SINN FEINERS LAUNCH BITTER ATTACKS AS CONFLAGRATION DESTROYS CENTER OF CORK

Fire Which Started Saturday Night Continues to Burn—Spreads Over a Mile of Business District.

ACCUSE BLACK AND TAN Smoking Ruins Permit No Search for Bodies—Wires Cut and Highlanders Ambushed.

By United Press. LONDON, Dec. 13.—The fiercest fighting since the Easter Rebellion in Ireland in 1916 is taking place at Cork. The British were attacked while Cork was in flames.

At Clon, a suburb, many Scotch Highlanders were ambushed. One Sinn Feiner was killed there, and many were wounded.

Billionaire was a scene of fighting. The occupants stood the attacks of Sinn Feiners for hours.

The loss of the Sinn Feiners is not known. At Camalough, several were killed and many were wounded. Wires have been cut.

A body of police were called for the aid of the residents, but were attacked and many of them were unable to reach their posts.

By United Press. LONDON, Dec. 13.—The government investigation of the Cork conflagration began today.

No reports had been received at the high office as to casualties but officials said that it would be remarkable if no lives were lost in the fire.

CORK CONTINUES TO BURN

By United Press. LONDON, Dec. 13.—The fire which started here Saturday night following an ambush of the military continues to burn today. The populace is panic stricken.

The fire is spread over a mile of territory in the business section and incendiary fires continue. Fire fighters from Dublin and Limerick arrived today to relieve the harried Cork brigade. The military forces patrolling the streets aided the firemen.

The exact number of buildings destroyed is not known but it is believed that it will exceed the fifty first reported. The damage is estimated at $30,000,000, aside from property of unknown value destroyed by the fire. At least 2,000 people were out of work today with hanging awnings, drapers, and the city hall destroyed. There must have been casualties in the conflagration but the smoking ruins today permitted no search for bodies.

There is a disagreement as to whether the fire was started by British police. Sinn Feiners charge that the fire is the work of the Black and Tan police.

A proclamation declaring that "the public must at once realize that Ireland is in a state of war with forces of the British crown" has been issued over the signatures of the officer commanding troops of the Irish Republican Army at County Munaghan.

HUDSON MOTOR CAR STOLEN

J. R. Hopper Reports Theft of Car From Garage. A Hudson motor car belonging to J. R. Hopper, 323 North Ninth street, was stolen from his garage sometime between 6 o'clock Friday afternoon and the same time Saturday. As yet no lead has been discovered.

The garage is located about thirty feet back of the Hopper residence and was locked with an ordinary padlock. The Hopper family was at home most of the time Friday evening and Saturday and during the time that they were away they were at a near-by residence about a hundred feet from the garage. None of the persons living in the neighborhood has any recollection of having heard or seen anyone take the car from Mr. Hopper's garage Friday night or Saturday.

Mr. Hopper used the car to attend his father's funeral Friday. He left his garage locked but left the key hanging on the side of the garage. After putting the car away Friday night he again locked the garage and took the key to the house. It is possible that the thief had a duplicate key made while Mr. Hopper was gone Friday.

OLD TIME SPELLING IS RESURRECTED BY THE VOCATIONAL AG. CLUB

Can you remember when you used to go to the spelling bee? Can you remember the thrill that came over you when you were the last to leave the floor?

The pleasant memories of these things were brought back at "ye-olde-time-spelling-contest" between two teams chosen from the Vocational Agricultural Club at the Agricultural Building Friday night.

"Unnecessary, u-n-n-e-c-c-e-s-s-a-r-y." "Try again." "U-n-n-e-c-c-e-s-s-a-r-y." "Wrong."

And the speller took his seat. This was continued until eight of the ten who were divided equally representing two teams had taken their seats. R. E. Sivert and Fred Enberg remained. Finally Sivert missed a word and Enberg was left master of the evening.

The Vocational Agricultural Club realizes that their spelling is not perfect and has decided to improve it. The club was divided into two groups for study and contests. R. S. Marshe was chosen leader of one of the groups, and Paul Bernard leader of the other. They have been using the text "Seventy Lessons in Spelling."

Prof. T. E. Sexaur pronounced the words which he had selected. Before each of the ten contestants had missed a word, 143 had been pronounced.

DANIELS NOT IN FAVOR OF LIMITING NAVY

Secretary of Navy Believes Naval Armament Agreement Would Look Like an Alliance.

MIGHT AROUSE ENMITY

To Urge Reduction of Sea Power if Country Enters Into World-Wide Disarmament Compact.

By United Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—An agreement between England, Japan and the United States to limit naval armament will not meet the approval of Joseph Daniels, Secretary of the Navy.

Daniels said he would endorse a reduction of sea power only in the event that it was world-wide. It is his opinion that an agreement among certain powers would look too much like an alliance, and would arouse the suspicion of other nations.

Daniels indicated that when he goes before the House naval affairs committee to report his naval construction program, he will urge that an increase be made for the United States navy until the United States entered a world-wide disarmament agreement.

SIXTEEN SHIPS BEING BUILT

Completed Naval Program Will Give U. S. Strongest Navy in World.

By United Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Ships maneuvered at will by wireless without a man aboard, giant airplanes speeding along at a tremendous rate, unheard of guns thundering and strange torpedoes slipping through the air, these will be a part of the navy of the future as indicated by the annual report of the Secretary of the Navy, made public today.

Sixteen ships provided for in the three-year program of the navy are now under construction, according to the report. During the year 1920 one battleship, the Tennessee, was built, also 84 destroyers, 12 submarines and 28 auxiliary vessels.

At the present we are building 11 battleships; 52 destroyers; 49 submarines and 28 auxiliary vessels. The program when completed will make the navy of the United States the strongest in the world.

There is a proviso in the recommendation for an elaborate fleet. "If," says the report, "provision is made by our government for an international agreement for a concert of nations, with strength to prevent war, it will be neither necessary nor wise to authorize either a three-year program or a large one-year program." Only enough ships will be needed to finish the present fleet. An international agreement to prevent competitive navy construction is urged.

The estimated amount of money required to support the naval establishment for the year was $679,515,731.47.

The navy now has a reserve force of 28,000 officers and 227,000 men. The cost of personnel of the organization is discussed and the methods of training and securing recruits given, all of which have proven successful.

A Pacific fleet base must be provided, says the report. Hawaii is recommended because of its strategic position. Two or three harbors could be enlarged to accommodate the entire fleet. The port cities of our western coast should be prepared.

"Regardless of the political party in power, the alleged need for a general staff is mere camouflage for the elimination of civilian control," he says. The power now lies with the Secretary of the Navy. Make the Secretary a rubber stamp and you not only militarize the navy but revert our tradition of civilian authority.

BUTCHER BUSINESS BURNS

Fire Ruins Centralia Shop Owned by Buggs. Buggs' Butcher Shop, in Centralia, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The fire started about 7 o'clock and is thought to have been caused by defective wiring.

The fire broke out at 7 o'clock. People thought it was the weather whistle and did not investigate. Two hundred gallons of lard were burned. There were no hogs in the shop at the time.

The building was owned by C. M. Green, proprietor of the Green Mule Barn in Centralia. It was situated east of the Washab station between the Washab and C. & A. tracks.

Buggs opened his business two weeks ago and has been butchering hogs for the farmers around Centralia. He had a new motor and full equipment, all of which were destroyed.

To Support a Family of Eight Children Is Columbia Woman's Lot

Physical misfortunes have placed in poverty many people in Columbia who now live by the aid of charity. It is given to the heroism of one woman to support a family of eight children, to feed, clothe and educate them.

With reluctance she told her visitor the story of the family misfortune.

"Influenza took my husband two years ago," the woman said. "He was a workman and had no insurance. There were eight children in the home and I had to care for them alone but we have gotten through somehow."

"The county gives me $12 a month. This pays my house rent and helps to buy coal. I take in all the washing I am able to do and the charity society does the rest. If they did not help I

PLANS A BETTER Y. M. C. A.

State Committee Meets in St. Louis Today. Two problems confronted the State Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association of Missouri when it met in St. Louis this morning. One of the main considerations of the meeting had to do with the University Y. M. C. A., which has met with numerous difficulties during the last year.

According to W. G. Stephenson, who is representing the business men of this city at the meeting, the state committee is to have a commanding part in the conduct and management of the University Y. M. C. A. A search for a new secretary is now under way. In addition, the Columbia association must be put on a progressive financial basis.

"The new secretary is to be a college or university man not over 35 years old, must be a man of commanding personality and a leader among men," said Mr. Stephenson this afternoon. "The business men of this city are going to put the 'Y' on a functioning basis."

NO INCREASE FOR OFFICIALS

Prosecuting Attorney Says Pay Will Not Be Raised. Salaries of Boone County officials will not be raised in the next two years, according to George Starrett, prosecuting attorney. A recent report stated that since the salaries of some county officers are computed according to the population of the county, and since the population of the county is figured by multiplying by five the number of voters at the last election, the women's vote on November 2 might result in raising the salaries.

A state law provides that the salary of an office-holder shall not be raised during his term of office. Every officer whose salary is determined by the population remains in office for the next two years with the exception of the prosecuting attorney, according to Mr. Starrett.

The prosecuting attorney's salary is determined in census years by the official census, Mr. Starrett said.

ANOTHER CHANCE FOR NEGRO

Izora Jackson Case to Be Re-heard in Kansas City. Izora Jackson will have her last chance to escape a $1,000 fine and a year's jail sentence when the Kansas City Court of Appeals hears arguments against the sentence next term.

Jackson received the sentence upon a charge of selling beer in his pool hall. According to Prosecuting Attorney George Starrett, Jackson put a keg of beer in a tank labeled "Bevo" and sold it as near beer. The case is the first in Columbia in which the maximum penalty for bootlegging has been assessed.

Jackson's appeal charges that the court erred in its instructions to the jury, in failing to dismiss the case after the evidence was heard and in failing to grant a change of venue from Columbia. He charges that an excessive penalty was given him because of local prejudice against him.

TAXES COME IN SLOWLY

Only 17 Days Left to Pay Collector—Office Open Christmas. The people of Columbia and Boone County are not paying their taxes as rapidly as they have in previous years. There has been more money collected, but this is because the taxes are higher, according to M. G. Proctor, county collector. There are seventeen days more in which to pay taxes without becoming delinquent.

The collector's office will remain open Christmas Day in order to accommodate taxpayers who are unable to get to the courthouse before then.

H. S. Students Given Picture Show.

One hundred students of the University High School were entertained with a six-reel motion picture in the agricultural auditorium Friday afternoon. Two reels were entitled "How Newspapers Are Made" and four reels were entitled "The Man Without a Country," led by the novel written by Everett Ruess in 1913. The first two reels were a part of the educational film service of the Ford Motor Company.

ROOT TO URGE WORLD COURT UNDER LEAGUE

Most Powerful Republican Will Try to Save Framework of Original Agreement.

TO OUTLINE NEW PLAN

Willingness of Europeans to Meet Americans to Be Discussed—J. W. Hill Expected.

By United Press. GENEVA, Dec. 13.—The League of Nations today adopted a plan for an international tribunal. All of the plans were explained by Leon Bourgeois of France.

After the presentation of the plan, a two-hour debate took place. The plans include admission of the United States to the court equally with other nations.

By United Press.

MAMON, Ohio, Dec. 13.—Pressure will be brought to bear upon President-elect Harding to save the framework of the League of Nations and to officially enter it with certain protecting reservations when Elihu Root, the most powerful figure in the Republican party, and a firm friend of the League, arrives here.

He is expected to outline to Harding the organization of the world court under the auspices of the League. Root played a prominent part in the organization of the court several months ago. He is expected to outline the extent to which Europeans would meet America, on a proposal to strike out Article 10, jurisdiction over immigration and interpretations of the Monroe Doctrine.

The Rev. John Wesley Hill, a New York minister, is also scheduled to arrive today.

ARKANSAS CLUB DANCE AT "Y"

Organization Permanent at M. U.—Member of A. D. Club. "I'm from Arkansas! Now, darn you, laugh!" was the reply of one University student to another one day last September when asked, "Where are you from?"

The Arkansas Club here intends to show why the statement "I'm from Arkansas" should not be met with a laugh. Hence, the "Show-You Club" is what this Missouri organization calls itself.

Forty students attended the Arkansas Club dance at the Y. M. C. A. Building last Saturday evening. All divisions and classes in the University were represented. Louis D. Potter, president of the Ad Club, was a guest. Mrs. Harkey, of Rossville, Ark., who has been visiting her daughter, Doris, and her son, Don, both students in the University, was chaperon.

An "R," a can and a saw improvised from crepe paper and arranged on the wall in the auditorium was a feature of the decorations.

Clifford Keller, graduate student in the College of Agriculture and president of the Arkansas Club, says that the students from his state expect to maintain the club as a permanent organization which will be efficient in advertising the University as well as furthering social enjoyment among themselves. The Arkansas Club has a representative to the Ad Club.
