

WILLINGNESS TO OBLIGE

THE public has a right to something more than perfunctory service from those who supply its telephone needs.

There is something more to a telephone service than merely placing at the disposal of the public adequate telephone equipment.

Courtesy, willingness to oblige and patience, under trying conditions on the part of telephone employes, promote friendly feeling and are essential to the best kind of telephone service.

TWO BATTLES IN JUST 2 MINUTES

Contractor Subdues Negro in Bout On the Court House Sidewalk

WOMAN FLOORS FATHER

Knocks Down Sire With Large Rock and Then Husband Pummels Him

Herman Loeffel, the contractor engaged in constructing the concrete walk along the south side of the court house yard, found it necessary, Wednesday morning, to subdue one of his ex-employees, a negro by the name of Wilson Nance who was making himself obnoxious and obstructing the work of the men.

The duty was performed quickly and in a rather vigorous fashion. When Mr. Loeffel had completed the task, the negro was glad to leave, as he had been requested to do before the fight started.

Two minutes after this difficulty ended another one started two blocks further up the street, at the corner of Spanish and Broadway. This was a family row in which Mrs. William Wright started the trouble by striking her father, William Little, with a large rock, knocking him down.

When he had regained his feet, Mr. Wright, the son-in-law, engaged him for a while, and gave the elderly a severe thrashing. Mayor Kage appeared on the scene and separated them after which the interested parties went their different ways. No arrests were made.

TAMALE VENDER'S VEHICLE BURNS

"Hot Dog" Sausages Explode Like Giant Crackers on Good Hope St.

BOY BADLY SCORCHED

Head and Face Burned and Clothing is Damaged—Gasoline Ignited Cart

Roy Dimmons, a tamale vender employed by Edward Mack, encountered some difficulty with a gasoline stove Tuesday evening, resulting in a fire which for a short time threatened to destroy the cart in which he conveyed his edibles around the city.

He occupies a stand at the corner of Good Hope and Frederick Streets, and had just fairly located himself for the evening's work when the trouble began. For some unknown cause the gasoline had leaked out and spread over the entire outfit.

When it ignited the blaze spread rapidly, and the boy was pretty badly burned about the head and face while trying to extinguish the flames. His clothing was also damaged considerably.

Parties witnessing the incident said that the cans were upset and that the scattered tamales caught fire, and exploded with a noise like giant fire-crackers, corn husks were strewn everywhere, and burning wrapping papers were carried by the breeze.

When the wreck was finally cleared up, it was found that the stock was a complete loss, but the fixtures still held together and with some repairs could be put back into service.

FOUR HUNTERS CAUGHT WITH GAME, FINED

Scott County Nimrods On Midsummer Outing Bag Few Squirrels

1 BIG TAME TURKEY COST HUNTER DOLLAR

Woman Identifies Bird and Collects—Judge Willers Fines Each Man $5 and Costs

It is doubtful if the game wardens of Colorado ever encountered more difficulty in guarding against the wanton slaughter of deer and antelope by the invasions of semi-savage Ute Indians from the reservation in the neighboring state of Utah, than do the authorities of this county in protecting its squirrels and turkeys from the midsummer hunter of Scott County.

Early Thursday morning, Prosecuting Attorney, J. Caruthers, received advice over the telephone from Dutchtown that an automobile load of sportsmen were in the neighboring woods shooting squirrels. Owing to the fact that it is illegal to kill squirrels at this season of the year, an investigation was begun.

Deputy Sheriff W. J. Seagraves was advised, and a search was started immediately. The two officers went to Dutchtown in an automobile where they surprised and captured the offenders. There were four of them and all were from Chaffee.

A search of their belongings revealed the fact that they had killed a few squirrels and one big turkey, which at first was supposed to be a wild one. Before the investigation was finished, however, a farm wife appeared on the scene and demanded pay for the fowl, which she claimed had been killed out of her own flock.

Her demands were not contested and the man in possession of the bird seemed glad to pay her a dollar, the price she asked for it.

The men gave their names as James Maynard, Ernest George, H. A. Warnack and James Ring.

They were brought to the Cape and taken before Judge W. H. Willer where they entered a plea of guilty to the charge of violating the game laws. They were fined $5 each and costs, making a total penalty of 15.50 each.

Ernest George, the man who was fortunate enough to get out of the further and more serious offense of shooting a wild turkey, was captured about a year ago at the same place, and convicted by the same judge on the same plea.

After making satisfactory settlement with the court, the young men departed for Chaffee, taking their expensive bag with them.

The advice leading to their capture is said to have been communicated to the prosecuting attorney by a farmer named Firehorn.

WOMAN ROBBED AT HOTEL.

Says Man Took Her Purse, But Police Make No Arrests.

Considerable excitement was created Thursday at about noon when a woman guest at the Terminal Hotel sought the proprietor, Mr. George Harris, and insisted that she had been robbed of her pocket book containing about ten dollars.

The woman and a companion had appeared at the hotel at about four o'clock in the morning when they secured a room and registered.

No further attention was paid them until the robbery outcry, when it developed that the male partner had abandoned his mate and boarded the train going south. She sought policeman Charles Stone and endeavored to have him arrest the departing spouse in order that he might be made to disgorge the money she claimed had been stolen from her.

The officer did not seem to put much faith in her story, and refused to make the arrest on the ground that he had no warrant. Nothing further was done towards detaining the fugitive and he was permitted to go away unmolested.

R. P. Taylor of near Jackson spent Friday night with his son, Artie Taylor, on Whitener street, and went on to Illinois Saturday to visit his son O. O. Taylor.

MO. SOLDIERS MAY CAMP IN HOUCK WOODS

Encampment Almost Assured for Cape Girardeau, says St. Louis Message

COL. DONNELLY TO BE IN CITY NEXT WEEK

Governor Major Will Inspect State Troops During Week of Maneuvering

That the annual encampment of the Missouri National Guard is almost assured for Cape Girardeau, was the report received by the Tribune from St. Louis last night.

Col. A. B. Donnelly of Company A, located in St. Louis, announced that he would visit Cape Girardeau next week to arrange for the details of the bivouac.

Col. Donnelly probably will select the woodland tract on South Sprigg street, known as the Houck woods. While this tract would make drilling rather inconvenient, it would make an ideal spot for the encampment.

According to the message to the Tribune from St. Louis, Gov. Major will spend one or two days here reviewing his soldiers on the field. The encampment will be held about the middle of next month, according to present plans, and Gov. Major will visit Cape Girardeau a few days after the arrival of the soldiers.

The Governor will be the guest of one of his many friends in the Cape, and will motor out to the camping grounds, where the men will maneuver for his especial benefit.

There will be more than 700 guardsmen attending the encampment. And it is believed that this year's meeting will insure a return engagement next summer. If the men are satisfied with the grounds, whether the Houck woods are chosen for the meeting place or not, it is said, Col. Donnelly will recommend that the encampment be held at the Cape next season.

That this bivouac will be held on the outskirts of a river town hereafter is almost assured, according to members of the National Guard living in Cape Girardeau.

The National Guard officials and the railroads are at war just at present over the rate made by the railroads to transport the soldiers to the scene of their summer promenade.

The railroads made a rate of three cents a mile, which was contested by the Adjutant General O'Meara, and the other officers of the organization. The war department, of which the National Guards are a part, instructed O'Meara to use his judgment in the matter, but suggested that efforts be made to find a city on the Mississippi river suitable for holding the encampment. If Cape Girardeau gets the meeting, the National Guard officers will win their fight with the railroads.

The soldiers will come to St. Louis on one of the steamboats which ply between this city and St. Louis.

BRIDGES COMPANY READY

Capt. W. Bridges in an interview with a representative of The Tribune Thursday afternoon, stated that the organization of the military company at which he has been so diligently working, is about complete and ready to be authorized by the Adjutant General of the State of Missouri.

He further stated that the National Guard expected to be given a trip to Frisco, at about the time of the opening of the exposition, and that this fact has served to encourage a great many of the young men to enlist with him.

METEOR PASSES OVER CAPE.

Great Ball of Fire Gives Early Pedestrians a Treat.

A meteor passed over the southern end of Cape Girardeau, illuminating the heavens shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. It appeared from the South and moved in a northerly direction.

It traveled at a remarkably slow rate of speed, leaving in its wake a coloration similar to the rainbow. The phenomenon was visible for several minutes before it vanished in the southeast.

The approach of the meteor was like a great ball of fire, but its brightness seemed to pale as it drew nearer to the city. The original color that composed its tail seemed to absorb the orbit as it vanished.

MACHINE THAT WILL DIG CANAL NOW READY

When the water has been turned into the canal, fishermen say, it will become the angler's paradise. According to George Patton and M. A. Dempsey, two of Cape's most scientific fishermen, the "Diversion Channel" will not only become a refuge for the big fish that inhabit the Mississippi river, but it will afford a permanent waterway to the streams that team with fish in the lower part of the state.

When the canal is finished, it is said, a motor boat from Cape Girardeau could enter the big ditch from the Mississippi river, pass through the canal, and with small inconvenience, could connect with small streams running into the swamp land. From these miniature rivers the motor boat could be transferred to the drainage ditches leading to the rivers where the game fish abound.

But the anglers may find some handicaps to overcome before they make their maiden trip. Chief Engineer O'Brien believes the canal will be closed to motor boats and other river craft. If the channel were left open to boats, Mr. O'Brien and other officials of drainage company fear there would be a constant danger of damage to the canal.

HEARING IN BANKRUPTCY.

W. H. Stubblefield, Jr. is Made Trustee of Big Estate.

At a meeting of the Creditors of the Bankrupt Estate of D. A. Glenn, held Thursday afternoon before Referee Alexander Ross, in the Common Pleas Court room, it was shown by schedules of the bankrupt that the assets of the estate amount to about $30,000 and that the liabilities, including individual debts of about $75,000, and as endorser on other debts, an aggregate of $185,000, total $260,000.

The assets consist of real estate and equities in real estate in this city. In requesting his legal exemptions, Mr. Glenn expressed a desire that the property at the corner of Frederick and Merriweather streets be reserved to him and that he be allowed to retain the $400, in personal property to which, under the law, he is entitled.

The firm of Oliver & Oliver represented eighteen of the largest creditors whose claims aggregate $170,000. The firm of Davis & Hardesty represented claims totaling $52,000.

Other creditors present were: Geo. T. Lee, Bank of Van Buren, J. K. Russell, Bank of Longtown; Wm. Parr, Peoples Bank of Jackson; A. M. Spradling, Bank of Gordonville; Henry Rozier, Bank of Ste. Genevieve and Judge Tucker of Bloomfield representing the Bank of Puxico.

W. H. Stubblefield, Jr., President of the Sturdivant Bank in this city, was appointed Trustee of the estate.

Ben Vinyard was nominated by Davis & Hardesty but was not successful in securing the appointment.

There will be another meeting of creditors in about two weeks at which time the claims will be allowed.

RIVER AT HIGHEST POINT

The Mississippi reached a higher stage this morning than any time this year, the gauge registering 21.8 feet at 8 o'clock yesterday. Early last week the great stream started rising and about a foot of water a day has been added since. It was then reported that it would rise about five feet, but it has passed the five foot mark now and will probably raise another foot or so before it starts dropping again. This is the first year for several years that it has not gotten out of its banks and threatened the lower country, which is now fully protected by levees.

WOMAN CUTS OFF THUMB.

Mrs. G. W. Smith Chops Hand When She Struck at Shoe.

Mrs. G. W. Smith whose home is in South Cape, sustained the loss of a thumb Wednesday morning while doing some amateur cobbling work. In attempting to remove a badly worn heel from one of her slippers, she made a misstep with a hatchet, and the thumb on her left hand was completely severed.

A physician was summoned and the necessary surgical attention rendered.

For several hours after the accident happened she suffered intense pain, but finally obtained relief and at last reports was getting along very nicely.

Miss Myres Finley, daughter of R. W. Finley, the Chaffee druggist, is visiting her sister, who is attending the Normal school and also the Lewis Moore family on North Leavenworth.
