 Marriage Failures.
 The real reason why so many marriages are unsuccessful is that so few husbands marry the right wives and vice versa. They marry from propinquity, for money, for position, for some evanescent emotion which they mistake for "la grande passion," for anything, in fact, but for love in its real sense.—The Gentlewoman.
 Cleverness and Matrimony.
 Cleverness never yet helped a woman in getting a husband, and never will; though if she's got enough of it, it may keep her from ever having one.—Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler.
