At the home were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Lessly, Hema, Cornelia and Willia Lessly and Earl Hartle.

At 10:30 all retired to the Grove where a table was spread containing everything of which the 'fair hands' of the mothers, mothers-in-law, daughters, and daughters-in-law had prepared; coffee and lemonade was served after which a couple of hours were spent in social conversation, all retired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lessly. At 4:00 p. m. supper was spread on the lawn of which all fully enjoyed themselves. The 'picture man' tried his best to make a pretty picture of all. All expressed themselves as having spent a pleasant day.

Mrs. John Henry was born and reared near Gravel Hill, Mo. She now lives in Jackson. All of her children were present except Mrs. Lon Burford of Jackson, Mrs. Ross McVey of Fulton, and Marion Henry of Jackson.

Takes the Pledge.

We take the pledge right now to never again say a word against the hair rats and puffs the girls wear. Actually, we don't believe we ever saw a homelier set than that bunch that turned out at 1:30 Monday morning at the fire, in negligee, without their rats and puffs. Wear 'em, girls; you don't have any idea, unless you look in the glass before you start to a fire, how these appendages help you slip one over on the boys. You can't imagine how rats and puffs helps pull the wool down over the eyes of—the boys.—Cannelton Enquirer.

PICK-UPS

A man in Macon county sold his farm and bought a moving picture show and an automobile in a city near and his wife applied for a guardian for him. After hearing the case before a jury, it was decided that he needed somebody to look after his business for him and a guardian was duly appointed.

T. N. Myers has been trying the dynamite system of digging drainage ditches, and reports most excellent results. A gentleman from that place was in town one day this week and stated that the ditch "dug" by dynamite is eight feet in depth and the earth excavated is so evenly distributed along the sides of the ditch that one can scarcely tell where it was disposed of, but the ditch is there alright.—Dunklin News.

Monday evening, Major T. B. Bradley, an experienced farmer and cotton raiser, brought to this office some cotton bolls that showed the fearful devastation of the boll and leaf worm. The Major says all the leaves on the stalk are being eaten off and the bolls he had showed holes the pesky worms had bored. We have heard of similar complaints from other sections of the county. We hope the Major's prediction that our cotton crop is being greatly damaged will not prove as bad as he predicts.—Malden Merit.

On last Saturday morning a pelican was found in Barney Ernst's potato patch. It was a large bird and was dead when found. The pelican measured 8 1-2 feet from tip to tip of the wings and 5 1-2 feet from the end of tail to the point of bill. The bill alone measured 16 inches in length. It was about the biggest pelican that has been seen around here, and would have been a fine specimen if properly prepared, but no one wanted him. It is supposed that the bird got tangled in the telephone wires, as one of his wings was broken and also one of his legs. The pelican was on exhibition at the corner of Neels' saloon and drew a pretty good crowd.—Perryville Sun.

Before entering the arena of the M. L. Clark show last Thursday night, as the band played for the opening of the circus, Couran Fleiter and Mary Kreckle, of Afton, Ohio, trapeze performers, felt that they could not withstand Cupid's fiery dart any longer as the little God led them to our Probate Judge R. M. Carter, at 7:30 p. m., and at the couple's request the judge took them to a dark corner of his office and lawfully bound them together as man and wife. They wanted the marriage kept secret and from the knowledge of the other show people, hence their seeking a dark place and requesting all quietude away from the public and their show companions. They went happily to the tent and began their honeymoon leading the march on their prancing steeds in the circus ring, smiling and chuckling together at their acting outside of the arena and sharing all the bliss attending their union of hearts which Cupid had hit with his usual skillful marksmanship.—Southeast Missourian.
