JACKSON WOMAN AND SON DIE IN LEBANON WRECK

Mrs. Arch Perry and Paul Killed Enroute to Fayetteville, Arkansas.

HUSBAND LEFT FAMILY FOR TRIP TO IOWA

Former Owner of Gem Theater In County Seat Left Jackson Sunday.

By Miss Hermine Kiehne, Jackson Correspondent for The Tribune.

Jackson, Sept. 16—Mrs. Arch Perry and son, Paul, who left here Sunday for Fayetteville, Ark., were among the twenty-seven killed early Tuesday morning when the Frisco train was washed from the tracks and went into a lake near Lebanon, Mo.

Mr. Perry, who left here with his wife and son owes his life to the fact that he left them when they reached St. Louis. After putting his family on a train for Arkansas, where they were to visit for a few weeks, he then departed for Muscatine, Iowa.

The Perrys were residents of Jackson for three years, during which time Mr. Perry owned and operated the Gem theater. He sold out all of his holdings in this city last week and they departed Sunday morning for St. Louis, at which point they separated, the mother and son starting for Arkansas and Mr. Perry for the northwest.

The tragedy came as a great shock to the many friends of the Perrys in this city. The Cape Girardeau Tribune, which published a list of the dead in the wreck contained the name of "David Perry" and a seven year old boy who wore a ring bearing the initial "P." Friends of this well-known family recognized "David" Perry as being Daisy Perry, the wife of Arch Perry. The "P" in the ring worn by the boy identified the body as that of Paul Perry.

Those who were intimately acquainted with the Perry family, were informed by her that she and her son would go to Arkansas and that Mr. Perry would spend a few weeks in Iowa on business. With this knowledge they easily recognized two of the victims as former residents of Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry and their son moved to this city shortly over three years ago. Immediately after coming to the county seat, Mr. Perry bought the Gem picture show.

During their stay here they made many friends. Both Mr. and Mrs. Perry expressed regret at having to move away from Jackson. It is believed by the friends of the Perrys here that the body of the mother and son will be taken to Arkansas for burial. Mrs. Perry's relatives live near Fayetteville.

The wreck, which caused the death of Mrs. Perry and her son, was due to a washout at a point known as "Goodwin Hollow." The train left the track and plunged into a lake which had been formed by the rush of the water. The coaches were submerged and had the sleeping occupants been crushed by the impact, they probably would have been drowned.

MRS. J. R. DOWD IS DEAD.

Well Known Woman Succumbs At Hospital of Typhoid Fever.

Mrs. J. R. Dowd, who was removed from her home on Giboney avenue yesterday afternoon to St. Francis Hospital, died last evening at about 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Dowd had been ill for several weeks with typhoid fever, and she had reached such a feeble condition that her physician advised her removal to the hospital where conditions were more favorable for successful treatment.

She was well known in this city, where she has lived for many years. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McBride who now reside near the corner of Ellis street and Jefferson avenue in this city.

Of her immediate family, she is survived by her husband, J. R. Dowd, and one child about two years of age.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the remains will be interred at the city cemetery.

$55,000 FIRE IN ILLINOIS.

McLeansboro, Ill., Sept. 11—The most destructive fire that ever visited this city came early today. The new Model Mills, a 150-barrel flour mill; its warehouses, grain and stored flour were destroyed. The loss is $55,000; insurance, $29,000. The Millers' Mutual Insurance company of Alton was the heaviest loser.

RATTLER 5 FEET LONG KILLED IN HEART OF CITY

Reptile With Ten Rattles and One Button Fighth His Pursuers

BLOWN OUT OF BLUFF BY FRISCO BLASTERS

Crawls Up to Old Mill Site and Then Starts Fuss With Men.

Unusual excitement was created yesterday morning on Water street, immediately in front of the Dittlinger coal yards, when a huge diamond back rattle snake was seen to drag its creeping form from beneath some freight cars, and crawled to the center of the street in plain view of the awe stricken spectators.

When the reptile had reached a point a short distance from the sidewalk, it came to a sudden halt, and lifting its head high into the air, surveyed the surroundings with wicked, glittering eyes and darted out its slender forked tongue defiantly.

Edgar Summers, who had just assisted in placing a car on the track from which the snake had emerged, was first to discover it, and called Mr. Dittlinger and a number of the teamsters. Jim Davis, C. S. Freeman and Al Dittlinger all procured stones and started in pursuit of the retreating serpent which had apparently contracted cold feet, and was "beating it" down the roadway.

When the attacking party drew near, the snake stopped instantly and quickly coiled itself in preparation for the assault. With its head thrown back as if in readiness to strike, its rapidly vibrating rattles kept up a constant buzzing, significant of impending danger.

After several wild throws, a well directed missile struck a vital spot, and the five feet of snake uncoiled and expired.

When the victors felt secure in approaching the monster they investigated and found that it possessed ten rattles and a button, an when stretched to full length, measured a fraction more than five feet.

The hide was stripped from the carcass by Mr. Dittlinger, who expects to tan it and convert it into a hat band. He also expressed his intention of rendering the fatty flesh into oil which is prized highly for its medicinal qualities.

It is believed the reptile had either been routed out of the cliffs in the south section of the city by the blasting or had been brought into the city in a freight car.

There is a belief generally prevailing that when a rattler is killed, it will be sought by its mate at the end of the first week, and a close watch will be maintained by Mr. Dittlinger and Mr. Freeman to the end that they may destroy the remaining member of the family in case he makes his appearance.

John Metz is reported to be critically ill at his home on Ellis street, in this city, with slight hope for recovery.

Mr. Metz is said to be suffering with dropsy and has been sick for a long time.

Lester McDonald, the son of Charles McDonald, a prominent farmer living a few miles north of this city, was yesterday adjudged mentally deficient and was this morning taken to Farmington where he will be placed in a sanitarium for treatment.

JILTED, ASKS $335,000.

Billings, Mont., Sept. 11—Charles M. Bair, multimillionaire stockman, banker and Republican leader of Montana, has been made defendant in suits aggregating $335,000 filed by Miss Cora Ensminger, 29 years old, of Billings, the charge being breach of promise.

Miss Ensminger came to Billings in 1907 from Annaconda, where she was secretary of the Sunday school of the First Baptist church. She claims wealthy connections in Philadelphia, her home originally.

When 21 years old, she says, she met Bair, who is 56 years old, and their acquaintance extended through seven years.

HORSE FALLS AND THEN RUNAWAY

Driver Makes Steed Run Up Hill, So It Stops and Takes Rest.

A serious accident was narrowly averted Wednesday afternoon when a horse driven by William Knapp slipped and fell while coming down the steep hill on William street toward the Houck railroad track.

When the animal regained its feet it became frightened at the dangling pieces of broken harness and in spite of the driver's efforts to control him, dashed down the street at a terrific pace.

Mrs. Frank Lawler was also in the buggy. She shouted for the driver to hold the frightened horse, but his attempts were futile. When they reached the corner of L. primer and William streets, he succeeded in turning the animal south, guiding it up the long hill toward Good Hope street.

The exertion had a telling effect, and when almost completely exhausted the animal slowed down and was brought to a stop. After the broken harness had been repaired, the horse seemed to dismiss the runaway incident from its thoughts and jogged along as though nothing unusual had happened.

Mrs. Lawler stated that for a time she thought of leaping from the buggy and later was almost thrown from the conveyance when the horse made the sharp turn on Lorimer street, after which she forgot to jump and adhered as closely as possible to her seat until the excitement was over.

SURETY CONCERNS WILL BUY COTTON

McAdoo Says Companies May Have Reasonable Amount Counted Among Assets.

Washington, Sept. 16—Secretary McAdoo has advised Edwin Warfield of Baltimore that surety companies may buy cotton to relieve the situation in the south and have a reasonable amount counted among their assets. Warfield's company proposes to obey the "buy-a-bale" injunction a thousand times.

The consent of Secretary McAdoo was necessary because the head of the Treasury Department is required to make a quarterly examination of the assets of surety companies that furnish fidelity bonds running to the Government. Warfield consulted with McAdoo and said other surety companies would follow the action of his company.

Comptroller Williams has asked southern bankers as to the amount of money they have loaned to cotton growers, the interest they are paying and how much more money will be needed to move the crop from the field to the warehouse.

Senator Sheppard of Texas has asked the governors of nine cotton-growing states to meet in Washington, at a time to be hereafter agreed upon, to devise methods for curtailing next year's cotton crop.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

In the Cape Girardeau Court of Common Pleas, within and for the county of Cape Girardeau and state of Missouri, November term, 1914, in vacation.

William Young plaintiff, vs. Georgia Young, defendant. Action for divorce.

On the 9th day of September, 1914, comes the plaintiff herein by his attorney, before the clerk of the Cape Girardeau Court of Common Pleas, in vacation, and files his petition and affidavit, alleging among other things that the defendant, Georgia Young, is not a resident of the state of Missouri, and cannot be served with process in this state, whereupon it is ordered by the clerk of said court, that defendant be notified by publication that plaintiff has commenced a suit against her in this court, the object and nature of which is to obtain a decree of divorce from the bonds of matrimony contracted between plaintiff and defendant, on the grounds of indignities and that unless the said defendant, Georgia Young, be and appear at this court at the next term thereof to be begun and holden at the court house in the city of Cape Girardeau in said county on the 23d day of November, 1914, and on or before the third day of the term, if the term shall so long continue, if not, then on or before the last day of said term, answer or plead to the petition in said cause, the same will be taken as confessed and judgment will be rendered accordingly.

And it is further ordered that a copy hereof be published in the Weekly Tribune, a newspaper published in the county of Cape Girardeau, Missouri, for four weeks successively, the last insertion to be at least twenty days before the first day of the next term of this court.

Attest: A true copy. T. J. Juden, Clerk of the Cape Girardeau Court of Common Pleas.
