35 ATTEND KUSS' BIG EUCHRE PARTY

Mrs. John Vandeven Wins The First Prize—Music Is a Feature.

Nearly two score of women from the Cape yesterday afternoon drove to the home of Mrs. Henry W. Kuss on rural route No. 4 to attend the elaborate euchre party which she gave. Many of Mrs. Kuss' guests were from other farms nearby and for the most part they drove out from the city.

After the card games had been completed, a luncheon was served on the lawn at the Kuss place and several musical selections by the young women members of the party were features of the entertainment.

The prize winners in the euchre games were as follows:

Mrs. John Vandeven, first; Mrs. Joe Baumgartner, second; Mrs. J. Anderson, third, and Miss Lizzie Stolzer, consolation.

The guests who were at the Kuss farm were: Mrs. Henry Rowling, Mrs. Joseph Hohler, Mrs. William Knauth, Mrs. Charles Selle, Mrs. M. Heiser, Mrs. Frank Leforth, Miss Mary Puente, Mrs. Joe Barenkamp, Mrs. L. Messmer, Miss Louise Kerstner, Miss Emma Hager, Miss Pearl Doerr, Miss Eugenia Nenninger, Mrs. Conrad Siemmer, Mrs. William Nenninger, Mrs. Charles Wulfers, Mrs. J. Anderson, Mrs. Frank Hohler, Mrs. John Vandeven, Mrs. John Nenninger, Mrs. Herman Pape, Mrs. Ben Sadermann, Mrs. J. LaCroix, Miss Lizzie Stolzer, Mrs. Joe Fuert, Mrs. Frank Seib, Mrs. Clarence Nenninger, Mrs. Otto Wulfers, Miss Lena Fuert, Miss Kate Rowling, Mrs. Henry Kuss, Miss Mary Kuss, Miss Philamena Kuss and Miss Anna Sandman.

On moving to the city, Miss Hayden decided to reside in her property at 530 South Sprigg street, where she will be accompanied by a companion, Miss Mansfield, who for many years has been a friend of the Hayden family.

"I'm going to ride on a street car and go to a moving picture show the very first chance I get," she declared, "as soon as I get my things fixed around. I will say it is nice in a good many respects to live in the city where everything is up close to you."

"I have said good-bye to the old coal oil lamp and I propose to be a little up-to-date with my way of living. I have lived in the country a long time and since I have been reading about conveniences for old folks that they have in the cities—lamps that light by turning a switch and the lack of farm worries about milk and butter and eggs, I determined to live that way a few years."

Miss Hayden chuckled as she spoke. She is well known in the vicinity of Gordonville and is considered wealthy.

Runs Nail Through Hand

Herman Weiss, Farmer, Tells Story of His Accident in Jackson.

Herman Weiss, well known farmer living east of Jackson, yesterday was in Jackson and told the story of how he sustained a severe injury to his hand by running a large spike through the palm.

The accident occurred about ten days ago when Mr. Weiss was trying to pry his automobile out of a mud hole.

One of the wheels had become mired and he was using a piece of plank with which to pry the wheel out of the mud. As he threw his weight against the plank, when he got in the position of a lever, the wood broke beneath him and he fell to the ground.

He threw out his hands in front of himself to break the fall and his hand encountered the spike which was protruding from the plank. The nail pierced his hand and went clear through. He said yesterday that the wound is healing nicely and he expects to have the hand out of the bandage within a few days.

Wants to Forget Cows & Chickens So Moves to City

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Hayden Will Round out Her Four-scores With Gayety of White Way Far From Milk and Butler and Eggs.

Because, as she said, she wished to mix a measure of city life with her many years experience living in the country in order to round out her four-scores, Miss Elizabeth B. Hayden yesterday moved to the Cape from Gordonville.

Her change from the rural to the urban home marked the close of a companionship that lasted for the last 68 years between her and her sister, Mrs. Charlotte Poe, with whom Miss Hayden had been making her home in Gordonville.

Miss Hayden is 72 years old and her sister, Mrs. Poe, is ten years her senior, 82. Both women are active and did their own housekeeping at Gordonville.

On moving to the city, Miss Hayden decided to reside in her property at 530 South Sprigg street, where she will be accompanied by a companion, Miss Mansfield, who for many years has been a friend of the Hayden family.

"I'm going to ride on a street car and go to a moving picture show the very first chance I get," she declared, "as soon as I get my things fixed around. I will say it is nice in a good many respects to live in the city where everything is up close to you."

E. OBERMILLER, OF COUNTY SEAT, DIES SUDDENLY

Jackson Man Shakes Hands with Judge W. B. Schaefer, Then Dies.

HAD HEART STROKE AS HE WALKED IN YARD

Was Born Two Miles South of Jackson—Lived All Life in Cape County.

Eugene Obermiller, veteran shoe cobbler of Jackson, and widely known pioneer of Cape County, fell dead in the yard at his home about 8 o'clock last night a few moments after he had shaken hands with Judge W. B. Schaefer of the Cape who had been visiting with him during the evening.

Heart disease with which he had been suffering for several weeks was ascribed as the cause of his sudden death by Dr. B. W. Hays who was summoned. He was 64 years old.

Mr. Obermiller had been sitting in a lawn swing in his yard in the western part of Jackson and he just had arisen to go to the back of his house for a drink of water. As he walked around the corner of the house, he fell and he was seen to fall by his wife, who also had been sitting out on the lawn.

She cried to the neighbors for help and at the same time ran to the side of her prostrate husband. Neighbors who were summoned by her cries aided her in carrying Mr. Obermiller into the house, where the doctor, when he arrived, found him dead. It was said that death was virtually instantaneous.

He had been uptown in Jackson earlier in the evening, visiting with several of his old friends and he had not been at his home but a comparatively short time before his death occurred.

Mr. Obermiller is a brother to Theodore Obermiller, formerly carpenter for the Cape County Milling Company, who was whirled to death on a drive shaft of the flour mill at Burfordville last January.

He was born on a farm two miles south of the Cape and has lived virtually all his life in Cape County. He numbered among his friends men from all parts of this county as well as surrounding counties who used to go to Jackson.

He was a son of August Obermiller, an early settler in Cape County who came to this country from Germany and opened an apothecary shop in this county in the early days.

Mr. Obermiller is survived by his second wife, who before her marriage to him about two years ago was Mrs. Kiehn, a widow. He also is survived by three step-children, two sons and one daughter.

Two brothers, Fred and Herman Obermiller, both of Jackson, also survive him as well as a sister, a Mrs. Williamson, who, the last that was heard from her a year ago, lived in Joplin, Mo.

Last night no reply had been received to a communication notifying her of her brother's death. Other members of the family both in Jackson and in the Cape were notified. Grover and Fred Obermiller, who live in the Cape, are nephews of Mr. Obermiller.

FARMERS TO GET $1,000,000 MORE FOR THEIR BEETS

Denver, Colo., July 12.—An increase of 50 cents a ton to farmers for sugar beets in all the factory districts of the Great Western Sugar Company has been determined upon by the board of directors of the corporation. This will mean a distribution of between $1,000,000 and $1,250,000 more to the farmers than under the present contract scale. The general prosperity of the business was the reason assigned for the voluntary raise.

The raise in pay to the farmers will apply in all the districts supplying these factories. Thousands of farmers in Northern and Eastern Colorado, the chief sugar beet raising districts of the state, will benefit by the increase.

JACKSON TO VOTE ON SCHOOL BOOKS

School Board Sets July 25 as Date—Decide If Books Shall be Free.

Members of the Jackson School Board set Tuesday, July 25 as the date for a special election in Jackson when the people will vote on the question as to whether or not the board shall furnish all the pupils with school books free of charge.

The action was taken after a discussion of some time at a meeting of the board Thursday night.

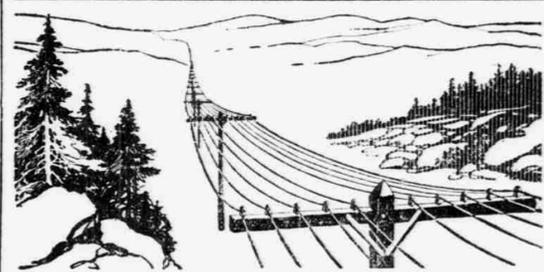

In the event that the measure is approved by the vote of the people of Jackson, and members of the board as well as persons in Jackson interested in the schools, anticipate that the measure will carry, the first four grades of the grammar school are to be equipped with school books first.

The board also held an election at its meeting and re-elected O. L. Hoffmeister as secretary, W. C. Cracraft as treasurer and George Hartle as janitor.

Guides of Telephonic Speech

THE telephone wires are the guides of telephonic speech.

Along these wires pass the electric impulses which reproduce the vibrations of the human voice to the listening ear of the person you wish to reach.

Along these talk tracks the electric current travels at the rate of 56000 miles a second. No matter what the distance, telephonic communication is practically instantaneous.

There are 21,000,000 miles of these guiding wires in the Bell system. They form a national system of highways and byways for telephonic speech uniting more than 9,000,000 telephone subscribers, and carrying 28,000,000 telephone talks daily.
