APPLICATION FOR ENTRY AS SECOND CLASS MATTER AT THE POST OFFICE AT CAPE GIRARDEAU, MO., PENDING.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Willie Bryan probably is glad he didn't happen to be a candidate yesterday.

It used to be said that Democrats always won on clear election days, but that excuse can never be sprung upon an unsuspecting public again.

Suffrage may never be a Missouri reality, but Mrs. Pankhurst probably would have hurled another powderpuff at the king if she could have seen that delegation of Cape Girardeau ladies at the polls yesterday.

TOM JAYHAWK AKINS.

Should Thomas J. Akins be elected United States Senator today, Missouri could boast of a Jeff Davis in the upper branch of Congress.

Akins has not a single qualification for the office. He has never been anything more than a curbstone politician, and as a United States Senator he would be about as conspicuous as a knot hole in a fog.

If he can be elected to the United States Senate, then the people ought to go to the old folks home and get a man for President.

THE NEW COUNTY OFFICIALS.

The election in Cape Girardeau County yesterday did not hold many surprises. The people went to the polls enthusiastically, and there can be no complaint about the result.

There was not a man elected who will not serve the people as best he can, and that is the best any official can do. The only regret about the election is the fact that the several good amendments were defeated.

The issues were confused over the County Unit and suffrage amendments. While no student of politics considered these two questions seriously, they had the effect of defeating several that would probably have passed under other conditions.

It is to be regretted that the "Full Crew" and the good road measures failed. They were worthy and should have been adopted. But the voters displayed sound judgment in defeating the local option amendment. It was conceived by a class of people who imagine they ought to oversee everybody's business, and the expected happened.

But the new officers of Cape Girardeau County are to be congratulated upon their splendid victory, and The Tribune believes they will live up to all the people expect of them.

VOTE FOR THE FULL CREW BILL.

The railroads have made a vigorous and expensive campaign to defeat the "Full Crew" law, and if they are successful, they will surely demonstrate the power of falsehoods and money. They have urged the voters of every county in the state to kill the "Full Crew" bill because it would burden the railroads with a useless expense.

Yet the railroads have spent more in this campaign than it would have cost them to live up to the requirement of the "Full Crew" law for two years. Huge advertisements have been published in the metropolitan newspapers, and county papers in every section of the State have carried paid advertisements published in the form of news for the sole purpose of deceiving the voters.

It has not been the expense of maintaining full crews that caused the railroads to fight this measure. It is simply an organized effort to convince themselves that the railroads can override the legislature and mock the people. The "Full Crew" bill, as we have said before, merely equips trains with sufficient fuel to protect the passengers. The additional cost is insignificant when compared to the lives that this law would save.

Men who vote against this measure simply approve unnecessary accidents that maim and kill and invite the railroads to become more reckless than they have been heretofore. Therefore, vote for the "Full Crew" bill!

A VANISHED PARTY.

The election Tuesday proved that the Progressive party has vanished and that the great masses that made it a tremendous force two years ago have returned to their former faiths. But the death of this organization means more than the mere fact that the men who separated in 1912 have been united; it substantiates the contention that a party conceived in revenge and born a hero worshiper cannot long endure.

Had Theodore Roosevelt been nominated for President in 1912 instead of Mr. Taft, there would have been no Bull Moose party. There can be no doubt that Mr. Roosevelt has been a remarkable man, and the vote he polled as the head of the Progressive party was without parallel, but it has since been proven that the people contended to a hero instead of voting for a party or the policies for which the party stood.

Parties are necessary and their platforms are the life of the parties, and next to these is the candidate. If he sheds a lustre that eclipses his party and makes people forget what that party stands for, then the whole combination becomes a political spasm, which, like the summer shower, sweeps over and is soon forgotten.

Theodore Roosevelt was bigger than his party and the policies it advocated. Therefore, when Mr. Roosevelt ceased to be a candidate, the Progressive party quickly went to pieces. It is doubtful whether the Bull Moose will ever put another ticket in the field. They expected little this year and they got less. It has been no more substantial than the Populist party was, and has proved as feeble as the inane teachings of Bryan in 1896. Free Silver came like the March lion and vanished like the lamb. Theodore Roosevelt thought he was a Goliath, but he has found himself to be only an ex-champion who couldn't "come back." That is why the Progressive party is dead.

THE FOREIGN LEGION AT THE FRONT.

Every once in a while we read in the dispatches from the scene of war that the "foreign legion acquitted itself with credit." That is the most peculiar military organization in the world. It is composed almost entirely of soldiers of fortune, of men who care not what the fighting is about, so long as the fighting is going on.

And it also has in its membership those who "left their country for their country's good"; the outcasts and fugitives of all the nations of the earth. In that organization you will find bankrupt German officers, renegade Americans, discredited Austrians, cashiered Englishmen and South Americans who have been deposed through revolution or otherwise. No questions are asked as to a man's past when he presents himself for enlistment in the Foreign Legion. All that is necessary is that he shall be physically sound.

The Foreign Legion originated with Napoleon. At that time Russia was engaged in the extinguishment of Poland and the Polish exiles enlisted under the banners of France. Seeing in this step the possibilities of an efficient fighting force, Napoleon invited all the down-and-out fighters to enlist, and they did so. In order that the native French soldiers might not feel the humiliation of association with the offshoots of the world, Napoleon made of the Foreign Legion an independent fighting force, no natives being permitted to enlist, although the Legion has always been officered by men from the schools at St. Cyr.

In Africa especially the Legion has made history. In the Franco-German war of 1870-71 the Legion was the only really important French command which stood fast. And in the tremendous fighting which is going on in Belgium today, the Legion is in the front of it, always in the front of it, just where it has ever been.

When it is considered that these men are not fighting for decorations, that they are not fighting for glory, but are engaged, most of them, in a desperate attempt to forget the past, to bury the recollection of "old, unhappy far-off things" that they have nothing to lose, and many of them but little to gain, the achievements of the Legion are accounted for. About all they can hope for now is "to finish in style for the ends of the earth to view," and they are doing that, grandly doing that, every one of them.

NEGLECTING HOME.

(From Woman's Journal.)

No, it isn't home neglecting. If you spend your time selecting seven blouses and a jacket and a hat; Or give your day to playing Needless visits, or to playing Auction bridge. What critic could object to that?

Let to spend two precious hours At a lectural! Oh, my powers! The home is all a woman needs to learn!

And an hour, or a quarter, Spent in Voting! Why, my daughter, The home would not be there on your return!

Mrs. B. R. Hempstead left Wednesday afternoon for Perryville for a visit with her brother, Dr. Russell, of that town.

The State Convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will open their meeting in St. Louis Tuesday, November 5, with a splendid representation of the delegates from the 40 chapters of the states. This, the 17th annual convention, will bring together some of the most notable women of the state, who are being received by the St. Louis chapters with a special program and reception worthy of this noted organization. The ladies of the local chapter, who are now in St. Louis for the convention, are Mrs. L. B. Houck, Mrs. Alma Ealy and Mrs. Louis Houck. Mrs. Louis Houck will figure prominently in the meeting this year, being one of the committee on the revision of the constitution and by-laws of the organization, which is the important business of the present assembly.

The Bridge Club was entertained this week by Mrs. Walter Albert at her home on Themis street. It was a very pleasant meeting, with several guests not regular members of the club present, making another table. Those invited for the afternoon were Mesdames, Charles Harrison, Wm. O'Brien, M. Mathews, George Bell, Iska Carmack, Florence Boone, S. B. Hunter, Harry Leuer, P. E. Leming; Misses Rebecca Houck, Hazel Harrison and Dorothy Bell.

A real old-fashioned jolly apple-peeling was given Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Saupe on South Ellis street. The friends and relatives gathered at the Saupe home about 1:30, and with Mr. Saupe running the peeler, it was not long before there were four big tubs full of apples, all sliced and ready for cooking. A fine supper was served the guests after which they passed the evening in playing games, and enjoying music and singing. It was one of the largest of these affairs held this season, and every one present had a royal time from all reports.

Mrs. M. Mathews of St. Louis, is the guest of Mrs. William O'Brien. Miss Marie Weber will be the hostess of the Bridge Club Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Fisher are receiving the congratulations of their friends upon the arrival of a fine big boy at their home Wednesday morning. Mrs. Fisher is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Kassell.

Mrs. Ed S. Lilly and son, Meredith, returned Thursday afternoon from St. Louis, where they have been enjoying a visit with their son and brother, Joseph Lilly, who is teaching at Kenrick Seminary in St. Louis.

The Ladies of the Lutheran church will give a Bazaar on November 12 and 13 in the Idanha building, corner Broadway and Fountain street.

The Bridge Club had one of its most delightful meetings Thursday afternoon with Miss Marie Weber. There were a number of guests present outside of the club, which proved an additional pleasure during the afternoon. The honors of the game were won by Mrs. R. L. Lamkin, Mrs. Wm. O'Brien and Mrs. Jack Cairns. The ladies present were Mesdames Wm. O'Brien, Wm. Bryan, M. Mathews, J. P. Meyers, R. L. Lamkin, W. S. Albert, Jack Cairns, P. B. Leming, Misses Dorothy Bell, Hazel Harrison, Marguerite Oliver, Marjorie Post, Mary Kochitzky, Mary Wilson, Genevieve Hoch.

The J. O. C. society will have their regular monthly meeting at the Presbyterian church, Friday evening, November 6th, at 7:30.

Mrs. Henry Brune was the hostess at a Kaffe Klatch Thursday afternoon at her home on North Sprigg street. The guests brought their sewing and passed a delightfully busy and enjoyable two hours. Mrs. Brune's guests were Mesdames Henry Hunze, Al Huhn, Lonie Mair, Mollie Masek, Otto Hanney; Misses Mary Schultz, Vera Hanney, Anna Stehr, Clara Hanney, Anita Brune.

The Presbyterian ladies will have a market in the Idanha building, corner of Broadway and Fountain streets, Saturday, November 7th. They will have bread, cakes, pies, jellies, preserves, meats, etc. Come early and get first choice.

Mrs. H. J. Strain entertained her friends at cards Thursday afternoon. The rooms were prettily decorated with roses and chrysanthemums, and a very delightful afternoon of Euchre was enjoyed, the prizes going to Mrs. Arthur Steck, first; Mrs. F. H. Kassell, second, and Mrs. M. E. Hazen, third. Those present were Mesdames Wm. Schraeder, Wm. Stout, Arthur Steck, Ed Schindler, Don Paar, Otto Vogt, F. H. Kassell, Chas. Becker, E. Bohannon, Sherley Harger, Silas Lail, R. M. Cowan, Harry Rogers, Theresa Schindler, M. E. Hazen, Charles Fluhrer.

The Presbyterian ladies will hold a market in the Idanha corner room, Saturday afternoon, November 7th. Lots of good things to eat. Give them a call.

Don't fail to attend the market in the Idanha corner room, Saturday, November 7th, and supply the delicacies for your Sunday dinner. Bread, cakes, pies, jellies, preserves, meats, etc. Come early and get first choice.

The Wednesday club had a very interesting meeting this week at the Normal, with Mrs. E. A. Hayden as the leader of the day.

The subject of the program was, "Eugenics and Ethnics." Mrs. R. E. Oliver and Mrs. R. J. Wright not being able to be present, just two papers were read. Mrs. L. B. Houck gave a splendid talk on "Eugenics and Its Relation to Social Reform." In her paper she spoke of the terrible diseases all over the country and of the great trouble they leave in their wake; and dwelt extensively upon the causes of these conditions, not treating the subject in a personal way, but on a large scale. She particularly brought out the point that persons unfit, should not be permitted to marry, and if such were the laws of the country, much suffering and unhappiness would be done away with.

Another point Mrs. Houck dwelt on was the attention called to the parents of girls of today, whom she remarked, thought more of the financial standing of the husband of their daughters than of their physical conditions.

The next paper was read by Mrs. Walter Cobb, who took as her theme "The Influence of Environment on the Young Child." She said she thought that environment played the greatest part in the development of the child and that while most people said, "Like Father, Like Son," her view was "As Father Lives So Lives His Son."

Another excellent view Mrs. Cobb took on this subject was that children should be planned for, just as one consults an architect on the plans of constructing a house, etc. She said that she thought that everyone should have an adequate, separate knowledge of hygiene, that is knowing how to care for the sick, and this should not be dictated by love but by the best medical thought on the subject.

Mrs. Cobb considered the three prime factors in the rearing of the child, sleep, food, tranquility, and added to these, might be, exercise, bathing and airing. Exercise, she said, particularly after the bath is an essential part of the daily treatment of the young. The parents should control the body and mind of their children. It is not so much by what their ancestors did, or the parents themselves did, but the present home life and influence given the child that makes it what it is. Children cannot have too much mothering says Mrs. Cobb, which is an excellent point well brought out. They should inspire the confidence of their offspring, and in this manner use their good influence to regulate their lives. The parents now days wait upon their children too much; and there seems to be a steady falling off in parental authority. It is not, may I go Mother? but we are going Mother, making all the arrangements, then telling the parents.

One interesting point Mrs. Cobb spoke of was the "Child of Institutions." How the daily routine of such places causes the feeling of difference among the children, from those having the home care and training. She applauded the suggestion of a prominent woman who said that children could receive a more home-like training should they be given in charge of a competent woman, say ten or twelve under each nurse, who would take an interest in each child as though they were her own, and instill in them that respect and mother love, so void in the child of an institution.

Mrs. Cobb then gave several splendid examples, which closed her number on the program.

Both Mrs. Houck's paper and that of Mrs. Cobb, were so well written and interesting, that a motion was made by Mrs. A. H. Hinchey that they be sent to the Reciprocity Club, and the Young Mothers' Club for publication.

The meeting then adjourned, everyone very pleased with the day's work.

The Euchre parties given by the ladies of St. Mary's church are becoming more popular with each affair as was proven Wednesday evening when twenty-three tables were required to accommodate those wishing to play during the evening. The handsome hand painted prizes were won by Miss Emma Donnelly, for the first and lone hand; second, Mrs. E. M. Thilenius; third, Miss Mary Kusse; fourth, Mrs. A. Brinkopf; fifth, Miss Frances Selle; sixth, Miss Annie Hohler; seventh, Mrs. Herman Pape; eighth, William Masek; ninth, Mrs. Strain, and consolation, Pete Lohrun. At the conclusion of the game refreshments were served, after which dancing was enjoyed the remainder of the evening.

The skating rink was a scene of much merriment Friday night when a jolly party of young folks acquired the hall for the evening and not only enjoyed spinning around to their heart's content, but wound up the night with dancing and singing. In the party were Misses Freda and Jannette McClatchey, Essie, Helen and Norma Hines, Mable Williams, Leona Haslinger, Frieda Wiperman, Erna Thilenius, Messrs. Roy Parker, Leon Haman, L. L. Wats, Albert Rieck, Harold Tibbs, Guy Armentrout, Walter Overheide, Clarence Pott, Howard Hines.

Miss Vera Hanney made a very clever evening hostess at her Halloween party Saturday evening, which proved to be one of the jolliest of the day's affairs. The Hanney home was decorated to represent a haunted house, and ghosts, black cats, witches, Jack o' Lanterns, and pumpkins were placed everywhere, giving a very weird effect. The young folks enjoyed the usual Halloween games, after which they were served refreshments, carried out in the same ideas. Those present during the evening were Misses Norma Shivelbine, Bertha Pirkey, Nellie By-slinger, Gertrude Kocher, Hester Fubright, Clara Krueger, Edith Ruch, Grace Vainer, Esther Harness, Archie Campbell, Elmer and Edgar Stehr, Dave Hoch, Gathier Ranney, Oscar Shivelbine, Lois Schultz, Irvin Hanney.

The tea given by Mrs. Otto Kochitzky and Miss Mary Kochitzky in honor of the Kochitzky bridal party Saturday afternoon, was one of the charming social events of the day.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Wade Kochitzky, Misses Roberta Stokes, Laura Kate Davis, Laura Keller and Waltrap. Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Allen Oliver, Misses Rose Leming, Ruth Glenn and Marguerite Oliver. About thirty ladies called during the afternoon to meet the charming bride and her lovely attendants. Miss Marguerite Oliver entertained the bridal party including Benson Hardesty, Russell Dearnout, Gene Ruff, at the Park theater Saturday evening after which they returned to the Oliver home where they continued their pleasures with music and dancing until almost midnight.

Mrs. A. Salzgeber, Stolte, Mack and Harry Fletche will motor to Perryville this morning for a visit with friends.

WILLIE IN PARIS.

All dressed up and no place to go. Gott in Himmel, but Paris is slow! The Opera House all dark and glum! The Folie Bergiere shut tight as a drum! The Cafe Maxim a place to sium, Deadlier far than a Maxim gun!

The Moulin Rouge a cave of gloom. The only thing open, Napoleon's tomb; And me dressed up like a Mannik'in, And no place to go but back to Berlin.

Donnerwetter! but Paris is slow, All dressed up and no place to go. Harper's Weekly.

The ladies of the Centenary Methodist church have far surpassed any entertainment they have ever given by the Mother Goose party, which was held at the residence of Mrs. William Bryan on North Lorimer street, Monday afternoon and evening. The house was a perfect fairyland with its decorations of leaves, pumpkins, Jack o' lanterns, and every little arrangement that would add to the effect of the occasion. A special program was given in the afternoon and evening and was enjoyed by a splendid crowd who had come to participate in the festivities. On the afternoon program Miss Cope and Miss Ida Russell, and Miss Mable Flint, accompanied by Mrs. Will Bergman, rendered several beautiful vocal selections, and in the evening Miss Vera Day, entertained the guests with a violin solo, accompanied by Miss Nora Naeter. Mrs. Thomas Lane's vocal selection was another pleasing number. She was accompanied by Mrs. A. H. Hinchey. Mrs. Dr. I. L. Holt closed the program with a piano solo, which greatly delighted her audience. Refreshments were served after the program and a special time enjoyed. The party was voted one of the most successful they have ever had.

Mrs. Walter Cobb gave her first party Saturday afternoon at her home on West Broadway. It was in the nature of a Halloween affair, and the decorations were yellow and white chrysanthemums with green ferns and palms lending a pretty color scheme. The refreshments were carried out in the same coloring. There were six young folks taking part in the afternoon's program, which was opened by a clever address from Mrs. Cobb who made her pupils and audience feel perfectly at ease by her short talk on "the many thinks the people of this country are deprived of on account of the war, and particularly in securing operative stars for the season. She told however, of her good fortune in securing six well-known artists who would endeavor to entertain the guests during the afternoon, their names being Ramona Duckworth, Mildred Ealy, Celeste Schultz, Sara Howard, Charles Stehr, Ruthro Alley. These young pianists received many congratulations upon the excellent rendition of their numbers, and at the conclusion of the program, assisted Mrs. Cobb in serving tea.

Much interest is being manifested in the coming convention of the Missouri Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, which will take place in St. Louis, November 5, 6 and 7. This will be their 17th annual convention, and it will bring together a notable body of women from every section of the state. The Missouri Division embraces 40 chapters, and is represented by 66 votes in the general convention. The St. Louis chapter is planning a splendid program for the visiting members, one feature being the elaborate reception which will be held at the Buckingham hotel. The chief work of the convention this year will be the revision of the constitution and by-laws of the state organization. The chairman for the Revision Committee is Mrs. J. B. Gaatt of Jefferson City, and A. E. Barber of Springfield. The convention will adjourn Saturday noon with the election of officers for the coming year. Many of the Missouri chapters will be represented at the General Convention which will be held in Savannah, Ga., November 11 to 16.

The ladies of St. Vincent's parish will meet Wednesday afternoon at the Parochial Hall to sew and otherwise make preparations for the bazaar they will have about the middle of this month.

The christening of Herbert William, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Schuppen, Sunday afternoon at the Schuppen home on Benton street, was an event long to be remembered by the members of that family, as a happy occasion. The infant was baptised by Rev. Wilder, and is proud to claim as its godparents, Mrs. Ernest Vogel, Miss Amelia Meyer and Walter Sauepe. An elaborate dinner was served at 6 o'clock the guests who were present being: Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lail, Ernest Vogel and family, Joe Sauepe and family, Rev. Wilder and family, Miss Minnie Guenger, Miss Amelia Meyer and Grandma and Grandma Schuppen.

The U. D. C. held their regular monthly meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Burrough. It was a well attended meeting and a great many important business matters were settled to the satisfaction of the members. The Daughters present were Mesdames S. B. Hunter, John Sackman, John Reynolds, Alma Ealy, Hayden, Robert Whitlaw, Ranney, Givens, Mercer, Wilson, A. H. Hinchey, Misses Rebecca Houck, S. Kent. The members of the local chapter who will attend the state convention in St. Louis next week are Mrs. Alma Ealy and Mrs. L. B. Houck.

The first dance of the autumn season given by the Elks Club to its members and their wives, daughters and friends last night proved to be a most successful affair. The ball room found a jolly crowd of young folks enjoying all of the latest dances. It is hoped by the club members that the other dances each week will become popular and everyone attend and keep up the interest of these affairs during the winter.

Those present last night were Messrs. and Mesdames Poe Cresap, J. P. Meyers, R. L. Lamkin, W. S. Albert, P. B. Leming, Dr. and Mrs. Vorbeck, Mesdames Iska Carmack, Rube Campbell, Dr. Patton, Misses Marie Patton, Susie Giboney, Marie Weber, Catherine Wharry, Josephine Moore, Messrs. Louis Juden, Fred Groves, Fletcher Rhodes, A. R. Zolesman, Sam Sherman, Alvin Freeman, Leslie Patton, Tasket, Claude Clark.

One unusually lively party of young folks who celebrated Halloween in

HALLOWEEN CROWD TAKE CITY BY STORM

Masked Parties of Boys and Girls Remove Gates and Scatter Fences

There was a ripple of revelry up and down the town last night when boys and girls went forth to rummage and to play. The occasion was Halloween, and almost every body in Cape Girardeau seemed to be celebrating the occasion.

Halloween is always the night of disaster for back fences and front gates, and last night was no exception. A regiment of young men and ladies, clad in freakish costumes swept through the business section of the city and then through the residential parts.

Signs from stores came down with a dull sickening thud, front gates left their hinges and panel of fences were sent hurtling into the streets.

Tin pans were used as tom-toms, and the joyous shouts rang out in every section of the city. Picture shows were almost deserted, because theaters have no attractions when they are compelled to compete with parades of masked people, who wander at will and commit depredations by the score.

The highly colored sign on Main street advertising a fake fire sale was torn down while a special watchman was on the job. He was employed to guard the sultry sign, but when his attention was diverted to a steamboat plying up and down the river, a crowd of young men seized the cloud of blunting and gave it a yank. As it struck the pavement, the merry-makers snatched it and gave a pull together.

The fire sale sign was torn to shreds and the party departed while the private nightwatchman ranted on the salvage.

COMMERCIAL CLUB TO GET NEW SCHEDULE

At the meeting of the Commercial Club yesterday morning, it was decided to request a change in the time of the Blythesville train, so that in the future it will depart at 7 o'clock in the morning and return at 6:30 in the evening.

It was the unanimous belief that this change would work advantageously to the traveling public and be of greater benefit to the business interests of the city, than can be obtained under the present schedule.

In the past the time has been so arranged that these trains arrive and depart at about the same time, but under the contemplated arrangement, people having business down the line, will be given an opportunity to make the round trip in one day.

This change, it is believed, will have the affect of bringing at least 50 traveling men to this city to live, and in addition, will necessitate a number of railroad men coming here to live.

The secretary was instructed to take up the double daily suburban service over the main line and Gulf to Brooks Junction and return.

The secretary was also instructed to ask the Frisco to move the station from Frensdorf up to the top of the hill at Ilmo, a distance of about a quarter of a mile, thus providing good walk for passengers going to and from the train.

fitting style Saturday night, met at the home of Miss Mary Campbell, where they enjoyed games of all sorts suitable to the occasion. The affair was given by the girls of C. G. H. S. The house was decorated in leaves and corn stalks, with here and there a Jack o' lantern, or a ghost to carry out the weird effect. One of the exciting instances of the evening was when the girls and boys drew for their fortunes. The thimble the symbol of bachelorhood, fell to Russell Deal; the ring, always the most coveted of the three prophecies of the future, was drawn by Celeste Schultz, and the penny, meaning riches, brought happy smiles to the eyes of Miss Mary Frissell who was the lucky winner. Among the young folks present were Misses Eva Phillips, Oma Huters, Ruby Oberheide, Laura Cory, Frieda Dierson, Marie Walker, Lorene Ellis, Margaret Scheppleman, Celeste Schultz, Martha Wilder, Mary Frissell, Mary Campbell, Roy Clark, Walter Oberheide, Russell Deal, Carl McBride, Landrait McKay, Norman Magley, Ralph Reed, Charles Black, Russell McBride, Pearl Tibbs, Guy Martin, Bryan Lane.

Mrs. E. J. Deal left Saturday for Charleston to attend the D. A. R. meeting which was held there Monday afternoon. She was the guest of Mrs. Handy Moore while there.

Mrs. P. A. Hoch and son, Philip, and Mrs. H. A. Wassem returned Monday evening from Cairo, where they have been having a most delightful visit with Mrs. T. Gannon and family of that city.
