An Eastern minister has rebuked the cloth's practice of "seeking the shade when the harvest is making," and declares that the devil never rests from his baneful labors. But he should remember that the devil has been in the heat long enough to stand it.

A South American has arrived in New York with a plan to utilize electric eels, which exist in enormous quantities in the Amazon river. The theory advanced is that 100 eels in a line will furnish electric power enough to run a train. New Jersey's next will probably be an electric eel trust.

It is said that when King Victor Emmanuel visited Ancona on a recent Sunday to lay the cornerstone of a hospital, he was attended by 280 detectives, 500 policemen, 800 carabinieri and 9,000 soldiers. If a royal personage cannot perform so worthy a public service as this without such a guard to protect his person, who would go into what an argotus Ward called "the king's business"?

According to American naval officers the powerful new British battleship Dreadnaught is not so formidable as she has been represented.

Two vessels which the American government is now building, the Michigan and the South Carolina, are credited with broadside power equal to that of the pride of the Britons. At all events, it would seem that the limit of effectiveness in great floating fighting machines has about been reached.

German government statistics show that 43,421 horses and 2,151 dogs were slaughtered for food under government inspection during the first three months of 1906. This was an increase of 7,523 horses and 366 dogs over the number slaughtered during the same time in 1905. It is estimated, says the National Provisioner, that among the poorer classes, forced to resort to dog and horse meat by the exclusion of foreign meats from the country, the consumption of this sort of meat was much larger than the official records show.

Thomas A. Edison seems to have hit upon a valuable idea outside of electricity. He proposes that molds be made for a house of a given design, so that liquid cement can be poured into it. He estimates that in this way a house worth $12,000 can be built for $600. The thing looks feasible, and if it should ever be realized will prove far more valuable than most of Mr. Edison's electric inventions, one reason being that these hardly ever turn out as well as Mr. Edison expected.

In the city of Birmingham, England, the experiment of employing women health inspectors has proved so successful, and such beneficial results have been secured by their work, that the city government has increased the number from four, experimentally appointed, to 20. In the tenement districts, in the factories where women and girls are employed, and in the schools the women inspectors have rendered priceless service, and their work has been gratefully commended by the press and the officers of the city.

Miss Margaret Carpenter, of Brookline, who has just celebrated her 100th birthday by waiting with her 13-year-old great-grandson, was asked for her recipe for becoming a century plant. She has always acted on the maxim, "Early to bed and early to rise." Furthermore, she said: "Since I have been busy, I have had the trouble with folks nowadays is that they have so much idle time that they poke their noses into other people's business and worry themselves into an early grave."

DESTRUCTIVE EARTHQUAKE

MANY HOUSES IN RUINS

Flames Add to the Horror of the Situation—Towns of Rosario, Aranas, Rolo and San Luis Also Damaged.

Lima, Peru—At about 8 o'clock Thursday evening there was a tremendous earthquake at Valparaiso, Chile. As at San Francisco, the shock was followed by the outbreak of many fires. The flames, extending from the Plaza Orden toward the north, have not yet been extinguished.

Many houses have been destroyed, and nearly all of them are more or less damaged either by the earthquake or the fire. Business is at a complete standstill. The banks are closed. The gas supply is unavailable and the electric lighting system is completely knocked out. Consequently the city at night is in darkness. The greatest panic prevails and families are fleeing from the city. The weather is fair and the sea is calm.

Communication with Santiago de Chile is interrupted, and it is impossible to learn what has occurred there. Many persons were killed and injured in Valparaiso. The shocks continue, but are milder.

The shipping in the port was not injured. The streets which suffered most were Calle San Blas, Condell and Esmeraldas, and those in the Delicias district.

IN TROUBLED RUSSIA

THE WAR OF TERRORISM SEEMS TO BE ON IN EARNEST.

TWO IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

The Resumption of Terrorist Methods the Task of Government More Difficult.

St. Petersburg—The war of terrorism which the fighting organization of the social revolutionists declared immediately after parliament was dissolved, seems to have begun in earnest. From all parts of the empire the telegraph brings the same story of attacks on police officials of all classes, accompanied in the majority of cases by plundering.

The Polish revolutionists are especially active. There is a veritable reign of terror from the Vistula to the German frontier. Nearly 60 cases of assassination have been reported.

Task of Government. The resumption of terrorist activity on a large scale renders the task of the government more difficult, and darkens the prospects of the present ministry in accomplishing anything in the direction of an amelioration of the situation. While for the moment the campaign of the terrorists is bound to create the revulsion of the conservative and moderate opinion against the wild excesses of the extremists, it is at the same time tending to force the government to redouble the measures of repression which it is claimed will in the end drive public sympathy back to support almost any means of relief.

Some of the dispatches from Poland assert that the outbreak of terrorism is in retaliation for the wholesale arrests and imprisonments of the government general.

The New Parliament.

The government announces that the new parliament will not be deprived of the right to revise the budget for 1907. The budget will be submitted to parliament when it assembled in March and in the meantime the credits for the first two months will be one-sixth of the credits of the present year, under the authority of the fundamental law assigning the credits for the preceding year in case of the failure of the budget.

EXECUTIVE PLEADS IN VAIN

SOUTH CAROLINA MOB SHOTS A NEGRO.

After Listening to a Speech, Crowd Takes Negro Away and Riddles Him With Bullets.

THE DEATH ROLL HEAVY

During the First Night Eighty-Three Shocks Were Felt and Three Hundred Since—The Tremors Continue.

Greenwood, S. C.—Despite the eloquent plea of Gov. Howard, in which he appealed to the mob to desist from violence, "Bob" Davis, a negro, who attacked Miss Jeanie Brooks here, was removed from the presence of the executive and shot to death.

The negro was captured near Monday night, when the crime was committed.

The negro was found hiding in a creek bed. He was tied hand and foot and brought to the home of his victim for identification. The young woman, lying on her bed with a deep gash in her throat, turned toward the negro as he stood before his captors.

"That's the scoundrel," she said. "I know him by his eyes."

Gov. Howard reached the scene shortly after the negro had been captured. A platform was erected in a fence corner on the premises of the victim's father, and from it Gov. Howard addressed the mob.

"I am here alone, but I represent the majesty of the law. I represent the state of South Carolina, your state and mine, and I say to you, I beg you, I implore you in God's name, not to put another stain upon our fair state. You have an opportunity here, a splendid opportunity, to let it be said that South Carolina leads in this matter. Let us reason together. I feel just as you do. I have lived in the country and I realize the dangers to which our women are constantly exposed, but there is something higher than that black devil. You won't enjoy it to-morrow when you look back upon it all."

While some were yelling for the governor to go, he concluded, and the negro was run over 100 yards from the house and shot to death. A negro fired the first shot.

WOE IN CHILE

SIXTY PER CENT. OF THE CITY OF VALPARAISO DESTROYED BY QUAKE AND FIRE.

NEARBY TOWNS DESTROYED

TWO THOUSAND KILLED IN VALPARAISO AND PROPERTY LOSS $250,000,000.

People Sleeping in the Open, and the Suffering is Reported Intense—It is Winter There.

London.—In a dispatch from Valparaiso, without date, the correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "Sixty per cent. of this city has been completely destroyed. The death roll is very heavy. There were 83 shocks during Thursday night, and there have been 300 more since then. The tremors still continue. One hundred thousand people are homeless and destitute. Water is giving out. Surrounding towns have been destroyed, and the railroad has been cut."

Valparaiso Tells the Story.

Valparaiso, Chile, Aug. 20.—At 7:53 o'clock last Thursday evening Valparaiso experienced an earthquake of great severity, and during that night 83 shocks were felt.

Most of the buildings of the city either were ruined or damaged. The loss will be enormous, probably reaching $250,000,000.

Two thousand persons killed is considered to be a fair estimate of the casualties.

Vina del Mar, three miles from Valparaiso, having a population of over 10,000; Quirihua, 225 miles to the southward, with a population of 1,800; Salto Linares, 15 miles to the north, with a population of 6,500; Quillota, 25 miles to the northwest, with a population of 10,000, and villages all around, were destroyed.

Most of the damage was due to fire, which started immediately after the first shock.

The whole population is sleeping in the hills, the parks or the streets.

Food is very scarce. Milk costs two Chilean dollars a liter, and it is almost impossible to obtain meat, even at high prices.

The railroads are all destroyed. Rain, which began to fall immediately after the first shock, stopped an hour afterwards.

The nights are very cold and windy, the people sleeping in the open are suffering greatly. (It is winter there.)

The captain of a steamship, which has arrived from San Francisco, says that the situation here is worse than that following the disaster at San Francisco.

The water pipes of the city were broken, and the water poured through the streets. There is even lack of water for drinking purposes. Provisions are lacking and hunger is beginning to make itself felt.

The government has ordered its warships stationed at Talcahuano to bring at once to Valparaiso the most needed necessities of life.

The people of Valparaiso are utterly exhausted. They are awaiting the re-establishment of the railroad so as to leave the city.

Tells of Awful Destruction. Valparaiso, Chile.—By cable from Valparaiso.—Slowly reports are coming in to Valparaiso, one whole town having been swallowed up by the earth, and the loss of life is increased by the hundreds with every report.

One of the largest towns outside of Valparaiso from which reports have been received is Los Andes, with a population of 7,000, and the message says this city is in ruins, and not a structure remains.

The coast country from the Pacific to the Andes mountains has been twisted and torn by the earthquakes, and not a town or city escaped serious damage.

The modern Valparaiso is practically in ruins, and the loss of life is still very indefinite, but two reports give estimates of 5,000 in this city, with over 500 known dead bodies, while the injured will number as many more.

No estimate of the loss of life outside Valparaiso and Santiago are given beyond the words, "many thousands."

Paris Hears 11,000 Dead. Paris.—A dispatch from Buenos Ayres confirms the reports of the destruction of Valparaiso. It says 11,000 persons perished. The first followed the earthquake, the Hotel Ingles collapsed, burying all its occupants.
