Editorial Comment.

Last week the Hayti Herald and the Caruthersville Argus were the only two papers in the county to come out openly and boldly for the solid democratic ticket. We are glad to welcome the Argus back in the lines, and hope the Republican at Caruthersville and the Turncoat in this city have given it a thorough gorge of fanaticism. By viewing the spectacle of the Republican and the Turncoat from week to week for the past year, the Argus has evidently obtained a clear view of itself as others have been seeing it, and we are glad to say, it seems that it has repented and faced about.

If we are to be crucified on the Russian cross of mammonized lust, greed and spite for telling the truth, we shall have the consolation of knowing that a very respectable citizen of olden times, 2,000 years ago, whose name was Jesus, suffered and was crucified on Mount Calvary for the same offense and at the hands of the same TRIBE, yet his name still lives and is upon every christian tongue.

The talk of civilized warfare should cease, so long as supposedly civilized nations continue sowing the seven seas with floating mines that menace the lives of those who go to sea in ships.

Since the negro murderers are to be hung by a republican sheriff, the democrats are escaping an unpleasant task. The democrats always did hate to kill a negro.

The war news would have us believe that both sides to the conflict are getting wiped out or captured. It all depends upon the source of information.

The Herald has been easy as possible on the clan of organized conspirators who are spending their time and money trying to put the Herald out of business.

The "woman with a serpent's tongue" leaves a severe sting and instills a more virulent poison when she comes in the guise of a friend.
