HARDING WILL ASK RAILROADS TO CUT RATES

President Will Appeal to Executives to "Go the Limit" in Co-Operating With Commission.

CONFERENCE IS MAY 20 Large Reduction Cannot Be Ordered Without Support of Railway Officials.

By United Press. ANSECON, N. J., May 13.—President Harding in his forthcoming conference with railroad executives at Washington May 20 will appeal to them to "go the limit" and co-operate with the Interstate Commerce Commission in bringing about a lower level of railroad rates, it was learned from close friends of the Executive here today.

The president is known to believe that the complete financial and economic adjustment of the country hinges in a large degree upon an early reduction of rates. The commission apparently has reached the conclusion that it cannot order as large a reduction as the country expects unless it receives the voluntary co-operation and support of the railway executives.

MISS STEPHENS WINS HONORS

Christian College Student From Arkansas to Be Valedictorian.

Miss Dorothy Stephens, of Newport, Ark., will be valedictorian for the class of '22 at Christian College. Miss Stephens led the college department in scholarship last year, thereby holding the highest standing in Phi Theta Kappa, honor society.

A dinner in the valedictorian's honor was given Thursday evening in the college dining room by Mrs. Marion W. Hertig, sponsor of the Arkansas Club. Last year a similar celebration was given in honor of Miss Stephens, so that "Arkansians Must Lead" has been the slogan of the club ever since.

GASOLINE WILL RISE IN PRICE

Oil Men Combine to Increase Cost to 30 Cents, U. S. Officials Say.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Further increases in gasoline prices will be made effective soon in all parts of the country, it was learned at the Interior Department today.

These increases may total 4 or 5 cents a gallon by the middle of June, it was stated. This is in addition to increases during the past six weeks ranging from 4 to 6 cents on the gallon.

Practically every oil concern of importance is pledged to increase prices during the summer and fall months, it was understood here. "Gentlemen's agreements" are said to exist to raise the price to 30 cents a gallon during the next six weeks.

Attorney-General Daugherty has promised thorough investigation of the matter. Gasoline has increased from 21 1/2 to 25 cents a gallon in Columbia since April 12. Managers of filling stations say they believe the present price of 25 cents is the high point and that there will be no further increases in the near future.

TREE LOSES TO BILLBOARD

Old Residents Recall Playing Under Century-Old Veteran.

A large mock-orange tree at the corner of Locust and Ninth streets was cut down to make way for the erection of a billboard.

The rings on the trees showed it to be nearly 100 years old. Several old residents of Columbia who were present when the tree was cut recalled playing under its branches in childhood.

The tree is said to have overshadowed neighboring trees fifty years ago even. CLINIC CASES ARE ANALYZED Thirty-Nine Children Were Examined at Hospital Yesterday.

The children's clinic held at Boone County Hospital yesterday afternoon became so interesting that Dr. Wayne Rupe, child specialist of St. Louis, continued examinations until 6 o'clock, in order to discuss and analyze the causes of each case thoroughly.

About ten Boone County doctors had patients to be examined. Every one of the thirty-nine cases that were registered were discussed and inspected by Doctor Rupe.

The clinic was interesting medically as it showed the need for a children's clinic here, and the large field for clinical purposes was brought out by yesterday's response.

"Several cases were looked upon as incurable," said Dr. G. L. Noyes, chairman of the Hospital Day Committee, "but it is hoped that in most of the other cases the parents of the children will go ahead with the proper treatment, as the facilities for curing the children are all here for their benefit."

This is the second annual Hospital Day held in Columbia but is the first clinic ever arranged; last year's program being an open house and reception. Doctor Rupe was still here this morning in conference with authorities at Boone County Hospital in an effort to compile and formulate the data in yesterday's examinations. He intended to leave Columbia this afternoon.

He made one jump of 277 miles from Raton, N. M., to Garden City, Kan. This was made possible by the good roads in that section, which he said resembled city boulevards.

MISSOURIAN TO STAGE CONTEST Prizes Offered to Boone County Pupils for Essays on Local Problems.

Are the children of Boone County schools alive to the problems of the communities in which they live? Do they have ideas as to how their communities might be made better places in which to live? The Missourian wants to find out; and it is going to give first, second and third prizes for the best essays of 500 words each about these problems.

The title of the essay is to be "Something That My Community Needs." This does not mean for the contestants to be a knocker and merely tell what is the trouble with his community without offering a remedy. He should look around him and pick out something which, in his opinion, would supply a real want of the people among whom he lives.

Is there a certain bridge badly needed in your district? Is there no suitable place for public gatherings? Is your town as beautiful as it might be? Find something which you can suggest as an improvement.

A committee of three will judge the contest: C. E. Northcutt, superintendent of county schools; J. W. Rankin, professor of English in the University; and E. L. Morgan, professor of rural sociology in the University. The papers will be judged half from the standpoint of their English and half for the ideas contained in them.

The first prize will be $5, the second $3 and the third $1. The contest will be open to any boy or girl who has attended any school in Boone County outside of Columbia during the last year. It will close June 1 although papers mailed on that date will be accepted. The papers must be written legibly in ink. Address: The Evening Missourian, Columbia, Mo.

The prize-winning essays will be printed in the Missourian in June. The Missourian hopes to receive an essay from each school boy and girl in Boone County, and it regrets that it cannot print all of them.

Backyard of a Circus Is Little Different From Any Other One

There is more than one way to see a circus, (leaving out the little boy who crawls under the tent). One unusual way is to see it as the person does who is fortunate enough to get back of the tinsel and glitter of the sawdust ring.

The backyard of a circus is not so different from any other backyard, at least on first appearance. The first thing attracting attention was the familiar clothes line. "Everyday is wash day in the circus," according to Charles Barry the equestrian director. The clothes were not the kind that are usually seen on the line, for in the wind swung pink tights, white riding breeches, red shirts, yellow stockings, and a gorgeous coat that must have belonged to the clown.

A huge cage of about twenty monkeys might have passed for a pet animal house, while the cooing pigeons gave an air of domesticity to the place. It was wash day in more senses than one. A clown was preparing for the afternoon performance by shampooing his hair in an old tin pail balanced on the tongue of the lions' cage.

Back in the private tent the kings and queens of circuses were beginning to appear in flounces and spangles. There were tight-rope walkers, bareback riders and trapeze performers. Here was Miss Julia Rogers, prima donna of circuses, in regalia of multi-colored, iridescent and flowing robes and crowned with a headdress of magnificent purple plumage.

Beside Miss Rogers, on a costume box, perched a dainty little lady, who looked as if she might have slipped away while some careless nurse was watching the animals. She was Mrs. Harriet Guilfoyle, who took the part of "Wendy" in the opening spectacle of the circus. Her husband, John Guilfoyle, the lion trainer, in speaking of his work, said that kindness was the greatest thing in training animals. They respond to it quickly and there are few beasts, even those brought from the jungles, that do not grow affectionate.

The other men and women who took part in many of the acts were busily engaged in systematically arranging the various outfits into which they would have to slip when the fun began.

The Morales troupe appeared just before time for the show in the big tent. Felix Morales, head of this troupe, which comes from Mexico, said that the risk of walking the tight rope was no greater than that of staying in revolutionary Mexico.

Services for Mothers' Day Exercises in Churches and Wearing of Flowers to Mark Occasion.

Since the inauguration of Mothers' Day in 1908 it has been customary to wear a white carnation on that day in honor of one's mother. Florists have found it impossible to supply the demand for Mothers' Day carnations for the last few years and custom has made the wearing of any flower a tribute to mothers.

Many Columbia churches will hold appropriate services recognizing Mothers' Day. Mother's Day will be observed at Christian College by young women who attend the Christian Church Sunday school class. A program under the auspices of the college Y. W. C. A. will be given at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning in Dorsey Memorial Chapel.

Virginia Clark, the retiring president of the Y. W. C. A., will be the leader. She will give a short talk on the origin and purpose of Mother's Day, after which the following numbers will be given: Song, "Loving Savior, Lead Thou Me"—Class. Scripture Reading, "Story of Hannah"—Sarah Abbott. Song, "Mother O' Mine"—Mrs. Anna Froman.

Prayer—Lillian Applegate. Tributes to Mother—Pearl Burgess, Dorothy Hart, Marie Patree. Song, "Mother"—Iona Belle Lynn. Toast, "Mother and Daughter"—Elsa Wade. Reading, "Who Mother Is"—Margaret Brown. Song, "I Need Thee Every Hour"—Class. Mizpah Benediction.

The E. W. Stephens Bible Class of the First Baptist Church will have a special Mothers' Day program tomorrow morning at 9:30. A Mothers' Day program in charge of ninety high school girls will be given in Sunday school tomorrow morning at the Broadway Methodist Church. There will be selections by the male quartet and special decorations suitable to the occasion. The new officers of the University men's and University women's classes are to be installed.

The Rev. S. R. Braden will preach both morning and evening on subjects connected with the observance of Mother's Day. The Epworth League will be held by Miss Helen Bowman. The topic will be "What the League Can Do for the Church."

Other Mothers' Day exercises will be held at various churches, as announced in the church notices in today's Missourian.

By United Press. CHICAGO, May 13.—Police turned the tables in the war with gunmen early today when two bandits were shot and killed. Both men were identified by victims who had been robbed.

SHERIFF STOPS WABASH TRAIN

Suspects in Rochepot Bank Robbery Released After Investigation.

All Columbia trains are being closely watched for men who resemble in any way the description of the Rochepot bank robbers. The 7:20 o'clock Wabash was stopped at More's Station last night by Sheriff Fred Brown and Policeman W. R. Miller. Two men were taken into custody.

When the train was first stopped, the two, who were bumming their way, began to run. The sheriff and policeman fired several shots before the men halted. They were brought to Columbia and questioned but satisfied the sheriff and officers today were not wanted.

No word has been received in Columbia concerning the success of the bloodhounds in locating a trail in Centralia. Shortly after Deputy Sheriff George Groatjan of Randolph County, left Columbia for Centralia with the bloodhounds, a call came from Montgomery City, Mo., asking that the dogs be sent there in connection with another case.

Sheriff Brown and the Columbia police department have been assured of the support of the police forces in St. Louis and Kansas City.
