Mrs. William R. Painter of Jefferson City, will give $5,000 for the establishment of a scholarship in the University in memory of her son, Herndon William Painter, who died in December, 1919.

The scholarship, which will represent the annual interest on $5,000, is to be known as the Herndon William Painter Phi Delta Theta scholarship. Painter was a pledge of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity at the time of his death.

The qualifications for winning the scholarship will be decided upon later when other conditions of the gift also will be arranged. It is probable that the scholarship will not be finally established for several years.

FAVOR REVIVING ASSOCIATION

Business Men Seem to Feel Lack of Retail Organization.

The Retail Merchants' Association helped the business men of Columbia in many different ways and now that it has disbanded most of the merchants are in favor of reorganizing.

The association had a credit bureau listing 6,000 names which saved its members from many impositions by persons desiring credit. Each dealer would send in the names of his delinquent customers every month. When a new family moved to town the secretary would immediately get information concerning their credit from the town from which they moved. The secretary also watched for persons moving out of town and told the merchants so that they could see that no bad accounts would be left on their books.

The "Daily Reporter" issued by the association gave a list of all of the real estate changes in the county, releases of deeds of trust and everything a business man would want to know about chattel or property mortgages. The merchants were also protected from fake advertising solicitors as every advertising medium had to obtain the approval of the association before a member would insert an advertisement in it.

U. S. MARINES BRUTALLY KILL TWO HAITIANS

General Barnett in a Report Today to Naval Department Makes Known the Details.

NOT ALLOWED A TRIAL Men Were Made to Dig Their Own Graves and One Was Covered With Kerosene.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The details of the killing of two natives of Haiti by United States marines became known here today. General Barnett who made a report to the Naval Department in regard to the situation in Haiti, will go before the Navy Investigating Board here today.

The two natives are said to have been killed with no trial whatsoever. The two men killed were Leonard Placide and Desjane Jean. They were shot at Croix de Bouquete on the night of May 22, 1919. One of them was charged with employing magic and the other was charged with theft.

According to the report the men were made to dig their own graves before they were executed. Kerosene was then poured on the head of one of the men and he would have been tortured by fire if there had not been a high wind which prevented the kerosene from igniting.

After the firing squad had been commanded to fire upon the men and they failed to fall the sergeant in charge took out his own weapon and finished the men.
