SPEAKING WILL BE IN HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

Come and Hear This Distinguished Democratic Orator

The fountain of youth may not be long from discovery in Pemiscot county, for we now have here truly a fairyland where spring flowers bloom amid the ripening fruits of fall. On the 19th day of this month William Welker, one of the Frisco engineers, brought down from the Frank Klingensmith orchard north of Hayti and presented to this office a bunch of apple twigs in perfect bloom. Not only that, the same trees, he said, bore green apples and ripe apples. Here, in Pemiscot county, we have, past the middle of October, apple trees with bloom, green fruit and ripened apples all on the same boughs, at the same time. We have seen the same in the orange tree of the far south, where frost does not come to blight; but for the apple tree to be in fruit and flower at the same time, at the threshold of winter, in this latitude is, we think, a rare occurrence, and bespeaks a climatic prevalence that we might, if we properly understood it, more profitably take advantage of.

FRISCO COTTON TRAIN.

Frisco Runs Cotton Train Into Memphis Last Monday. Starting at Portageville and Hayti, Making Train of 40 Cars.

Last Monday morning the Frisco began at Portageville making up a cotton train for Memphis, being added to considerably at Hayti. When the train reached Memphis it had 40 flat cars on which was loaded 3,000 bales.

The train was in charge of S. J. Frazier, assistant superintendent of the river division, and Ed Imboden, traveling freight agent. Mr. Frazier is a son-in-law of J. M. Argo of this city and years ago was depot agent here.

The train made all stops en route, arriving at the Harvard yards on the west side of the river, where it remained over night so that it could be sent into Memphis and delivered to the Memphis Terminal Corporation in daylight.

So it is now from the north of Memphis instead of the south that is pouring into that city the bulk of the cotton received there.

Miss Bessie Sorrell of Faust was in town Tuesday afternoon. She stated her father, Dock Sorrell, was still in very poor health, but she thought was on the mend.

RED CROSS HEALS WOUNDS OF WAR

25,000 Disabled Ex-Service Men in Hospitals After Four Years of Peace.

CHAPTERS' FIELD OF SERVICE

Every Veteran Needing Help Gets Individual Attention of Sympathetic Workers.

When on November 11 the world halts to observe the fourth anniversary of Armistice Day, and the American Red Cross inaugurates its Annual Roll Call for the enrollment of the 1923 membership, the people of the United States may well pause to think of the unparalleled contribution to the cause of peace made by our Army and Navy in the World War. The glory of it is a common tradition; but the wounds of war remain. They are not healed in a day, in a year, nor in four years. And on Armistice Day there will be under treatment in Government hospitals over 25,000 ex-service men, broken physically by wounds, exposure, nervous strain and exhaustion incident to their service in the war.

The Government without stint is undertaking to furnish these disabled men with the compensation and medical care to which they are entitled, yet their especial care is a duty of the Red Cross. Why? Because the Government cannot handle the cases of ex-service men individually; it must handle these men in bulk under a standardized policy. The Government has neither the authority, the funds or the equipment for working out the problem of the individual man. There is where the American Red Cross finds its greatest field for service, aiding through its very active Chapters in reaching the disabled man with immediate practical help, assisting his family while his claim is emerging from the process of adjustment, furnishing articles of comfort, funds to tide over the difficult periods, the friendly touch of personal encouragement, helpful recreation and worry-dispelling amusement. It is the warm hand of sympathy and understanding which the American Red Cross extends to the majority of these disabled ex-service men, some of them friendless in the whirl of life, thousands of them with wives and children dependent upon them, and hundreds of them frequently helpless in the face of grim necessity.

2,679 Chapters Aiding Veterans
In this work, upon whose accomplishment the American Red Cross is urging a record-breaking enrollment in the Roll Call which opens on Armistice Day and closes with Thanksgiving Day, 2,679 Chapters in all parts of the country are engaged. This is 350 more than were working for ex-service men last year when approximately $10,000,000 was expended by the National Organization and the Chapters working together in harmonious unity.

For the current fiscal year National Headquarters appropriated $3,030,692.90, an increase of $367,500.84 over the amount spent for the work among ex-service men in the year ended June 30 last. Since it is estimated that the Chapters will expend close to $7,000,000 from their own funds, the grand total of Red Cross expenditures for this single work is expected again to reach the $10,000,000 mark by June 30, 1923.

Hospital and District Office Work
During the fiscal year a total of over 1,000 persons, paid and volunteer, has been engaged in Red Cross duty in hospitals or district offices of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau. An average of 8,000 new cases requires definite and particular attention each month. The demand for Chapter-made articles for hospital patients is constant.

During last year Service Claims and Information Service at National Headquarters handled 37,200 compensation and insurance claims, 24,560 allotment and allowance cases, and 9,700 miscellaneous claims. Since February, 1919, it has disposed of 64,174 allotment checks payable to veterans which the Post Office Department reported undeliverable.

The Chapter is the unit of the Red Cross organization which is accessible to every disabled veteran or his family. Between July 1, 1921, and June 30, 1922, the Chapters had reported 1,965,079 instances of service to ex-service men and their dependents, at a cost estimated from reports now at hand of more than $5,340,000.

The basis of this far-reaching work of the Red Cross is the individual needs of the disabled veteran to the end that he may obtain his rights under the law, that his special wants may be immediately supplied, that his own and his family's situation may be rendered happy and cheerful, and that their outlook for the future may visualize incentives for independent and fruitful effort.

Spread Christmas Joy Abroad
More than 100,000 Christmas boxes for the children of Central Europe were packed by the Junior Red Cross last year. The spread of Christmas joy through these boxes will be largely increased this year because of the plans already under way.

VOTE "NO" ON No. TEN

At the last session of the legislature the Republicans passed a number of laws the intention of which are to put into effect Governor Hyde's theory of a centralized State government. The effect of these laws was so apparent, however, that it was no trouble to secure sufficient signatures to referendum petitions to hold the laws up and allow the voters of the State to pass upon them.

These referred laws are now being published in the Republican papers of the State upon order of the Republican Secretary of State.

As before stated, these measures represent the partisanship of Governor Hyde, and each one is pernicious in its intent; but the most vicious of them all is No. 10. This bill would redistrict the judicial districts of the State and by so doing would deprive every judge in the country districts of his office, and their successors would be named by Governor Hyde; and it goes without saying that in naming his appointees no Democrat would be considered.

In the redistricting proposed by No. 10 of these referred measures Pemiscot and Dunklin counties would be joined in one district, and the business of the two counties is so heavy that no one man can handle it; consequently both of these counties are especially interested in defeating the measure.

Vote "NO" on all these measures, and be sure to remember No. 10.
