

FORETOLD HIS WHISKY FINE

Mr. Hayden and the other authorities competent to bear the same. We had a right to feel that Mr. Hayden would present the facts to Judge Dyer, and I was surprised when Mr. Hayden did not divulge the facts to Judge Dyer, even when he asked for them. There is no doubt in my mind that Judge Dyer did not understand the situation and that he assessed the punishment under a misapprehension of the facts which it was the duty of Mr. Hayden to divulge to him.

"Under the Federal Prohibition Act and the constitutional amendment the enforcement of the prohibition law is now actually being left entirely to the officers of the federal government. The prohibition enforcement officers of the district have given us every assistance and were as much surprised and disappointed at the outcome of the Baisano case as we were. The Prohibition Act, however, has not yet superseded the state and city laws relative to the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquors. The last State Legislature passed an act putting in force the prohibition amendment in Missouri, but by petition this law has been referred to the people to be voted upon under the referendum at the November election. Until that law or some other law superseding the local option law becomes effective in the state and city and the city officers will continue their efforts to enforce the same. We will of course continue to render every assistance that we can to the federal authorities, but we will also use the means at our hands to try these cases in the state and city courts, and if the city authorities can get ahead of Baisano we expect to prosecute him for selling liquor in violation of the local option law in Columbia."

DRIVE AFTER THE ELECTION

Campaign of Y. M. C. A. Is Put Off Again.

The proposed drive for funds by the Y. M. C. A. among the citizens of Columbia was postponed again, at a meeting of a number of students, business men, and officers of the Y. M. C. A. last night. It was thought best to put the campaign off until after the election and in the meantime carry on an advertising campaign to inform Columbia of the work of the Y. M. C. A. here.

It was the opinion of those in charge of the drive that in view of the fact that the Salvation Army drive was still on any other Salvation Army drive would not be successful without the citizens of Columbia were thoroughly informed as to the actual needs of the local association. Tucker P. Smith, vice-president of the Y. M. C. A., and Paul Sifton will speak before the luncheon of the Commercial Club Friday, and explain the situation to them.
