Loyal to Missouri.

It is said that the following article was written by a man in the asylum. The man may be crazy but he is a loyal Missourian.

"If all the wheat raised in Missouri was one grain, the only place to plant it would be in the Grand Canyon, Arizona, the only hole in the earth big enough to contain it. If all the corn raised in Missouri was one ear the only way to shell it would be by steam stump pullers, extracting one grain at a time from the cob. If all the cattle of Missouri were in one cow, she would browse the tender herbage of the tropics, whisk off the north pole and fill a canal reaching from Kansas City to the Gulf on which to ship the boat loads of her cheese and butter. If all the chickens in Missouri were one rooster, he could straddle the Rocky Mountains like a great colossus and crow until he shook the rings off the planet Saturn.

If all the hogs raised in Missouri were one hog, he could place his hind feet in the soil of Cuba, his fore feet in the Isthmus of Panama and with one root of his snout dig a sea level canal from ocean to ocean. If all the mules in Missouri were one mule, he could plant one foot in the soil of Texas, the other in the forest of Maine and with his hind feet kick the whiskers off the man in the moon."—Ex.

THE WELD THAT HELD THE SECRET OF STRENGTH

The secret of strength in a fence is Simplicity of Construction plus the best materials and workmanship. The electrically welded fence is the strongest fence, the most economical fence, the most durable fence ever made. You don't have to pay for bunglesome wraps, ties, or twists, which add nothing to strength, and which detract from good appearance and from durability. The the wires being electrically welded at every contact point. The weld is even stronger than the wires. Line and stay wires are of the same size—this counts for strength. It is proof against stock, time and wear. Every wire is made of open hearth material—conceded to be far superior to—stronger and tougher than—Bessemer steel. Every wire is galvanized by the most improved process.

"Pittsburgh Perfect" Fences are made in 73 different styles for every fence purpose. Don't buy any fence until you see the "PITTSBURGH PERFECT"
