BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT

READ THIS REMARKABLE CURE

"I was much afflicted with rheumatism, writes Ed. C. Nud, Iowa, Sedgwick Co., Kansas, 'going about on crutches and suffering a great deal of pain. I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment, which cured me, after using three 50c bottles. IT IS THE GREATEST LINIMENT I EVER USED; have recommended it to a number of persons, all express themselves as being benefited by it. I now walk without crutches, and am able to perform a great deal of light labor on the farm."

From Our Exchanges.

A shoe factory may be established at the Cape.

The Cape now has electric street cars.

H. T. Taylor and Martha Beecher were married at Sawyer Dec. 30. They were of age. The groom is 65 years old and the bride is 81.

Harry Judge's saloon at Caruthersville was broken into last month and the safe blown open with nitro glycerine, and about $700 in money and jewelry stolen.

Dr. A. D. Bloymeyer of the Cape is in poor health, but he was able to get a divorce one week, marry his nurse the next week, and then make a trip south. Pretty good for a sick man. If he had good health wouldn't he be a "corker"?

Gene Dumnivant, a druggist at Belmont, was arrested and tried for violating the local option law. He was fined $500 and costs on one charge and was re-arrested on another and fined the same. A compromise was affected and the fine fixed at $400 provided he would leave the state. Such fines as they will feel will fix them and make them respect the law.

Dr. D. E. Sawyer of Sikeston has a license to practice his profession in this state and as he is one of the best veterinary surgeons in Southeast Missouri he is certainly entitled to the business of this class in this locality. The new veterinary license law went into effect Jan. 1. Hereafter it will be unlawful for any one to practice veterinary surgery or treat domestic animals without having a license from the state board, which must be registered in the recorder's office in the county where the veterinarian practices.—Sikeston Herald.

A prominent saloon keeper of Jackson, Tenn., who has been in the business there for fifteen years, and who, it is said, has made considerable money out of it, announced last week that he had decided to quit the business, that he is "tired of it, even disgusted with it," and that he proposes now to spend a good deal of money in endeavoring to drive the saloons out of Jackson. This is very gratifying news. Evidently this saloon keeper sees the handwriting on the wall. We hope that others will have the wisdom to do so and will follow the example of this saloon keeper by not only quitting the business, but in helping to abolish saloons everywhere. The water wagon in Tennessee is a little crowded just now, but there is always room for one more.—Baptist and Reflector.

To Hunters.

If you would know of a country which abounds in turkey, duck, quail, squirrels and other small game, with many a good chance at deer, get a copy of the new booklet, "Feathers and Fins on the Frisco." It tells about hunting and fishing in the Ozarks and in the St. Francis Valley. Sent free on request by A. HILTON, General Passenger Agent, Frisco System, St. Louis, Mo.

A Word to Teachers.

Teachers, don't forget that the Local Association, with headquarters at the Jackson public school, meets Saturday, Jan. 13, at 2 p. m.

It is the duty of every member not only to be there, but to be on time and to have some ideas upon the subject of history, formulated and ready for expression. Don't stay at home because you feel that you can't say anything new upon the subject. What seems old to you may be new to a fellow-member. And don't stay away because you feel that you yourself cannot be benefited by attending. That is a very selfish view, at least. Remember there are those who may be anxious to learn from you.

Let us prove to the "moss-backs" and "cold water dispensers" that we can keep alive a local teachers' association, even in old plodding Cape county, as well as they can in the "swifter" counties further west.

Yours for a live meeting,
FRED CURETON, Pres.

An Address On the "Race Question." (Concluded)

The colored people should not despair because of present conditions, but should be hopeful. Good and earnest, sober and wise, intelligent and far-sighted men of every shade of politics and religion are counseling among themselves as to the best and wisest steps to take to crush out the hostile tendencies of a certain element of the two races that disrespect the laws of their country they representively helped to make. They are advising their black brothers what they ought to do as leaders of their race, and what they must do that a better feeling may prevail between the two races. Here, then, we indorse again the fact that the colored people should consider the black brother who either perpetrates or shields crime, who fails to co-operate with his white brother in all lawful ways to put down lawlessness, as the worst enemy of his race, as he is an enemy of every race.

The teachers and preachers, the two powerful factors in both races, can hold much in having each race to understand the exact relations the one bears to the other. Let the teachers impress by their deeds on the minds of the young the relations that should honorably be maintained between the two races. Let them do whatever is honorable, and right, and just within their own sphere. Let the preachers continue to be active in doing their whole duty in the respects as above herein mentioned, then we may reasonably expect a better state of feeling to exist between the two races. Neither can they proclaim justly nor practice consistently the doctrines of Christ without impressing the people with the relations that ought to be maintained between the two should be deeply interested in what he has said about soda crackers, because they are the one food with which all of them are familiar.

Uncle Sam has given out figures showing that soda crackers are richer in nutriment and body-building elements, properly proportioned, than any food made from flour.

This is saying much for common soda crackers, and much more for Uneeda Biscuit, because they are soda crackers of the best quality. They are baked better—more scientifically. They are packed better—more cleanly. The damp, dust and odor proof package retains all the goodness and nutriment of the wheat, all the freshness of the best baking, all the purity of the cleanest bakeries.

Your Uncle Sam has shown what food he thinks best for his people. His people have shown that they think Uneeda Biscuit the best of that food, nearly 400,000,000 packages having already been consumed.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. E. H. Snow on every box. 25c.

racess. Whatever may be done for peace in this respect, let us always remember,

We shape ourselves the joy or fear Of which the coming life is made, And fill our future atmosphere With sunshine or with shade.

The treasures of the life to be, We weave with colors all our own, And in the field of destiny We reap as we have sown.

Still shall the soul around it call The shadows which it gathered here And painted on the eternal wall. The past shall re-appear."

Hence we should be very careful of all our sayings, of our acts and of how we build. We should have faith in ourselves; faith in the great and good men and women of our country; faith in all whose lives are pure, and all who are really striving for higher ideals, and who are earnestly striving to make the world better by their living. I believe in our country. I believe she is growing better, despite the pessimistic views asserted. I have faith in her greatness and faith in her future. I have faith in her young men and faith in her young women. I have great respect for her aged men and women who, according to their chances, made their lives both useful and honorable in sharing her burdens and fighting her battles. And having that faith, I am trying, as God gives me power, to evidence the unmistakable proof of it in good works, be these ever so humble. I believe every good deed, done by the lowly of every race as well as by the exalted, makes possible the flowering of the glory of our nation and gives assurance to its stability and perpetuity. What evidence have we still of our country growing better? The evidence of this is seen in the utterance of her leaders in thought and in the shaping of the nation's policies, whether in state or in church; in the improvement of the condition of the masses; in that we have more light now than ever before; more to eat, and more to wear and better homes.

Some predict the fall of our country, basing the same upon frequent lawlessness emanating from bad hearts and often growing out of misunderstanding; our country which seems at times powerless to cope with the situation; our country whose star shines brighter to-day than ever before; our country made possible by the blood of patriots and martyrs of both races; our country, the birth-place of giant intellects, that, by thought, have taken us higher into the atmosphere of civilization. Such prediction gives use to the assertion that our country is growing worse. Is it so? Does it so appear to the reflecting mind to have a foundation in the truth? Is not this country, this glorious country, we have now, better than she was many hundred years ago? Is she not stronger in every way? Has she not made improvements? Does it take a sage to see it? Savage hostilities, British oppression, slavery, and many other wrongs of a minor nature then existed. All have been met and crushed—evils which threatened the growth of an infant nation and made dark its future. It required time and patience, intelligence and judgment, perseverance and firmness, courage and justice to overcome these, and it will take the same to suppress the wrongs that are now apparent.

The pulpits, the school houses, all are doing invaluable service for the propagation and triumph of right ideas and right principles in this nation.

Then let us have continued faith in the men who are trying to do right; let us have faith in the God of truth and practice in our daily lives His teachings; let every white man, every black man, every woman, and every child feel it to be an honored privilege, a sacred duty, to live for whatever is true, grand and beautiful in life; to live for this country; to add to her force of intelligence and of character; to have a high regard for her institutions, and to respect her laws.

Let every colored man show great pride in all that goes to make him feel and know that this should be the "land of the free" as it is the "home of the brave"; a land where civil privileges should not be denied to any class or color. Let him be earnest in maintaining the relations which should exist between the two races. Let him prove himself to be more and more a useful and law-abiding citizen. Let him do his manly part, whatever opinions he may entertain concerning the course of others. Then and not until then can the colored people expect a rapid but favorable change in this country; then and not till then can they, will they, be justified in looking forward to a brighter dawn, a happier future, a glorious ending.
