Culver Items.

Stover & Waincott, are running a Binder as the Stover-Waincott Binder Company.
W. S. Ray and Family, visited at Jas. McGlues Saturday evening.
Wm. L. Harper, near Ballard, has our sympathy in the loss of his mother, which occurred very suddenly one night last week. She was buried in Cooper County, by the side of her husband the late Dr. Harper.
Alfonzo Ray, did not go to Ulrich with his brothers, as he was cutting oats for Mr. Brotmen.
Givens, too is cutting hedge which looks much better.
J. R. Ray has been doing some road work, and much more is needed in the district, as all our roads are in bad repair.
Hayden Ray and wife, Andy and Laurie Ray, visited Price Ray and family at Ulrich Saturday, returning home Sunday. To be sure Andy and Laurie, returned the nearest way.
C. J. Greer sent a load of chickens to Montrose on Saturday while he went to Montrose on business.
S. B. McFarland and family spent a night with us going on to Butler to visit parents and relatives there.
Jim Cole the solid man of Kansas Ave., was on our marble yard a few evenings ago.
Some have cut flax, and all hands will cut this week if it keeps dry.
Mr. Fred Bush and family went home Saturday accompanied by the Misses Elliott, sisters of Mrs. Bush.
Frank Billings, writes his friend Charlie Greer that he has the Agency at Lowery Station on the M. K. & T. in Henry County, good for Frank.
Miss Pauline Decker, of Eldorado, after visiting relatives and friends here several days, has returned to her home, accompanied by her brother Carl.
Mrs. Fannie Hayden, sister-in-law of Mrs. Fielden Ray, is visiting relatives in and near Culver this week.
J. A. Lentz of Adrian was visiting the home folks Sunday.
D. P. Gingrich gave us a pleasant call Sunday.
Tom Mabrey is cutting flax in the neighborhood this week.
J. N. Hendrix, is slaying his oats.

for his magnanimous spirit in opening up his store.
Yes, Mr. Editor, you are right in your article on secret organizations in politics. We have experienced and know too well about such side shows. If the people can't come out openly and boldly and fight their battles for silver or any other issue that present itself without secret organization, it deserves to be relegated to the rear in politics. We hope the people of this county, when such fellows come around as those secret organizers, will send them on and treat them as a class of tramps without any visible means of support and not worthy of notice by an intelligent and enlightened people. We are all for silver out this way and are not ashamed of our position and don't need any secret order in our business of politics.
We noticed in the committee proceedings on the 4th that five committeemen wished to go on record against a silver convention and that Summit's representative was among that number. Such action as this is the trouble and what is making necessary the great agitation of certain question on the political parties to day. We have been misrepresented by a sufficient number of men selected to legislate for us, and by such good laws have been repealed and vicious ones enacted in their stead and not until the peoples representatives learn to work and vote for the interest of those they represent, will the necessity of such agitation cease.
If every district and state could have such representatives in congress as Judge DeArmond this country would be redeemed and on the highway to prosperity again if by representing the will of the people by their representatives in congress would place us there.
Every representative, knowing the will of his constituents, should carry out so much as in his power lies that duty and whenever a man fails in that duty he is not a fit person to represent any section or locality in the body politic or otherwise.
We feel proud of our congressional representative and could not safely risk the chance of a change, so long as we are so ably and honestly represented as now by Judge DeArmond.

Summit Items.

Did we hear some one say the weather is yet very unfavorable for farm work generally?
John Radford is now on the mail route from Johnstown to Butler and carries our mail very promptly.
Oats, not cut, are about 3/4 shattered and those cut are about 1/2 rotten so who are the ones having the advantage.
Flax is yet all right but some pieces or fields are getting green with weeds.
Some corn fields are also getting pretty well sodded with grass &c.
Miss Johnnie Shutt was visiting in Summit last week.
We reached home on the evening of the Fourth from Butler, where we went to hear the Eagle scream and witness one of the grandest celebrations ever our pleasure to see, without any accidents, but had some very high waters to cross.
The only thing we witnessed on that day which we did not approve of was the merchants keeping their doors closed during the storm, until the appointed hour, and the women and children with what shelter they could get under the awnings to take care of themselves as best they could. Mr. Womack deserves credit, for one, ees of the Yates Ice company which has large ice houses here. Kirkman had come down from Kansas City to visit with Maeckel. The two had been together about a week and slept together in Maeckel's shack. When they awoke this morning in a spirit of fun, Kirkman reached out of bed and secured a Winchester shotgun.

"I'll put a bullet in you, George," he said jocularly, at the same time pretending to take aim.
Maeckel grabbed the gun. He thought it was not loaded but it was.
"I'll turn the tables on you Theo," he said, and he squinted his eye on the sights. Then he pulled the trigger and was horrified to hear the gun go off with a stunning report, and see an ugly wound gaping in Kirkman's right temple. The whole charge had torn through his brain. It was fully a minute before Maeckel could realize what he had done, and then as he saw the blood and brains oozing out of his friend's wound and heard his pitiful moans he became frantic with grief and it is thought will lose his mind.
Help was summoned, but nothing could be done and Kirkman died at 2:15 this afternoon. Maeckel was placed under arrest by the town marshal.
A report received late to-night has it that Maeckel in his frenzy of grief had committed suicide.

in wages, averaging 10 per cent within a couple of months. A republican organ correctly says that "nothing like this has ever before been known." It was not known during President Harrison's administration. It was not known during the four years the McKinley law was in force. Wages were not generally advanced soon after that law took effect, nor at any time before it's repeal. Such a thing as a voluntary increase of wages on a large scale was unheard of under the law. Reductions were made in every part of the country, but no advances at all of consequence except a few resulting from strikes.—St. Louis Republic.
Chicago, Ill., July 16.—Wm. H. Harvey, author of "Coin's Financial School," and ex Representative Roswell G. Horr, representing the gold standard, have entered upon what promises to prove a memorable debate on the silver question. These currency champions began their contest at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Illinois Club, under unique conditions, their avowed object being "to reach the truth in the most direct and convincing manner, stripped of all romance or rhetoric; not upon the public platform, where the excitement of the hour might sway judgment, but in the quietness and calm of deliberate discussion.
It is thought the debate will last ten days, beginning at 2 o'clock every day, except Sunday, and lasting two hours and forty minutes, until 140,000 words have been spoken or until one side gives up. One combatant starts with a lead of 1,000 words at his opponent. Three minutes are allowed the man on the defense to rally. Then he is expected to make good his defense and lead the assault with another 1,000 words. After this each debator must answer three questions which may be put by those backing his opponent.

Unkown Tramp Stabbed.
Nevada, Mo., July 11.—A tramp, name unknown, about 30 years of age, and supposed to be formerly of this city was fatally stabbed in the railroad yards here last night by another tramp. The latter made his escape. The wounded man was taken to the calaboose, where his wounds were dressed. He died a few hours later. His murderer is described as slimly built, wearing a dark coat and pants, black shirt with white stripes, and a light hat with band. He is thought to have gone toward Kansas City.
