CONCERNING THE SERENADE

To a majority of persons the word "serenade" brings the picture of a troubadour with his lute, singing in the moonlight beneath the flower framed window of his lady while she sleeps shyly out, and tosses to the singer a rose.

Last night about 11 o'clock, passersby on Conley avenue were attracted by a crowd at a popular student gathering place. A male quartet was "harmonizing" in the doorway, discordant wails indicated that the saxophone and clarinet were preparing for action, and a number of cars were parked at the curb. In a few minutes a long parade straggled across town.

A line of cars, a crowd of men, a quartet and a super-jazz orchestra; groups of girls huddled in windows or on upstairs porches, clapping furiously (unless forbidden by the house rules), occasionally shouting or squealing with delight; and now and then, tossing down candy or food—the picture has been slightly modified.

But the thrills are present. What matter if the neighbors do stuff pillows in their ears, and softly curse the thoughtlessness of modern youth? The quartet is going fine, the saxophone moans and the clarinet trickles up and down the scale. The banjo sets the pace, and the accompanying crowd shuffles nervous feet. The girls feel highly honored and equally elated.

We must have the serenade!

The hostesses for Ladies' Day at the Country Club tomorrow are Mrs. N. T. Gentry, Mrs. Earl Estes, Mrs. Leslie Green and Mrs. Lloyd Jones.

Florence Meisner and Helen Wortman spent Sunday in Jefferson City as the guests of Miss Serelda Zoff, who was graduated from the School of Law in 1922.

Mary Powers and Mary Underwood will be dinner guests at the Phi Mu house this evening.

MACK F. DENMAN MARRIED THURSDAY

Mack F. Denman of Farmington and Miss May Ora of Bismark were married in St. Louis Thursday noon.

Mr. Denman was a student in the School of Journalism last year, and a member of the Dana Press Club. After leaving school, Mr. Denman became part owner and editor of the "Bunceton Weekly Eagle" at Bunceton.

Miss Ora is the daughter of Mrs. Lucy Sioane of Bismark and for the past year she has been in charge of the hospital of a Methodist orphanage at Britton, Okla.

The couple will be in Bunceton about September 20, and will stay temporarily at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bray.
