LOCAL AND GENERAL.

—Three weeks until Christmas.

—We would like to buy a load of clover hay.

—Corn is selling at 25 cents a bushel on the streets.

—See the appointments of Rev. S. C. Biffle for next Sunday.

—Dr. G. M. Carr of Marquand has an order for job work on our string.

—Dr. J. M. Finney of Laffin left a large order for job work with us Monday.

—John Baker says that in husking corn he came across an ear which had 1350 grains.

—For 5 cents you can get 4 Havana cigars at the New Brick Drug Store, Lutesville, Mo.

—Columbus Baker went to St. Louis last week on business connected with the U. S. Court.

—Albums in endless variety at the New Brick Drug Store, Lutesville, Mo., call and see them.

—A private detective was hired to work up cases for the late grand jury in St. Francois county.

—Fall is here, and so is the largest stock of men's Boots and Shoes for Fall wear, at W. S. King's.

—In some parts of Kansas the farmers have decided to use part of the corn crop for fuel, instead of coal.

—Wheeler and Alliance goods are going at Wheeler and Alliance prices at W. S. King's, Lutesville.

—Charleston hunters, says the Enterprise, last week killed several deer, hundreds of turkeys, rabbits and squirrels.

—Fine Perfumery, a large and elegant stock of all kinds, by the bottle or ounce at Dr. Jaques & Son's Lutesville, Mo.

—This office printed a bundle of bills for Prof. Doltile this week. The Prof. is on the road giving fun loving people a good show.

—For $1.75 cents you can get a handsome nickel alarm clock worth $2.50. Where? Of course, the only place is Dr. Jaques & Son's Lutesville, Mo.

—The recently adjourned grand jury of St. Francois county returned 230 indictments—in the main, for violations of the Local Option and Newberry laws.

—Ever and anon there transpires something new under the sun. The latest thing is the crushing bargains in Ladies Wrappers at W. S. King's, Lutesville.

—A bevy of young ladies serenaded some of our citizens a few evenings since with some choice selections of vocal music. They (we do not know who they were) will please accept the thanks of the editor and family for the call upon them.

—See the handsome walnut case clocks, at Dr. Jaques & Son's. Prices very low, also a complete line of watches, cases, jewelry and spectacles which they are selling at unheard of low prices.

—Experiments show that any portion of the seed from an ear of corn may be used for planting, and that there is no advantage possessed by the butt seed over the tip seed, nor is the middle seed better than that from the butts or tips.

—Halloo Yourself!—Look out for the grandest stock of Holiday goods you have ever seen, at Dr. Jaques & Son's New Brick Drug Store, Lutesville, Mo. Now we are the acknowledged headquarters for every thing in this line. New goods every day.

—While out hunting, young Mr. Vance living east of Farmington, met with a serious accident that cost him his right arm. He had shot a rabbit and was reloading. In forcing the wad down, he intended to put his foot on the hammer to let out the air, when by mistake he put his foot on the hammer discharging the load into his arm, which was amputated the next morning.—Farmington News.

—Thanksgiving day was but feebly observed here.

—B. F. Stevens assisted Collector Seabaugh last week.

—There will be a Christmas Tree at the Baptist Church.

—Raspberries may be planted yet if the ground is not frozen.

—A pension was granted to David Willis of Wayne Township last week.

—The poor farm of Perry county is said to be in a very dilapidated condition.

—Thos. McCann, who has been in East St. Louis for some time, returned home Sunday.

—Dr. C. M. Witmer went to St. Louis Tuesday to receive treatment for hemorrhoidal trouble.

—Frank Erb of Chariton county takes first prizes at shooting matches, and he is 30 years of age.

—An elegant line of China goods such as Dolls, Vases, Cups and Saucers, Mugs and etc. at Dr. Jaques & Son's Lutesville, Mo.

—One Bernhardt, a bachelor, was found dead a few days ago at his home in Scott county. Cause: Alcoholism.

LOOKOUT—For cold weather! Also lookout for the unprecedented bargains in Ladies Cloaks at W. S. King's, Lutesville, Mo.

—One good team of horses is worth two poor ones. The fewer the number the less trouble in the care, feed and management.

—Dont forget that Dr. Jaques & Son, Lutesville, Mo., have a most tempting array of Christmas, New Year and Birthday cards at half price.

—There is no good reason why a pound of butter made in the country should not be as prime and bring as good price as any butter made. A lack of skill and knowledge is the only excuse.

—To be hoodwinked is very unpleasant to any lady; but to be well and nicely hooded is a pleasure to all of them—hence, go to King's, Lutesville, ladies, for your hoods.

—Geo E. Statler, traveling for J. B. Sickles & Co., of St. Louis, Saddlery House, called Monday and chatted pleasantly with us for an hour. George is a hale fellow well met and has a host of friends in this section of the state.

—Numbers were fascinated by the St. Louis Fair and Exposition, and numbers there are who are fascinated by the fine Fascinators and their low prices at W. S. King's, Lutesville.

CHURCH SERVICES—I will preach, December the eighth (next Sunday), at Hahn's Chapel at 10:30 p. m.; Bethel, 3 p. m.; Lutesville, 7 p. m. I will take for my text, at Lutesville, Ephesians, 4th chapter and 5th verse. "One Lord, one faith and one baptism." S. C. BIFFLE.

—A few short moons and our hill sides will be spotted with the folks tobogganing; But even right now Toboggans cannot be bought anywhere as cheap as they can at W. S. King's, Lutesville.

—This office turned out 1000 note heads and 500 nine-inch envelopes for County Clerk Wells last week. Also 500 letter heads and 500 envelopes for C. P. Caldwell, Esq. Likewise 500 note heads and 400 envelopes for Circuit Clerk Morgan, and 250 statements for Robert Drum.

—The chilly blasts of Winter will soon be howling round your door. It's a chilly fact to all competition that THE ONE PLACE in Bollinger county where you can buy the best Winter Boots and Shoes for the least money is at W. S. King's Lutesville.

—E. B. Revelle, an old and respected citizen of the south part of the county, committed suicide last Thursday by shooting himself in the forehead with a revolver. 38 caliber General menalcholy is ascribed as the cause of his rash act. He told his daughter a short time before suiciding that when he was buried that when he was buried by the Masons. He was a member of the order. This request discloses the fact that he had contemplated taking his life soon. He was about 65 years of age and for many years a school teacher.

—Grand Guessing scheme five. You may be entitled to one or more of the elegant prizes offered by Dr. Jaques & Son, Lutesville, Mo., in their annual prize distribution call on them and get particulars, it costs you nothing to try it and all have the same chance for the handsome prizes.

—Rev. W. F. Talley, pastor of the Piedmont M. E. Church South, preached two sermons last Sunday in the Methodist church. His object was to obtain assistance in rebuilding the church at Piedmont; the former edifice having been destroyed by the disastrous fire of a year and a half ago. He succeeded to the extent of $20.—Fredericktown Standard.

—I wish to say to the public that I have closed out of the boarding-house business and will be found in the Family Groceries and Restaurant business in the old corner stand in front of the west door of the courthouse. I respectfully solicit a liberal patronage of all my friends. Call and see me. SAMUEL J. LESSLEY.

—The Newberry law prohibits dice throwing saloons, but the average St. Louisian knows how to get around it. The way to do it now is not a violation of the law. Several men will go into a saloon and each will take a lump of sugar. The sugar is put out in a row on the counter and the pesky little fly given an opportunity to light on it. Each lump represents one of the men, and the one the fly lights on puts that man in for the drinks.—Plainsdealer.

—For presents of any kind or description Jaques & Son's is the place. We have everything in the fancy goods and holiday line. It is impossible to enumerate articles but a visit to our New Brick Drug Store will convince you that we have what you want. See the little folks delight in a handsome Christmas tree with Santa Claus near it in our show window. We also still offer big bargains in albums and ladies Pocket Books also a superb line of fine confectionery. See Holiday Circulars.

LUTESVILLE LOCALS.
—Holiday goods at Dr. Mayfield's, Lutesville.

R. Hatcher is improving his dwelling house.

Mrs. Welch is confined to her bed with rheumatism.

Jake Welch and family moved to Brownwood last week.

A. J. Cooper of Reynoldsville was up last week on business.

Rev. H. F. Tong of Marquand was in town the first of the week.

—X-mas goods below bottom prices at Dr. Mayfield's, Lutesville.

Jacob Allen and family of Cape Girardeau moved up last Saturday.

A. Dunn and family of Castor was in town the first of the week visiting friends.

Thanksgiving services were conducted here by the Rev. Borts, in the City Hall.

The Sunday school in the City Hall will give an entertainment on Christmas night.

—1000 children wanted, to purchase their X-mas goods from Dr. Mayfield, Lutesville.

Dr. A. J. Mayfield and wife spent several days on Castor visiting friends the first of the week.

Rev. W. F. Talley will preach here Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the M. E. Church South.

J. M. Poe, our popular insurance agent, returned from a business trip to Stoddard county last week.

A surprise party was given H. A. Clark last week by the young folks. All reported a good time.

—Dr. Mayfield, Lutesville, has always undersold all competitors in Holiday Goods. He is still doing so.

The Sunday School of the M. E. Church South is discontinued until spring. The attendance being so small is the cause.

—The next President of the U. S. will be—however, that has nothing to do with the fact that Dr. Mayfield, Lutesville, has the nicest and cheapest stock of Holiday Goods ever brought to Bollinger county. Seeing is believing, so go and see the stock and you will then believe this so.

A Boy Who Became a Sculptor.

In a little Italian village there once lived a jolly stonecutter named Pisano. He was poor, of course, or he would not have been a stonecutter, but he was full of good-humor and everybody liked him. There was one little boy who loved old Pisano more than anybody else in the world. This was Antonio Canova, Pisano's grandson, who had come to live with him because his father was dead and his mother had married a harsh man who was unkind to little Antonio. Antonio was a frail little fellow, and his grandfather liked to have him near him during his working hours. While Pisano worked at stone-cutting, little Antonio played at it, and amused himself with making clay figures, drawing and cutting into shape the small pieces of rock which lay about the yard. The old grandfather soon saw that the pale little fellow at his side was wonderfully skilful at it.

As the boy grew older he began to help in the shop during the day, while in the evening grandfather told him stories or sang to him. All these things were of great value to him, for without his knowing it, they were improving his taste and wakening his imagination. It so happened that Signor Faliero, a man of great wealth and rare understanding in matters of art, had a place near Pisano's house, and at certain times entertained many distinguished guests there. When the place was very full of visitors old Pisano was sometimes hired to help the servants with their tasks, and Antonio sometimes did work here for a day or two when some great feast was given. At one time, when Signor Faliero was to entertain a very large company at dinner, young Antonio was at work among the pots and pans in the kitchen. The head servant came in just before the dinner hour in great trouble. The man who had been at work upon the large ornament for the table sent word that he had spoiled the piece. What was to be done? The poor fellow whose business it was to put the table in order was at his wits' end.

While every one was wondering what would be best to do, the little boy came forward and said:—"If you will let me try I think I can make something that will do."—"You" cried the servant, "and who are you?"—"I am Antonio Canova, the grandson of Pisano," answered the pale-faced little fellow.—"And pray what can you do?"—"I can make something that will do for the middle of the table," said the boy "if you will let me try."—"The servant, not knowing what else to do told Antonio that he might try. Calling for a large quantity of butter the boy quickly melted a great crocheting lion, which everybody in the kitchen said was beautiful, and which the now rejoicing head servant placed carefully upon the table. At the dinner that day there were many of the most noted men of Venice—merchants, princes, noblemen and lovers of art—and among them were many skilled artists of art work. When these people came to the table their eyes fell upon the butter lion, and they forgot the purpose for which they had entered the dining-room. They saw there something of higher worth in their eyes than any dinner could be—namely, work of a genius.

They looked at the lion long and carefully, and then began praising, and asking Faliero to tell them what great sculptor he had persuaded to waste his skill upon a work in butter, that most quickly melt away. But Signor Faliero knew as little as they, and he had in his turn to ask the chief servant. When the company learned that the lion was the work of a boy, Faliero called the boy into the dining-room, and the dinner became a sort of feast in his honor. But it was not enough to praise the lad. There were men who knew that such genius as his belonged to the world, not to the village, and nothing could please them more than to aid in giving him an education. Signor Faliero himself declared that he would pay the lad's expenses and place him under the instructions of the best masters.

This boy whose highest wish had been to become a stone cutter, and whose home had been at his poor old grandfather's cottage, became at once a member of Signor Faliero's family, living in his palace having at his command everything that money could buy, and being daily instructed by the best masters in Venice. But he was not in the least spoiled by this change in his life, he was still the same simple, earnest and faithful boy. He worked as hard to gain knowledge and skill in art as he had meant to work to become a good stonecutter. Antonio Canova's course from the day on which he melted the butter into a lion was steadily upward, and when he died he was not only one of the greatest sculptors of his own time, but one of the greatest of all time.—Harper's.
