Princeton track teams have always stood out among the best of the East and a meet between the Eastern Tigers and the Tigers from the Middle West would attract much attention.

HARVARD'S PROSPECTS WERE NEVER BRIGHTER

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 9.—Harvard's hopes for supremacy on the gridiron this autumn are running high. The prospects for developing a well-balanced, crimson squad from the wealth of material available was never brighter, according to the coaches. Although Head Coach Bob Fisher has not made his final choice, his selections so far indicate that the average weight of the line men will be about 190 pounds, while that of the whole team should average 185 pounds. The candidates in their daily workouts have shown excellent kicking and running qualities. The entire group of backfield candidates kick well. In assembling a tentative line, Fisher chose three regulars, two substitutes from last year's squad, and two men. This line consisted of Clark, a new comer from Colorado, who weighs 181 pounds; Lockwood, 184 pounds; Kane, 185 pounds; Tolbert, an Oklahoma man, 206 pounds; Brown, 200 pounds; Woods, 222 pounds, and Havemeyer, 175 pounds. Clark and Kane were used on the end positions. Lockwood and Tolbert as tackles, Brown and Woods as guards and Havemeyer at center. This combination showed good teamwork.

PRINCETON IS CONFIDENT OF GOOD FOOTBALL TEAM

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 9.—The Princeton football team has been particularly hard hit by graduations and ineligibility, but Coach Bill Roper is confident of building a championship combination out of the wealth of new material. As is the case with most big eastern elevators, Roper's hardest task is to develop a suitable pair of ends but, in addition, he must construct a backfield. Although twelve letter men returned to school this fall, few of them were regulars. Men must be developed to take the places of such stars as Strubing, Trimble, McGraw and Williams, who graduated. Holmes, Snively, Ewser and Lipscomb, all members of last year's freshman team, are not available either because of leaving school or being declared ineligible. Out of the squad of 65 that reported for first practice, the following appear to have the best chances of making the varsity: Ends—Raymond, Jones, Davis and Legendre. Tackles—Keck, Rutan, Hopper, Halsey and Upton. Guards—Thomas, Dickinson, Morgan and McCaul. Quarter—Lourie, Stinson and Gorman. Half—Gilroy, Wittermer and Murrey. Full—Scheerer, Gilroy and Lourie. Raymond has had varsity experience. Jones was a freshman end in 1919 and Legendre formerly starred with Tolane. Stan Keck was one of last year's stars, but was out of the game most of the time, with injuries. He weighs 200 pounds, is a terrific line plunger and an accurate place-kicker. Rutan was on the freshman team last year. Hooper, Halsey and Upton played on last year's scrubs. Thomas was substitute center last year. Dickinson, Morgan and McCaul have had varsity experience. The latter may have made a regular but for injuries. Captain Mike Callahan will be understudied at center by Opie and Sureman. The latter was a sub-center when his leg was broken last year. Lourie, who played in part of the Harvard game last fall, is a good open field runner and is sure on punts. Stinson and Gorman alternated at quarter on the freshman eleven. Murrey, who kicked field goals against both Harvard and Yale last year, seems to be certain as a half back. Gilroy was full on the freshman team. Wittermer has had varsity experience. Scheerer is one of the best punters in the game. He also is a good ground gainer, as evidenced by his performance against Yale last year. Gilroy and Lourie may also be tried out at full. Outside they are showing well on the squad are Cleaves, Gordon and Cutchins. Princeton opened with Swarthmore here last Saturday. The next game will be with Maryland State, Washington and Lee plays here October 16 and the Navy on Oct. 23. West Virginia, which defeated Princeton 25 to 0 last year, comes Oct. 30. Colgate, which administered a 7 to 0 defeat to the Tiger last year, has been dropped from the schedule. The only out of town game is with Harvard at Cambridge. The teams tied 10 and 10 last year. Yale, which Princeton beat 13 to 6 last year, comes here Nov. 13. The Yale game will produce the unique feature of brothers, captains of their respective elevens, facing each other at center. They are Mike Callahan of Princeton and Tim Callahan of Yale. The latter, who was captain last year, was re-elected.

FRENCH SPIRIT HELPS REBUILD RUINED AREAS

Paul W. Brown, Visiting Here, Has Seen the Unconquerable Farmers Returning Home.

PRaises THEIR PLUCK "To See Their Faith and Willingness to Endure Hardships Makes All Who See Optimistic."

Paul W. Brown, editor-in-chief of America at Work, and former editor of the St. Louis Republic who was in Columbia making a comparative survey of the Missouri Agricultural School returned a few months ago from a tour of the devastated regions of France where he was engaged in the reconstruction work in the devastated areas. Mr. Brown was in the district of Anzy-le-Chateau of the department of the Aisne and was chiefly interested in agricultural rehabilitation.

On August 1, last year, Mr. Brown said, there was only one road leading into the province that was practicable; there was not an acre of land under cultivation; not a head of livestock of any kind, including cats, dogs, pigeons or mice. There was nothing for them to live on. By the end of the month about five hundred people had managed to make their way back into the region and had made their homes in abandoned dug-outs, wrecked buildings or rudely constructed shacks. There were eight fall gardens planted and thirty per cent of the arable land was under cultivation, this was made possible largely by the loan of tractors and tools by the American Relief Association. This shows the willingness and determination of the French farmers to regain their position, destroyed by the war.

INDOMITABLE FRENCH SPIRIT Mr. Brown told of one young Frenchman who before the war farmed profitably a large tract of land. He was wealthy, living in a huge old chateau with a large crew of servants and hired helpers on the farm. He served in the army, was wounded and captured and imprisoned for two years by the Germans. On his return to his home he found it entirely destroyed and himself bankrupt. He was not discouraged but with his wife and one hired hand made their home in a two roomed shack and by incessant and indefatigable effort he is farming his land now. He is only typical of the spirit of the French farmers thousands of whom are in a similar position.

One of the greatest factors to be considered in bringing the French land back to cultivation, according to Mr. Brown, is the amount of unexploded shells that strew the land. It is estimated that there are twenty million tons of explosives in and on the ground of the battle areas that menace any tillers of the soil. It takes two hundred men a week to clear away two hundred thousand pounds of this explosive, which is collected together and exploded. According to Mr. Brown there are from two to eight people killed daily in France as a result of the accidental discharge of these shells that are buried in the ground and are unexpectedly exploded in cultivating the ground. MADE HIM AN OPTIMIST "It is the greatest experience in the world to make an optimist out of a man," said Mr. Brown, "to see these poor war weary people, return to their destroyed homes and ruined land with the utmost faith in the future and undauntedness in the face of the unimagined hardships, to be undergone, unhesitatingly and cheerfully commence to make the best of what they have. Such spirit is unequalled."
