VOL. 8.

HAYTI, MISSOURI, THURSDAY, JUNE 23, 1916.

NO. 32.

COMPANY "B" IS ORDERED TO NEVADA, MO.

MOTHERS AND WIVES WEEP.

Missouri Troops Expected to be Rushed to Border at Any Moment.

HUSSAR BAND ESCORT SOLDIERS TO STATION.

Following the call for the mobilization of the militia of the various states, issued Sunday by President Woodrow Wilson, Captain Reeves of Company "B," at Caruthersville, Missouri National Guard, received the following telegram from Col. McNeely at St. Joseph, commanding the Fourth Infantry regiment:

St. Joseph, Mo., June 19, '16.
Capt. Everett Reeves,
Commanding Co. B., 4th Infantry.
Orders to mobilize received. Your company to proceed to Nevada when it has at least sixty-five men. Recruits above that number to follow later. Wire me when ready to move.

J. D. McNEELY.

Thus, the above order to our militia boys made things take on a different aspect. It made our people begin to think of the horrors of the European war.

Capt. Reeves immediately got busy and assembled the members of his company together, many of whom lived out of Caruthersville. Several were in this city, many on the farms, and others at work on the drainage ditches. Many of the members had never taken the oath authorized by the new military act which pledges members of the staff guard for federal service.

Company "B" entrained for Nevada Wednesday at 11:00 a. m., and a good company was on hand. They will go in encampment at that place and await orders for a move to the border, which is likely to come in a few weeks, as it seems the situation continues to grow more intense daily.

The active service will be a good thing for our boys, and they are not the only ones who are glad to go. Should there be a necessity, many American boys will flock to the flag.

The scene at the armory was one of sympathetic thought, one that few of the boys and girls of this county had ever seen before in their lives, not since the call to arms in 1898, when President McKinley heralded the message to the American people for volunteer troops to free the Cubans from the terrible tread of the Spanish monarchy.

Early in the morning, mothers, sisters, wives and sweethearts could be seen standing in front of the armory tugging at the loved one. Crying was not out of fashion.

At about nine o'clock the several automobiles from this city filled with members of the Hayti Hussar Band started in column for the neighboring city, Caruthersville, and stopped in front of the armory. Their arrival was greeted by members of the militia.

The band did themselves honor, and after selection after selection was given another call for the music was made. The band responded with Dixie, which was met with a general applause. The members of the band thank the owners of the cars who furnished conveyance to that city.

At about 10:30 the militiamen began to file out of the armory building and were arranged in a full two line across Ward avenue, every one of the members in full marching order. A way was cleared for the photographer to take the last look with the camera before the boys left for the front.

After this incident Capt. Reeves marched them to the station, preceded by the band, who were also in uniform, and all the while playing the national airs. This was well worth seeing. It filled an American citizen with pride and love for his native land.

After several selections, the militia went aboard the two special cars that had been placed for them, and was joined to the noon train for St. Louis.

In the movements of the Herald reporter several pathetic scenes took place. One mother was seen to approach Capt. Reeves and ask if her son was on board. Upon the answer, "yes," she asked: "Capt. Reeves, he is the only son I have, and won't you please take good care of him?" One man left a wife and three children, one a 3-day-old baby. One mother had to give up her only sole support, a son. She said it was necessary to sell her household belongings, now.

In conversation with Capt. Reeves he informed us that he had in company 67 men and officers. Said that he had orders to proceed directly to Nevada and there await further orders. He also informed us, that he was leaving a 2nd lieutenant, two officers and three men at the recruiting station for recruiting purposes, and these with any addition to the regiment will leave for Nevada Saturday.

Thus, it will be seen that Pemiscot county sends not less than 73 good, able bodied men for service on the Mexican border. However, it is hoped they will not see the service for which they were mobilized.

Newt Maxwell.

Newt Maxwell was in this city Thursday of last week telling his usual fish story, and in the conversation asked us to tell the voters in the columns of the Herald that he is a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Pemiscot county on the Democratic ticket.

To tell the truth, we are not able to introduce Mr. Maxwell, and feel that he is better acquainted with the people of this county than the Herald editor. However, he insists that we say a few little things.

Newt was a candidate for the same office four years ago, but like the old slogan, everybody can't win, and lost the nomination. For several years he has been serving as deputy sheriff with good service, and through this experience he feels that he is able to perform the duties of the Sheriff's office, and says that if nominated he will give his best efforts to it.

Newt asks your consideration for his claims and your support at the primary election to be held August 1st.

Steele Lodge No. 364 A. F. & A. M., held a special meeting in Steele Wednesday night, where initiatory work was done. The work was begun at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and continued until done. At 6 o'clock a nice dinner was spread for the visiting brethren. The Hayti lodge was invited and those from this city who attended were: Dr. W. A. Swearingen, I. Kohn, Virg P. Adams, S. E. Juden, Al Hoge, A. M. Neely, Geo. S. Brown and W. E. Robertson. They all report a nice time and extend thanks to the southern neighbor.

Elmer Stephens and family and W. P. Meatte and family were those from this city who motored up to Portageville last Sunday to witness the ball game between that city and Sikeston. They were royally entertained by Mitchell Meatte and family, and the way Mr. Stephens speaks of the affair we believe he is in favor of returning again soon. He spoke in the highest terms of Mr. and Mrs. Meatte.

Dr. L. C. Powell of Bradford, Tenn., was in this city last Friday with a bunch of nice milch cows, the finest we ever saw. He came over with fifteen head, and by the time he got to this city he had five, however, when he struck town he disposed of these in a jiffy. Our people never lose an opportunity of getting a good thing, as demonstrated last Friday. They were bought by: John Baird, 2; P. S. Ravenstein, 1; Geo. Dorris, 1; and we did not learn the purchasers name that bought the other cow.

Are your socks "HOLY"? If they are, buy IRON CLAD. Buckley's.

Sheriff Mack Stubblefield was in this city Friday with an alias capias for Hattie Gaskins, and upon failure to raise the amount of her fine was incarcerated in the county bastille.
