Venerate Hooded Cobra.

The hooded cobra, or Naga, still has his devotees in Bombay city, and from Kashmir to Nepal in the Himalayan region throughout the Deccan and southern India, and on the west coast in particular, this curious veneration of snake gods survives, says the Times of India. An interesting account of the worship is given in the latest annual report of the archeological department. The usual form of Naga worship is the vow taken by childless wives to install a snake stone if they are blessed with offspring. Closely allied with this idea is the worship of trees, and pipal and margosa trees planted together—"married," as the saying goes—come in for a share of the devotion paid to the snake stones set up in their shade. It is believed, says this account, that women will bear children if they walk round the married trees one hundred and eighty times every day for forty-five days consecutively. Unfortunately no authentic case is cited of the efficacy of this prescription, but the offerings brought in gratitude by women to the shrines may be taken as favorable evidence.

Farmers Bank Closed.

The Farmers Bank in this city closed its doors Thursday of last week. Notice was posted in the bank window stating that all deposits are in the Bank of Hayti. The Farmers Bank began operation a little less than two years ago, and was on a firm footing, but on account of the majority interest of the bank having purchased a large supply store at Sikeston, the stockholders decided to liquidate.

First Breakdown.

The light plant shut down about five o'clock Wednesday morning and that night they were late about two hours. The cause was from a breakdown, the first complete breakdown since the beginning of the company.

Arch S. Russell and family, have moved to Sikeston where Mr. Russell is interested in the Sikeston Supply Co.

For Prosecuting Attorney.

R. B. (Jack) Powell of Caruthersville comes to us this week and asks us to announce that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the office of prosecuting attorney of Pemiscot county.

Mr. Powell came to this county about three years ago from Dunklin county and for several years has been under the tutorage of Ward and Collins. He has also studied law in the Michigan and Washington University.

Mr. Powell is held high in the estimation of his fellow-workers, and from what we can learn of his habits they are good. He is a young man, energetic, and says if he is elected he will do his duty.

He asks the Democratic voters to give the office to him solely upon his merits, feeling that he is able and competent to discharge the duties of that office. He will appreciate your vote at the primary election, August 1, 1916.
