AT THE THEATERS

Columbia. Charlie Chaplin, in a return engagement, will be the attraction at the Columbia Theater tonight. The play is "The Kid," in which Chaplin is given some very able assistance by little Jackie Coogan. The final episodes of "The Avenging Arrow" will also be shown. On account of the length of the performance, only one showing of "The Avenging Arrow" will be given.

Flora Finch, the first comedienne in motion pictures, formerly a partner of the late John Bunny, will be seen with Constance Talmadge in the latter's latest picture, "Lessons in Love," which will be the attraction at the Columbia Theater Friday and Saturday. Miss Finch, Kate Price and John Bunny were a famous trio in the early Vitaphone days.

In "Lessons in Love," Miss Finch has the role of an elderly maiden aunt of Leila Calhoun, a capricious young heiress, portrayed by Constance Talmadge. Leila, posing as a maid in order to escape a marriage "conspiracy" deceives the young man by telling him that the spinster is the woman whom his rich uncle has selected for him to marry. A glimpse at the old maid's photograph is enough to cause the young fellow to decide that he would rather marry the supposed "servant" than his uncle's choice. Buster Keaton, in "The Scarecrow," will do the entertainment.

There is little trouble with morphine in London, and practically none with heroin which is practically unknown. But the ease with which opium or cocaine may be smuggled into the Port of the World by one of the innumerable seamen of almost innumerable nations, which bring in a few ounces or pounds, is making it hard for the police to suppress the traffic.

Vandalia Has Aspirations. Vandalia wants to be a county seat. According to a Mexico dispatch, a movement has started in Vandalia, in the eastern part of Audrain County, to take a slice from Audrain, Pike, Ralls and possibly Montgomery counties and make a new county in the state. Vandalia is to be the county seat of the proposed county.

There are 14,240 fewer farms in Missouri now than in 1910, according to the census bureau bulletin just issued for 1920. There were 263,004 farms according to the last census of which 75,727 were operated by tenants. The number of farms operated by tenants decreased 7,231 in the ten-year period.

Only 27.7 per cent of Missouri farms are tenant owned, as compared with 38.1 per cent owned by tenants in the United States as a whole.

DOPE-SELLERS INVADE LONDON

Girls and Men "Sniff" Cocaine in Small Bright Light District.

By CHARLES McCANN, (United Press Staff Correspondent) LONDON, (by mail).—London is fighting an army of dope-sellers who, from police court records, seem to rival in number those of any city in the world.

Every day one or more cocaine sellers are given three or six months "hard" labor—for peddling their wares, almost exclusively in the small district between and around Leicester Square and Piccadilly Circus—the heart of the more vicious night life of London.

Anyone who knows what he sees may see girls any night "sniffing" cocaine in the streets of the district. The Piccadilly tube station at Piccadilly Circus is an observation post, for anyone can see drugs sold and taken on the spot, amid hundreds of unconscious theater-goers.

The dope traffic in London is carried on by both men and women in about equal numbers. The buyers are principally girls, and they all take cocaine. "Sniffing" the powder instead of using a hypodermic needle, which, though more effective, is harder to use.

It is possible to see men—the girls do not get up so early—taking their matutinal sniff in the fog or sunlight of Piccadilly Circus at 10 or 11 o'clock in the morning.

There is little trouble with morphine in London, and practically none with heroin which is practically unknown. But the ease with which opium or cocaine may be smuggled into the Port of the World by one of the innumerable seamen of almost innumerable nations, which bring in a few ounces or pounds, is making it hard for the police to suppress the traffic.

Students Have "Rewritten" Many Books in the University Library

One can often judge a person's character not only from the books he reads, but by the appearances of those books when he has finished. That books are meant to be written in as well as written, is amply proved by a glance over the reference books in the University Library.

Favorite markings are the underscoring of words and sentences and vertical lines drawn in the margin opposite a part of the book that impresses the reader.

The most common mark is "U. of M." while interrogation marks and exclamation points run a close second.

Books on problems that are open to debate often serve as a medium for both the author and the students who disagree with him. In a book by a member of the University faculty these appear: "You tell 'em Charlie;" "Talk English Chollies;" "What do you know about it?" and frequently a "no!" is put in, thus completely changing the original meaning. Economics books are well-stocked with contrary arguments.

One person brands the front page of every book he reads either "N. G." or "G. B."—doubtless meaning "no good" or "good book."

Politicians are here, witness, "Vote for Woodrow Wilson, the only man who can meet the situation." This lends an air of mystery to a history text; "See what small details have caused the death of R. A. M." In a psychology, "Wooden legs are not inherited; wooden heads are," a later hand changed it to "Wooden legs are acquired, wooden heads are inherited." But someone outdid the others when he or she wrote the following verse in a history.

"A flaming sphere is seen And makes the eastern sky to glow, but soon Hearing the Heaven's eternal call to its Queen It climbs—this flaming sphere—the moon."
