

MARBLE HILL PRESS.

NO. 17.

VOL. IX.

MARBLE HILL, MO., THURSDAY, AUGUST 29, 1889.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

—Mrs. F. M. Wells is sick with a fever.

—C. A. McCans went to Charleston last week.

—The days and nights are becoming pleasanter.

—Circuit Court begins one week from next Monday.

—The hog crop of this county this year is a bountiful one.

—Dr. Witmer is having his sleeping rooms fixed up nicely.

—Albert Snider tells us that he is thinking of going to Texas.

—Most of the public schools of the county begin next Monday.

—There is a scarcity of water in many of the cisterns in town.

—A new roof is being put on the Christian Church of this place.

—C. P. Caldwell is having a porch built to his residence.

There are no "old papers" for sale at this office—they are sold out.

—Mrs. James Turner is very sick at her home three miles from town.

—John M. Roberts of this town is clerking for A. Clippard of Ladlin.

—Robert Drum was visiting his father in Cape county the first of the week.

—D. M. Newell advertises his saw and grist mill for sale in this issue of the Press.

—Chas. Sander is attending to the postoffice pending postmaster Lane's absence.

—Miss Carrie Keller of Litchfield, Illinois, was visiting Miss Flora Frymire this week.

—Wm. Norman was in town Saturday and furnished us with several interesting local items.

—W. B. Finney is able to be out again after a confinement of eleven weeks to his bed and room.

—Farmers throughout the county have been breaking ground for the next crop of wheat.

—Postmaster, C. H. Lane, has gone to Ohio (the Buckeye State) to visit some of his relatives.

—If you want some bargains in lands do not miss the Sheriff's sales at the September term of Circuit Court.

—The Marble Hill public school begins next Monday with Mr. Griffith principal and Miss Aze assistant.

—James T. Pair tells us that the crop of mast in his vicinity will be light, but nevertheless will be pasturing.

—The Free Will Baptists begin an Association this year, to-day, at Locust Grove Church, four miles east from Marble Hill.

—John A. Bess and Mary I. Collins were married at the courthouse last Thursday by Judge Frymire. Joy be unto them.

—The trial of James and Jerm Fields for selling whiskey without license was put off Monday until the 30th of September.

—A. N. Barks, an experienced teacher of this county, will teach a public school in Perry county near Longtown next Winter.

—Charles Rhodes has sold his restaurant to ex-collector S. J. Lesley. Mr. Lesley will put in a stock of family groceries soon.

—We send, to each postoffice, every week, a paper to all our subscribers. If you do not get your paper the fault is with the postal service.

—A Wheel picnic will be given by Greenwood Wheel Club's Schoolhouse, Wayne Township, on the 18th of September. See notice elsewhere.

—Sheriff Huskey has been riding for several days subpoenaing witnesses, serving summonses and citations for the September term of Circuit Court.

—Deputy Constable Welch arrested and brought to town Saturday, Jerm Fields of Bollinger Mills. He is charged with selling whiskey without a license.

—C. H. Lane, W. J. Billo, Harvey Caldwell, A. N. Barks and Jas. J. Pair have caused their names to be written upon an subscription book since our last issue. Let the good work go on. We have room for —We hear that James Burkett contemplates selling out and moving to Texas.

—Monroe ("Mun") Masters' wife is sick of a fever at her home, east from town.

—J. W. Davault is selling a book entitled "The Horrors of the Johnstown Flood," we believe.

—Dr. J. R. Talley of Castor P. O. came in Saturday to visit his father's (Dr. W. C. Talley) family.

—J. T. Wells has 100 head of sheep to ship, but is waiting for the market to open up more favorably.

—The Sheriff has arrested all parties indicted at the March term of Circuit Court who are in the State.

—And now comes Chris Sander who will sell out and move to Texas. We are sorry to lose so many good citizens, and Democrats, too.

—Mrs. Lisander Baker will accompany her father, J. M. Snider, to Texas. Her husband, Lisander Baker, will move to that state soon.

—Lindsay Spencer has his property advertised for sale, preparatory to moving to Texas. Another good Democrat lost to Bollinger county.

—Deputy Constable, J. R. Welch, went down to Wayne Township last Friday to subpoena some witnesses in a case set for Esquire Bowman's court Monday last.

—C. M. Johnson, an old and respected citizen living two miles east from town, is very unwell. Drs. Witmer and Mayfield were out to see him Sunday evening.

—In this issue will be found the "ad" of the Mayfield-Smith Academy. This is a good school and the principal, Miss J. R. Parke, has proved to be an able teacher.

—Ex-County Clerk, B. F. Stevens, passed through Marble Hill last week with five wagon loads of nice hogs which he was taking to his farm four miles east from town.

—Zack O'Kelley of Patton went down to Wayne Township last week and bought a couple of carloads of beef cattle. He paid one and a half cents per pound gross weight.

—We have heard several farmers remark that they have observed more copperhead snakes this summer than they have for several seasons. They attribute the unusual number to the wet weather of a few weeks ago.

—The floor in the second story of the Burfordville large grist mill gave away Thursday, precipitating a great many bushels of wheat upon the first floor. Part of this floor gave away and the result was a considerable loss on wheat and flour.

—James Pair, a thrifty young farmer, placed a silver dollar on our table Saturday and remarked that he proposed to stay with the Press. That is what all do who want the county news in a digestible shape. You are in good company, "Jim," and lots of it.

—A. G. Chandler of German Township, one of the oldest and most successful farmers of the county, called in last Thursday and renewed his subscription. Mr. Chandler says that corn crops this year will be heavier in this county this year than he has known for years.

—The Mother Goose and Fan Drill entertainment given at the pavilion last week under the instructions of Miss J. E. Parke was well received by the large audience present and reflected credit upon Miss Parke and all engaged in the exercises. The little folks received great applause.

—There are now five prisoners from this county in jail at Jackson. Pink Shirley, charged with larceny. Pinkney Chostner, charged with carrying concealed weapons. Monroe Lusater and wife, charged with the murder of their own child John Cash, charged with perjury.

—"Con" O'Shea—well, everybody knows "Mr. Cornelius O'Shea, begul, Sir"—is now says the Fredericktown Plain Dealer, an inmate of a Catholic Hospital at Indianapolis, Indiana. The sisters of the institution are making an effort to secure a pension for "Con." From his discharge papers it is seen that he is only 31 years of age.

—"Uncle" Stuff Masters has moved into the rooms in rear of Robert Winter's shoeshop.

—Charles Willis of Glen Allen postoffice now has the contract for carrying the mail twice a week from Lutesville to Shepherds. David Cobb turned the contract over to him. Mr. Willis is recovering from a cut which he sustained in the knee some months ago, but will probably always have a stiff knee.

—Mrs. Jane Street of Litchfield, Illinois, is visiting her son, Wm. Norman, of near Ladlin. She is accompanied by Miss Carrie Keller of the same place. Miss Keller is a niece of Mr. Norman's and a stepdaughter of Henry (better known as "Hank") Boss who was formerly a resident of Marble Hill.

—If you want to keep posted on the affairs and news of the county, and of course you do, there is an easy way to do the same and that is to subscribe for the Marble Hill Press, the only NEWSpaper published in Bollinger county. Price one dollar a year. Send in your name on a card, or by a friend, and when in town leave some change at this office.

—Attorneys W. K. Chandler and Jos. W. Caldwell went down to Wayne Township Saturday to attend the trial of John S. Dennis who was charged with disturbing the peace of Joel Abernathy and family. Mr. Chandler appeared for the State and Mr. Caldwell for the defense. Dennis was fined $5 and costs, amounting to something over $28.

—Ex-County Clerk, J. M. Snider, who lives in Texas, who is here on business, says that a serious drawback to the section wherein he lives is the uncertainty of the season—the drought. Hogs do not do well there. The range for horses and cattle is excellent. It is only seventy miles to market and it only takes a week to make a round trip. Wonder if Marion would not rather live in Bollinger county?

—There was a large crowd in attendance at church in Glen Allen, Sunday. The surrounding country, Marble Hill and Lutesville being well represented. Many were unable to get in the house. The people brought baskets, boxes, buckets and tubs filled with edibles and dinner was partaken of on the ground. Rev. Hainsworth preached in the forenoon. The meeting is still going on at this writing, Wednesday, with good results.

—Samuel Newell of Flatwoods is killed one of his work oxen Saturday. The ox was bitten by a dog some three weeks ago which was supposed to be mad. The ox showed no symptoms of rabies until about one week ago. It was then fastened in a strong stable and continued to exhibit more evidence of hydrophobia until slain. A day or two before being killed it refused all food and water, and attempted to bite everything within reach. At first it tried to hook things, but afterwards endeavored to bite.

—Taken all-in-all there is scarcely a healthier town in this section of the state than Marble Hill. It is situated on a healthy promontory on each side of which flows throughout the year two swift, clear and sparkling streams over pebbled bottoms. Ye scribe indulged in a promenade about town a few days ago in quest of "pointers." Coming from Lutesville the "near way" the first business which attracted our attention was that of L. Mayer. Louis has a snug little shop in which he repairs watches, clocks, jewelry &c.

—In connection with this handicraft he prides himself on being able to handle the painter's brush and pencil with more taste and skill than any painter in the county and invites an inspection of his work as a proof. His son, Edward Mayer, is also an adept with the brush and bids fair to become a proficient artisan.

—Passing on from this shop we next brought up at the well-arranged Drug Store of Dr. A. Sander. This is a drugstore of long and favorable standing, the drugs kept herein being of the purest, freshest and most selected assortment. We found Dr. A. Sander, the doctor's eldest and courteous son, behind the counter. The air of business and cleanliness observable was unmistakable evidence of Charley's good taste. He will attend medical lectures next winter and, completing his course in the Spring, will return home bearing that parchment so dear to every ambitious young man—a diploma. In addition to keeping a stock of drugs and patent medicines, Dr. A. Sander gives his immediate attention to the practice of medicine, and the large practice which he enjoys testifies to his popularity and success as a physician. He is an old practitioner in this county and consequently well known throughout it. A telegraph line connects from the depot at this store and C. A. Sander manipulates the instrument like an old hand at the wires.

—From Dr. Sander's it is only one door to the postoffice. Herein we found Mr. C. H. Lane behind the boxes. Speaking from experience, and without fulsome flattery, we are ready to report that Mr. Lane is one of the cleverest and most pains-taking postmasters whom it has ever been our good fortune to meet.

—In the rear of the postoffice is the Cigar Manufactory of John Hillemann. Mr. Hillemann is one of the best workmen in the manufactory of cigars in Southeast Missouri. His brands of cigars have obtained a popularity with smokers, and especially at home, that is of itself a flattering recommendation. Our local smokers who know a good cigar when they have tried a brand usually call for "Hillemann's cigar."

—Across the street from the postoffice and in the "little rock house" is the Boot and Shoe Shop of Robert Winter. We found "Bob," busily at work making a nice pair of Congress gaiters for a customer. Every one for whom Mr. Winter has done work bears testimony to the fact that, no better workman ever located in Marble Hill. He has handled the thread and awl for many years and always makes a boot or shoe which fits "yoost like der pocket in der shirt." He keeps the best material the market affords in stock, guarantees his work and tempers his charges according to the demands of the day.

—From the shoeshop we stepped into the "Fametic" Restaurant and Family Grocery of A. Mayer & Co. This establishment carries a costlier stock than any house of the kind in the county. Mr. A. Mayer, one of the firm, gives his personal and entire attention to this business, and all who have ever lunched in "Dolph's House" know, that as a restaurateur, he has no superior, questionably an equal, in this county. The other member of the firm is Mr. J. M. Cofer. He is traveling for the wholesale house of Husten, Meeks & Co., St. Louis. "Tom," as he familiarly known, resides in Lutesville and his friends have the pleasure of meeting him every two or three weeks.

—Just across the street from A. Mayer & Co. is the large Hardware store of A. Bohnsack. This is a complete hardware store and well kept. Mr. Bohnsack is a practical tinner of the "first water," and manufactures much of his tin stock. He will guarantee his work and material which he unhesitatingly pronounces superior to city machine work. We heard a gentleman say to Mr. Bohnsack a few days ago that his family were now using some fruit cans which Mr. Bohnsack made seven years ago, that the cans were still good and had been used every year. This testified to superior material and workmanship. Mr. B. also deals some in lumber and is agent for all kinds farm machinery.

—Up stairs over this store is the law office of S. M. Meeks. Mr. Meeks is a young lawyer of clear logic, a good intellect and much promise. Although only having been here a short time he has a flattering practice for the time he has been here. He is a Notary Public and does considerable business in this line.

—Up the street one door from the hardware store is the saloon of Mr. John Boss. He keeps a very orderly house, and the fact that he could produce the requisite number of petitioners when others failed to do so, tells substantially of his standing.

—Next door to the saloon is the old reliable Barber Shop of

W. B. Beach. Mr. Beach is a good barber and has been devoting all of his time to his shop. He has been engaged to teach the public school near the Hon. Wm. Berry's and will begin the same next Monday. Mr. Beach has had several years' experience as a teacher and met with good success.

—We next came to the Drug Store of Dr. C. M. Witmer. The Dr. had just come in from a professional call at Hon. Wm. Berry's, where he had been called to attend a sick person. The doctor keeps a fresh stock of select drugs. He gives most of his attention, however, to the practice of medicine and enjoys a very lucrative and extensive practice. Since his residence here, he has built up a most flattering practice of which any young physician should be justly proud.

—The Restaurant of Charley Rhodes came next in our rounds. He keeps that where-with to feed the hungry and treats all who trade with him courteously. He is just recovering from an attack of typhoid fever. Charley contemplates selling out his stock and trying a western country.

—Upstairs over Rhodes' restaurant is the Boot & Shoe Shop and Justice's office of Rev. B. L. Bowman. Mr. Bowman is always prepared for boot and shoe making and mending in a workman like and satisfactory manner. He has the latest improved sewing and stitching machines and uses good material. He has Mr. Jacob Dunlap employed, and all who know of Mr. Dunlap's work testify to its having been done well. Mr. Bowman is also a Justice of the Peace, and when duty calls him to the bench, dispenses justice alike to friend and foe.

—In the rear of Rhodes' restaurant is the blacksmith and wagon shop of Brogher & Glaspey. These gentlemen are both adepts in their trade and turn out first-class work. Mr. Brogher does all kinds of blacksmithing, having learned his trade in St. Louis, and his charges are very reasonable. Mr. Glaspey works in wood, and a good workman he is, too, as his work shows for itself. Although this firm has only been here a short time, it has a good patronage, and in addition to the other work which it has done has made and sold several wagons and some buggies, and has more which will soon be ready for the market.

—We next came to the Dry Goods Store of H. C. Scholl. Well, everybody knows Mr. Scholl. That is, every one who has done any trading in Marble Hill for the last twenty years. He is the same one day as another. Always polite and pleasant—a man with whom it is a pleasure to deal. He carries a stock of general merchandise and has recently built up his stock. When he tells you an article is genuine, or otherwise, you need no further in search of evidence of the fact. Mr. Scholl is also proprietor of the Scholl House, as well kept hotel as one need desire to stop at. His rates are reasonable and all who have stopped with him are glad to renew a call.

—From Mr. Scholl's we stepped into the Dry Good emporium of Robert Drum. Mr. Drum has a very large storehouse which is well stocked with an excellent assortment of general merchandise. His prices are always in keeping with the times. We found Mr. Drum and his son, William Drum and Geo. Kurze busy waiting upon customers. They accommodate tradesmen, and command a large trade. Mr. Drum buys all kinds of staple farm products and pays the highest living prices for the same. He is also Treasurer of this county and keeps his office in rear of his establishment. His settlements with the county court testify strongly in his favor as to his attending to the office with proficiency. Mr. George Kurze who clerks in this store is a very agreeable young gentleman with whom to trade, and is every day the same pleasant person, as is, also, William Drum.

—Next door to Mr. Drum's store is the Saddlery and Harness shop of Henry Elfrank. Mr. Elfrank has been engaged in his present business in Marble Hill for several years, and by good work and hard work, has drawn attention to business and after integrity has climbed the ladder of success from a

SEDGEWICKVILLE ACADEMY,

SEDGEWICKVILLE MISSOURI.

This institution of learning, located at Sedgewickville, Bollinger County, Missouri, will begin its sixth year's work September 9th, 1889.

Good board from $1.25 to $2.00 per week.

Tuition from $3.00 to $7.50 per term.

E. Miller, Prin., Miss Ella Miller, B. E. Masters and G. W. Roe, Assistants.

W. B. Beach, Mr. Beach is a good barber and has been devoting all of his time to his shop. He has been engaged to teach the public school near the Hon. Wm. Berry's and will begin the same next Monday. Mr. Beach has had several years' experience as a teacher and met with good success.

—Next door to Mr. Drum's store is the Saddlery and Harness shop of Henry Elfrank. Mr. Elfrank has been engaged in his present business in Marble Hill for several years, and by good work and hard work, has drawn attention to business and after integrity has climbed the ladder of success from a beginning of a few dollars to the higher rounds where dollars are more plentiful. Mr. Elfrank resides on his farm, one mile east from town, but always gets to his shop bright and early of a morning. He is very proficient in his trade and will guarantee his work. He has, at present, in his employ, Mr. John Castator, an experienced harness and saddle workman, and a gentleman who is well known to most of our country readers. Mr. Elfrank also keeps a livery and feed stable.

—Upstairs over this establishment is the law office of Hon. Moses Whybark. Mr. Whybark, we found engaged with his books and papers, preparing for the September term of circuit court. He has been practicing law in this county for some fifteen years and has built up a practice and established a character and reputation which are both flattering and enviable. He is still a young (and single) man, a close student with an analytical mind, and his star has not reached its zenith. He was at one time circuit clerk of this county, and represented it one term in the Legislature. He has a fine library on which no cobwebs accumulate by reason of not being used.

—From Mr. Whybark's office we strolled to the Undertaker's Shop of Mr. Isaac Beach. Mr. Beach keeps on hand, and makes to order, coffins of the best material. He does good work and devotes his time to this business. His charges are reasonable and he invites any in need of his line of goods to give him a call.

—Peter Hawn has about quit blacksmithing and wagon making, devoting his time to farming. His son, Henry, however, does some work in the shop, but does not confine himself to the same.

—Dr. W. C. Talley keeps his office at his large residence on a high elevation which commands an unobstructed view of Marble Hill, Lutesville and much of the surrounding country. The doctor has had a portion of his residence fitted up with a view of keeping patients with chronic troubles while under his treatment. He has had some fifteen at one time and his reputation for the treatment of female diseases is not confined to this county, or for the matter of that to this state. He is a physician well schooled and reaps the harvest of an extensive practice. The doctor has a microscope for the examination of lung and other tissue which magnifies 95,000 times and cost him more than $300.

—Col. Lindsay Murdoch keeps an office upstairs in the Cape & James' building. The Col. is a pension agent, or attorney, and probably has looked successfully after many pensions for applicants than any man in this section of the state. He is very accommodating. We have known him to spend his time and own money, when the applicant could not get money, in traveling and securing necessary documents.
