Now, at this day, comes the plaintiff herein, by her attorney James H. Doris, and files her petition and affidavit, alleging among other things that the defendant, Ollie C. Whereupon, it is ordered by the Clerk in vacation that said defendant be notified by publication that plaintiff has commenced a suit against him in this court, the object and general nature of which is to obtain a decree of divorce from the bonds of matrimony contracted between the plaintiff and the defendant, on the grounds of abandonment, and that unless the said defendant, Ollie C. Landes, be and appear at this court, at the next term thereof, to be begun and holden at the court house in the city of Jackson, in said county, on the fourth day of January, next, and on or before the first day of said term, unless further time be granted by the court, answer or demur to the petition in said cause, the same will be taken as confessed, and judgment will be rendered accordingly.

And it is further ordered that a copy hereof be published according to law in The Weekly Tribune, a newspaper published in said county of Cape Girardeau, for four weeks, successively, published at least once a week, and the last insertion to be at least fifteen days before the first day of said next term of this court.

H. L. Hoffmeister, Circuit Clerk, By Ben E. Masters, Deputy. A true copy from the record. Witness my hand and seal of the Circuit Court of Cape Girardeau County, this 23rd day of November, A. D., 1914. (Seal)

ENGLAND CAN GET MEN

Indian Warrior Craves Battle and Wants to Supply Men.

Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 29.—"If our Emperor, King George V of England, requires an army larger than that of Russia, we would be able to supply it and be proud to do so," said his Highness the Maharaja of Idar, Dhira Shri Dolat Singh, when he passed through this city on his way to join the British General Staff at the front in France.

To illustrate the present martial ardor of the Indians the Maharaja told the pathetic story of his own military secretary. After bidding farewell to his master, this secretary assembled his family and close friends. He said good-bye to them and then shot himself dead, overcome with anguish that he could not accompany his master to the field of battle.

The Maharaja is the fifth of the Indian Princes who has left India on active military service. He is the adopted son of the celebrated Sir Perah Singh.

All peoples and creeds in India are united today in enthusiasm for the cause of the Empire," he said.

"Every Indian, old and young, would most gladly respond to the King-Emperor's call," he said. "As only a comparatively small number of men may go to the battlefield at present, many officers and Indians of high birth are going in the ranks. You will probably be surprised to learn that my two sauces, or grooms, are captains.

"My valet is very well-to-do. He came with me in these circumstances because it was the only way he could come.

"Even the grooms who came to Bombay with our horses and then had to return home went away dejectedly and in tears."

He said the Maharaja of Jodpur, seventeen years old, was anxious despite his youth to get into the fighting. His mother supported him in this desire. Finally he wrote to the Viceroy, saying, "Why am I not allowed to go? I have three brothers, so if I am killed in battle it does not matter." He was allowed to go to the front.

The Maharaja said the presence of Turkey on the other side of the conflict will have no effect in India.

"Turkey is a football of the Germans. She cannot pretend to represent Mohammedanism. All sections of India are proud to be on the side of the empire. For instance, Rajputana has an army of 30,000 men, but no fewer than half a Million men have offered themselves and are eager to serve. Nepal has put her whole force of 80,000 men, at the Emperor's disposal. "If the battlefield were nearer and not separated from India by sea, the Indians would go even without orders to fight."
