

Takes both to make Good Wheat

POTASH

BONE FERTILIZER 100 lbs

Good clover follows good wheat, but it takes Potash to set the clover.

Starved clover won't feed the crop that follows it. It needs a vigorous root and a sturdy growth for itself before it can gather nitrogen for you. Give it a good start by enough Potash with your phosphates in the Fall's seeding of wheat or rye. The clover will do the rest—you'll see when you cut the clover. Clover, timothy, rye and oats, for turning under, or a crop in rotation—all need more Potash than most commercial mixtures afford. We can prove by hundreds of practical field demonstrations, what a 5 per cent. Potash application will do—15 pounds per hundred of fertilizer. Potash is profit. Buy the Potash first.

A. J. Sunderwirth and wife and brother, J. W. Sunderwirth of Taberville are back from their trip to Oklahoma. They report seeing some fine country. We have personally seen some of this country and can attest to its fineness. We have been in a few dust storms where this fine country blew through every crack and crevice and even into the vaults of the banks. But they went for a good time as well as to see the fine country and they say they had it—Rockville Booster.

The smoke of the primary election has cleared away, and from now until the closing of the polls on November 3 those believing in Democratic principles should stand together, shoulder to shoulder, for the nominees. The interest of the Democratic party and the welfare of the State and nation stand above all individual or factional consideration. Men may come and go, but like the brook in Tennyson's song, the glorious principles of the Democratic party go on forever. On these principles rest the true greatness of the Republic and its security. We may be mistaken as to men, but we cannot be mistaken in adhering to those things that have stood the test of history and given proof of their righteousness under the most trying circumstances and in the greatest of crises. From now until November the Democratic party must not indulge in useless strife. As far as the State and county tickets are concerned, the choice of rival candidates has been made. It was by the voice of the people. The man who does not accept that decision good-naturedly should not have committed himself to the promise that is implied in participation in the primaries, to support the nominee.—Brookfield Argus.

Ah Sin's System.

The Heathen Chinese explained his sleeve equipment.
"I am keeping a card index," he said simply.
Herewith politicians sat up and took notice.

At a recent meeting of the American Apple Growers' Association it was predicted that apples this year will sell at $2.50 and $3 a barrel on the trees and before the season end they will be selling at from $6 to $10 per barrel. In view of the predicted fancy price for apples it is small wonder that the Republican party does not claim the credit for the conditions that force the price of this ordinarily common fruit up to $18 a barrel. The Lord knows there are few things that the Republicans do not claim in the fashion of anything that looks prosperous. They claim everything but what they are entitled to—but the panic of 1907 is a tabooed subject among them.

Before a primary or any other method of selecting candidates will be satisfactory, it is necessary to get rid of men who sell their votes. In one precinct in this county at the late election a gentleman who had a favorite in the race was approached by a party, who said, "See the twenty-three men standing over there?" The gentlemen looked and sure enough there were in sight some Democrats and some Republicans. The man owning the gang said, "I will give you the twenty-three for a dollar each." The gentleman told him to go to—well, he didn't buy; said he was not doing business that way. And it is said that no one bought these votes and they did not vote for anyone. And this out here in Pike county—away from the big cities. Talk about disfranchising ignorant negroes. A man who sells his vote should be disfranchised for life, let him be white or black—Bowling Green Times.

Missouri State Fair, Sedalia, October 3-9.

No State Fair in the country has so many fine fire proof buildings nor buildings better adapted to the purposes than has our State. The State Fair is only seven years old, yet it is considered on a par with the State Fairs in other states which have been growing better each year for the last twenty to forty years. The Missouri breeders of all kinds of Live Stock are in place at the Missouri State Fair. There you will find not only the best herds from all parts of the United States, the best Farm and Horticultural Products, the best work in Art, Textile and Home Economics. It is a great display, showing the progress that is constantly going on in the Empire State of Missouri. Every county in Missouri should be represented by excellent exhibits at the Missouri State Fair.

Advice to Negroes.
Centralla Guard: The Sedalia Advocate, a negro newspaper, in an editorial comment on the Springfield, Ill., riots, says: "We highly indorse the advice given by Dr. Roberts of the Chicago A. M. E. church and several other leading ministers, in saying the negro should supply himself with a good gun, a rifle—to protect his homestead against such outlaws, and it may not be a bad thing if the colored people of Sedalia would take this advice and prepare for the coming crash that will soon reach Sedalia. We must protect ourselves, if we die in the attempt."

It is such hot heads as this negro editor who are going to bring on a clash between the whites and blacks that will settle this negro question forever. The authorities of Springfield and the state of Illinois did all in their power to stop the rioting and did quell the disturbance in a very short time with an armed force. What more could the negro ask than that all the power of the state be brought out to protect him from the fury aroused by the lawlessness of his own race? The condition at the city of Springfield was purely local and the decent negroes of this or any other state are perfectly safe as long as they refrain from such lawlessness as arming themselves for trouble with the white race.

Incorrigible.
From Harper's Weekly.

"Doesn't your friend play cards?" asked the traveler in Nevada, as with a couple of others on the smoking car he began a little game of poker.

"Not out here," was the response. "Bill is traveling for his health, and play'n' cards in these here altitudes don't agree with him."

The traveler laughed. "Why," he asked, "is card playing less healthy in one climate than in another?"

"Wa-al," drawled the other, "it would be for Bill. Bill has habits that is sewed on to him so tight he'll never be able to shake 'em off, and his game ain't safe this side o' Chicago."

The traveler expressed surprise, and evinced some curiosity to know just what habits Bill had that prevented his participation in a friendly game.

"As to that," said his friend, "I ain't got nothin' to say, but I'll bet ye $4 to a dime that when the Angel Gabriel has played his last trump ye'll find that Bill over there has got another up his sleeve."

And the traveler understood.

Minister Against Taft.
Macon, Mo., Sept.—"I talked with a number of ministers and laymen attending the Missouri conference which has just closed at Hannibal, and they expressed themselves as decidedly opposed to a President who is a non-believer in the divinity of Jesus Christ," remarked Harry Turner, a newspaper correspondent of Mexico, who is visiting relatives here. "Some of the parties were Prohibitionists and one or two were Republicans. While they are not making any aggressive warfare on Mr. Taft because of his religion, yet they are earnest in their belief that a Christian cannot consistently support a man holding to his 'religious' views, and they think that the feeling will be found to be general throughout the country."

Stone Fence Posts in Kansas.
Any good prospectus on the advantages of Central Kansas would have to include a chapter on some stone fence Posts. The virtue of solidity and durability are not all these posts have. They have an enhanced value because they are dug up in a land where timber is scarce.

These Kansas fences are not the stone fences of "back East," but arbarb wire stretched between posts of limestone. This stone is so soft when it is first exposed to the air that it may be bored with an ordinary auger, or, in some cases, sawed with a cross-cut saw. After the auger holes are made wedges split the rock into pieces seven feet or more long. A few days after being exposed to the air the fence posts harden and are ready to be placed.

JESSE JAMES' CABIN BURNED.
Noted Outlaw Once Captured
Bandit in Woods in Oklahoma.

Denton, Tex., Sept.—What was known as the Old Decey Cabin in Oklahoma was burned. Jesse James was a resident of this cabin in the early seventies. It was off the public road in a dense wood. A story is told of Jesse James, who, in 1873, was in Denton.

The sheriff wanted help to go to the territory to capture an outlaw who was alert and never asked an explanation, but on the least suspicion would "make a gun play." James said that he would join the party.

When the sheriff arrived at the house where it was known the outlaw was, James remarked: "You remain here, I will go forward and get the man."

There was a light in the cabin, and, looking through the chinks, he saw the desperado seated before the fire. James broke into the cabin, and before the outlaw could go for his gun, James had him "covered." The outlaw was marched out and turned over to the sheriff, who remarked:

"Who is that fellow? He is the biggest fool I ever saw to take such a chance against a man who was never before caught napping."

It is said that Jesse James passed several weeks in the cabin that was burned. John Maupin, one of Quantrell's trusted leaders, verified the presence of Jesse, as he was a frequent visitor to his home at Colbert, just across the river from Denton.

The Cost of Government.
Florida Times-Union.

Does it follow that the cost of government should increase as we climb upward? Once we boasted that our freedom had lifted the royal prodigalities from the shoulders of our people; shall we accept without a protest the proof now afforded that we have the costliest system of government in the world? Is it proof of the wisdom and honesty of Republicanism that it taxes heavier and keeps less in the Treasury than ever was known before? Is it proof of our readiness for war that we spend more in peace than the greatest of wars once demanded? Is it proof of consummate statesmanship that Republicanism has only succeeded in giving us the worst financial system known to civilization?

The aggregate of all appropriations made by Congress this year is $1,008,804,894, which is $88,000,000 more than we spent last year, notwithstanding the fact that the river and harbor appropriation was cut out for this year despite our need. The army and navy now cost us each about $100,000,000 annually. Expenditures during the four Roosevelt years, according to Representative Fitzgerald, foot up $3,428,000,000, while for the Civil War from 1862 to 1865 we spent only $3,394,000,000. To-day in peace we spend more than we spent to save the nation during the most destructive war of modern times. Is there nothing in this thought to bid us pause and think? What are we getting in return?

Millions have been spent in a war with the trusts; what trusts has been slain in that war? Is it a wise captain that makes war without reënt on the enemy? Can we afford to spend $1,000,000,000 a year and declare a deficiency annually? Are we not living now in profligacy and extravagance? When additional taxes are imposed to pay for this waste what will the people say? We are not paying off our national debt—we are not paying our creditors and we are declaring deficits habitually—what sort of property is this?

Neither should we forget that we are increasing the burden. The new plans for the army and navy contemplate greatly increased expenditures. The proposals for drainage, for irrigation and for forestry reserves call for more money continually.

Every Democrat ought to attend every Democratic meeting within his reach. There are many important questions which have never been discussed before and voters should familiarize themselves with the issues. Senator Stone gave good advice when he said, "Read the party platforms." Democracy comes out unmistakably for needed reforms, and the platform is plain. Hear the questions discussed, study the issues, compare the principles for which the two great parties stand and vote to give the government back to the people.—Johnson County Democrat.

The Candidate.
Albion Journal

Behold the candidate! He cometh up like a flower and refreshment from the race busted. His friends fill him with false hopes and atmosphere. He swelleth like a toad and calleth the earth his'n. He smilleth upon mankind and sloppeth over with good humor. He kisses the children and scatters the microbes among the innocent babies. He privately cheweth a clove when he meeteth a preacher, and as he converseth with him in pious tones, he standeth to leeward and curbeth his breath with a strong bite. He goeth home late at night to his weary wife with a beery breath and blitheth forth without breakfast, saying, "I go to see a man." The dead beat who lieth around in wait then pulleth his leg. He "nalleth a lie," but before election day comes he runneth out of nails. He giveth liberally to the church; he subscribeth a goodly sum to the blind; he contributeth to the man whose house was burned; he bestoweth alms; he signeth a friend's note; he sendeth a small keg hisher and a large keg thither; he yieldeth up his substance with apparent alacrity. After the election he goeth out back of the barn and kicketh himself and teareth his hair and calleth himself a tarantula fool.

To-Day's Best Story.
St. Louis Times.

There has been some technical classes started in connection with the schools, and when the teacher recently called at the home of one of the pupils, the boy's mother expressed her delight at their institution. "Do you know," she remarked, "since Henry took up the plumb line and gasfittin' at them classes it ain't cost us a single penny since for gas?" "Dear me!" replied the much-gratified teacher, "but how is that?" "Why, he went and moved our slot meter from the kitchen to outside the front door," came the explanation. "But don't you have to drop the pennies in just the same?" "Not us," came the proud reply; "other people does that for us. Henry writ 'Chocolate' over the top of it, you see!"

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol relieves indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol for dyspepsia does not only relieve indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy helps all stomach troubles by dissolving, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membrane lining the stomach.

Mr. S. S. Hall, of Kansas City, Mo., writes: "I was troubled with sour stomach for several years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in our family."
