

Hayti Hussar Band.

Reading from left to right, 1st row: Otis Popham, Eb clarinet; Eddy Virg Jaden, 2nd Eb clarinet; W. S. McCombes, 1st clarinet. 2nd row: A. B. Dorris, solo Bb cornet; Harry Gettings, 1st Bb cornet; Arthur Allen, 1st trombone; O. F. Kassel, director and solo Bb cornet; Sam Gettings, 2nd trombone; Earl McElheny, 3rd trombone; E. F. Foster, 1st tenor. 3rd row: Ellis Kohn, 2nd alto; Herbert Wallis, 1st alto; Chas. Morgan, Eb bass; P. S. Ravenstein, bass drum; A. B. Cortright, snare drum; John B. neo, Eb bass; Hug. Harbert, baritone.

The Hussar Band of Hayti was organized with 13 pieces, Friday, May 13, 1914, and its almost phenomenal success adds another proof to the 13th being a "lucky day," particularly if that day be Friday. Note the number of organizing members was also 13.

From the day of its beginning the band has steadily grown until it now has 17 pieces. To begin with, few of its members had ever touched a horn, and knew little or nothing about band music, but now, after a little better than one year, their renditions receive much merited praise.

The organization possesses not only a good grade of instruments, but its members have a full set of stylish uniforms as will be observed from a recent photograph, out of which is published in this connection.

All members are enthusiastic, and hold frequent rehearsals and concerts.

While the band was not organized in time to meet the requirements of public service last year, a number of out-of-town calls supplied. This year the boys will be able to supply the demands of this territory for first-class band music, provided of course, dates are booked in time to allow them to arrange for the occasions. The members are all young business men, permanent residents of the city, and take a keen personal interest in developing and maintaining the enterprise. All needed to assure success is proper encouragement of our business men, which they should be equally interested in giving, as nothing will more effectively advertise the city throughout this section.

O. F. Kassel, formerly of Cape Girardeau, is master and it is mainly due to his untiring efforts that the band has been such a fluttering success. He is a member of the noted family of musicians of Cape Girardeau, and his proficiency is both natural and acquired. He was formerly with the 6th Regimental Band, N. G. M., with the Seymour Band, St. Louis, Schuchert's Band of Cape Girardeau, Saxby's Band, Memphis, also spent one summer with Murphy's Comedian Band.

Mr. Kassel is also a proficient violinist, and takes great pleasure in encouraging the boys to make of their organization a still greater success.

KITCHIN FIGHTS NEW PLANS

HOUSE LEADER TO OPPOSE PREPAREDNESS.

Objects to Naval Program and Has Long Conference Thereon With President Wilson.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Representative Claude Kitchin, Democratic leader of the house, told President Wilson, after a long conference with him, that he could not support the administration's program for national defense and that he would oppose the program in a personal capacity only, not as the majority leader. Representative Kitchin was with the president more than an hour. His chief opposition was to the naval program. He said he thought it highly probable that the majority would favor the program.

Before seeing the president, Representative Kitchin said he approached the national defense subject with an open mind and was willing to be convinced of the wisdom of the administration's program if the president could give him what he would consider a satisfactory justification for the proposed large increases in army and navy appropriations. Later he said the president had said nothing which caused him to change his mind. Representative Kitchin's definite announcement of his position will leave the burden of leadership in support of the program probably upon Chairman Hay.

Mrs. Durand protested that the cattle were protected by an injunction obtained Saturday in a local court, but the sheriff carried out his orders.

Read, Santa Claus.

Dear Santa Claus:
I thank you for what you brought me last Christmas. I wish you would bring me some plates, knives, forks, and spoons, and a roscart. I want some doll dresses about 1 1/2 yard long. A necklace for a little girl, six years old, which is for myself. Then if you have a diamond ring for a little girl my size you may leave it for me also. A hood for my doll and a coat and a cooking stove for my playhouse, and then I'll try to make out with my household until you call again in 1916. From your little Cape Girardeau girl, Sarah M. B. Gates.

Dear Santa Claus:

Salutes Regulated.

Western customs of salutation are being prescribed by government order in China. According to the regulations, a man must take off his hat when he meets a friend. The new republic government is adopting western customs by regulations according to the old Manchu system. The proper costumes for different functions—the frock coat, evening clothes, silk hat, etc.—were prescribed about two years ago. Now, as stated, the foreign customs of taking off the hat, shaking hands and bowing are being officially adopted.

A Memorial.

"Baby" Herbert Eugene Sanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Sanders, was born January 12, 1915, and died November 4, 1915, being nine months and 23 days old.

This lovely little flower, so pure and fair, nestled closely to the hearts of father and mother and other relatives, was given for so short a while as an emblem of the purity of heaven. Many were the loving expressions that he gave papa and mama as the beautiful eyes watched after them. Hard, indeed, was it to give up this precious babe, but its sweet form is resting on the Savior's breast, awaiting the coming of its loved ones.

It is useless to say weep not, fond parents, for little Eugene, for your hearts' affection was centered on him; but Jesus loved even more, as he reached his hand out and said, "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

He has gone from this earthly home, but you can meet him in that beautiful heavenly home, where Jesus welcomes all his loved ones.

Oh, what do you think the angels say?
Said the children up in heaven;
A dear little child is coming today,
He is almost ready to fly away
From the earth we used to live in.
Let's go and have the gates ajar,
Open them wide for this dear little child,
Said the angels up in heaven.

Fly with him, quick, O angels, dear!
Said the children up in heaven;
See, he is coming, look there! look there!

At the Jasper light on his sunny hair,
Where the valley clouds are riven!
Oh, hush, hush, all the swift wings fur!

For the King, himself, at the gates of pearl
Is taking his hands, the dear little child
And leading him into heaven.

THE FAMILY.

Mrs. Vanderbilt Again Nurse.
