There is quite an agitation at present for enforcement of the game and fish law. The practice of "hand fishing" or grabbing is very destructive to fish and as it is decided that it is a violation, parties who practice that method should be careful in the future.

The "White Book."

After several months of preliminary work on the proposition, Frank W. White, Editor of the Stoddard Tribune of Bloomfield, completed arrangements this week for the publication of "The White Book" a monthly magazine for Southeast Missouri, and will get out the first number by July 15 for August.

Having purchased the property of the old Stoddard County Republican, some weeks ago, from which sprung the Tribune. Mr. White will discontinue the publication of that paper and devote his entire time to the magazine, which will be entered at the Cape Girardeau postoffice according to reports which have reached the Herald office.

The purpose of the "White Book" is to exploit Southeast Missouri to the outside world and boost reclamation of the swamp lands, having for its object the agricultural, manufacturing and educational development of the district. The magazine is receiving much moral and business support and a bright future for the publication is predicted by prominent business men of the district.

Mr. White is a well known Southeast Missouri Editor and a member of the Southeast Missouri Press Association.

Many Thanks B. P. O. E.

Portland Cement Production Greatest In The History Of Missouri.

4,614,547 bbls. produced in 1912.

During 1912 Missouri broke all former records in the production of Portland cement. According to statistics collected by the United States Geological Survey in co-operation with the United States Survey, Missouri produced 4,614,547 bbls. valued at $3,700,776. This is an average daily output of 13,000 bbls., and exceeds that of 1911 by one-half million barrels. The general increase in production throughout the United States was only 4.78 per cent while the increase in Missouri was more than 12 per cent. These figures indicate the activity in this industry during the past year.

Missouri is favored with abundant raw materials suitable for the manufacture of cement. The location of the active plants indicate the wide distribution of available limestone and shales. The limestones of the Central Ozarks are not suitable for use in the manufacture of Portland cement. The following plants contributed to the total output last year—Kansas City Portland Cement Co., Cement City, Jackson county; Atlas Portland Cement Co., Iasco, Ralls county; St. Louis Portland Cement Co., and Continental Portland Cement Co., St. Louis, St. Louis county; Cape Girardeau Portland Cement Co., Cape Girardeau, Cape Girardeau county.

Telegraph Brevities.

The strike of the Bell Telephone girls in St. Louis continues, and more operators are joining the union every day. Union organizations of that city are contributing money to support the girls while out of work.

The Millinery Traveling Men's National Association are holding convention in St. Louis this week. Smaller millinery is being urged by the delegates.

There is an ice panic in Cincinnati, Ohio, due to the engineers, firemen and drivers at the ice plants going out on a strike. Ice is being sold only on physicians certificates.

Representative Doc Dryden of Stoddard county was appointed revenue clerk in the State Auditor's office.

The church federation report just submitted, shows that seventy five per cent of the people in St. Louis are members of the churches. There are 275,100 protestants and 237,273 catholics.

The railroads of Missouri will appeal to the State Utilities Commission in an effort to obtain permission to charge a higher passenger rate than two cents per mile.

Because Henry Norman a merchant at Marion, Ill., had sued Oscar McElroy for a debt, McElroy went to the store and started a fight, which resulted in Norman killing him with a gun. The merchant has been arrested.

C. F. Fairbairns, an aviator, fell with his aeroplane into the Thames river at London. He was entangled in the wreckage and carried under the water, but manage to extricate himself and swam two miles to shore.

Fred F. Gardiner, an aviator, was drowned at Bath, N. Y., when his aeroplane dropped two hundred feet into lake Kouka.

After Mrs. Edna Catlin was granted a decree of divorce in St. Louis she met the divorced husband in the lobby of the court house, told him good bye and kissed him affectionately.

Sound Republican Doctrine.

It was a Republican Governor who started the contention that each State has the inherent right to determine the maximum freight and passenger rates to be charged by railroads operating within its jurisdiction. Republicans believe that transportation companies should be permitted to charge rates that will justify good service, good pay to employees and a fair return on capital really invested—not on capital represented by "watered" stocks and bonds. Republicans favor the fair valuation of the physical property of transportation companies in order to ascertain what is really invested. It was a Republican suggestion that led to the creation in this State of a commission empowered to ascertain the facts upon which transportation rates may be fairly based.

It is the policy of the Republican party to foster transportation enterprises by fixing maximum rates that will insure profitable carrying systems and insure the public against unfair charges and discrimination. Carriers cannot justly be compelled to render public service at a loss but they can be justly required to render good service, without discrimination, at reasonable rates. If restored to power in this State the Republicans will see to it that the authority vested in the State to regulate the rates and service of railroads is not abused.

PRINCESS THEATRE.

The Thursday night extra special feature pictures at the Princess Theatre, are becoming more and more popular every week, if the large crowds who are attending these shows may be taken as a criterion. The "Pickwick Papers" was the feature picture last night, and both performances, drew a capacity house.

Next Thursday night "Heroes, One and All," an extra Lubin two reel feature, has been booked by Managers Cowan and Strain.

It is an interesting story of three young men falling in love with Jane Smiley, a telephone operator. Fred Jackson, in his factory office is attacked by a burglar one night; in the fight that follows the telephone is knocked over. Jane in the central office gets the signal, hears the struggle over the wire, and promptly notifies the police station. She also hears the cry of fire and turns in an alarm. After a desperate struggle with the fire and smoke, Fred and the burglar are rescued. Fred starts the burglar on the right path, and learns that Jane has made up her mind in his favor. It is said that the fire scene is the most realistic ever shown on a picture screen. Regular prices and courteous treatment prevails.

The eighth serial of "What Happened to Mary," under the title of "A Will and a Way," will be shown tonight. The many people who are following this picture will be glad to learn that this number will be very interesting. A big house is assured.

The Girl From Wyoming.

Miss Alberta Claire, the girl from Wyoming, who is riding 1,000 miles through the state for the St. Louis Times, boosting good roads reached Cape Girardeau at two o'clock Monday afternoon.

Headed by the boy scouts, she rode through the city on her broncho, and thousands of our citizens applauded the plucky little Miss as she passed, dressed in her cow-girl suit, with a big six shooter strapped around her waist.

Monday night she appeared at the Princess Theatre and gave an interesting talk and several impersonations of picture show stars. Miss Claire said that Cape Girardeau was the best town in Missouri that she had visited and complimented our buildings, streets, county roads and merchants. She also said the St. Louis Time was the best paper in the west and requested everybody to read it.

So many people went to the Princess Theatre that night, it was necessary to give three shows instead of two, the regular number. Managers Cowan and Strain received many congratulations for giving this extra fine attraction without any increase in prices.

Missouri was among the first of the states attempting to establish a maximum passenger rate of two cents per mile on the principal railroads. That rate will now stand, going into effect as soon as the United States District Court at Kansas City takes official cognizance of the judgment of the Supreme Court at Washington—and perhaps sooner than that uncertain time.
